HOOVER PRAISES HOME LOAN BILL AS HE SIGNS IT

Accepts Inflation Plan with It.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 11.—[Special.]—President Hoover today signed the home loan bank bill supplying facilities for loaning hundreds of millions of dollars for the construction of homes throughout the nation. The measure carries as a rider the Glass currency inflation amendment authorizing a maximum inflation of the currency amounting to approximately a billion dollars.

In announcing that he had attached his signature to the home loan bank bill establishing a series of discount banks for home mortgages, the President stated that a recent department of commerce survey disclosed that there are localities in which there is today an immediate demand for homes amounting to between 300 million and 500 million dollars which could be undertaken at once if financing were available. He stated also that he did not believe that the Glass amendment, in actual operation, would result in currency inflation.

Part of Hoover Program.

The home loan bank bill was the last of the series of measures asked of congress by President Hoover as a part of the legislative conference relief program enunciated at the White House early last winter. It, together with the two relief bills giving the reconstruction corporation borrowing power and capitalization up to three billion 800 millions, represents two of the principal levers with which the Hoover administration hopes to start a business upturn which will maintain the Republicans in power at Washington.

Under the terms of the home loan bank bill from 8 to 12 discount banks for home mortgages with a total capitalization of 125 million dollars are to be established in several sections of the country. The initial capital will be furnished by the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The discount banks for home mortgages are designed to perform "a function for home owners somewhat similar to that performed in the commercial field by the federal reserve banks through their discount facilities."

Use Home Loans as Collateral.

Building and loan associations, savings banks, insurance companies, etc., are to be eligible for membership in the system. They are required to subscribe for stock of the home loan banks and they may borrow from the banks upon their notes, to be secured by the collateral of sound home mortgages. Loans will be made on residence real estate the value of which does not exceed $20,000.

On mortgages carrying amortization provisions with not more than eight years to maturity an advance of not more than 60 per cent of the unpaid principal would be granted, but in no case more than 40 per cent of the property's value. In the case of mortgages not amortized the respective percentages would be 50 and 30.

Hoover Explains Plan.

After stating that member institutions could borrow from the home discount banks to finance their loans to property owners, President Hoover said:

"The home loan banks are in turn to obtain the resources required by them through the issue of debentures and notes. These notes have back of them the obligation of the members, the mortgages pledged as securities of such obligations and the capital of the home loan banks themselves. The debentures and notes thus have a triple security.

"The creation of these institutions does not involve the government in business except in the initial work of the reconstruction corporation and the setting up of the board in Washington to determine standards of practice. The cost of this board in Washington is to be paid by the home loan banks and the banks are to be owned and run by their members. In effect it is using the good offices of the government and the Reconstruction Finance corporation to set up cooperative action amongst these member institutions to mobilize their credit and resources. There are several thousand institutions eligible for membership.

To Aid Home Owners.

"The purpose of the system is both to meet the present emergency and to build home ownership on more favorable terms than exist today. The immediate credit situation has for the time being in many parts of the country restricted the activities of building

GERMANS LAND IN ICELAND ON HOP TO CHICAGO

Von Gronau Forced Down by Fog.

The Tribune last night cabled an invitation to Capt. von Gronau to be guest of honor at the international Golden Gloves bouts between Germany and the United States at Soldiers' field Tuesday night.

BY AXEL THORSTEINSON.

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, July 22.—Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau, German aviator, landed at Seydi Fjordr on the east coast of Iceland at 7 o'clock this evening [3 p. m. Chicago daylight saving time] on his flight by stages across the Atlantic to Chicago.

Von Gronau and his crew of three intended to make Reykjavik the first stop on the northern air route from Europe to America but came down at Seydi Fjordr because of fog and a rapidly dwindling fuel supply.

Resume Flight Today.

The German aviator announced that he will resume the flight via Reykjavik tomorrow. His next scheduled stop is Greenland where the Danish authorities have fuel and supplies waiting for him.

Von Gronau, who has twice spanned the Atlantic by the Arctic route, left List on the Island of Sylt [west of the southern boundary of Denmark] at 11 a. m. At 8:40 a. m. [C. D. T.] he reported his position over the Orkney islands, north of Scotland, and at 2:30 p. m. [C. D. T.] over the Faroe islands, midway between Scotland and Ireland.

The aviator's plane is the Groenland Wal, the same one in which he flew to America twice before.

He is again attempting to prove that the only practical route for regular air service between Europe and America is via Iceland, Greenland, and Labrador.

Greenland Is Next.

The Groenland Wal today flew an almost direct line from Sylt to Iceland, a distance of about 1,100 miles. His first stop in North America was scheduled to be at Montreal.

Von Gronau made his previous Atlantic flights in 1930 and 1931. The first trip required 47 hours flying time, ending at New York Aug. 28, 1930. Last year he left Germany in August and arrived at Chicago on Sept. 1.

Manufactures Own Wind.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

LIST, Island of Sylt, Germany, July 22.—Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau hopped off today for his third trans-Atlantic flight to the United States from the island of Sylt.

Only after several attempts and through an ingenious trick did Von Gronau manage to force his heavily loaded plane off the water. There was no wind and not the slightest movement of the surface of the sea and it looked as though he would not be able to take off with a full load of fuel.

After futile attempts Von Gronau, who is head of the aeronautical training school here, decided to produce his own waves and wind. He ordered a big four motored Dornier Superwal plane to stir up the water of the bay and, following closely in the monster plane's wake, he took off.

Von Gronau's crew consists of Franz Hack, mechanic, and Fritz Albrecht, radio operator, both of whom accompanied him on the two previous flights. Ghert von Roth, teacher at the aeronautical school, is co-pilot.

Recovers Hausner's Plane.

GENOA, Italy, July 22.—(AP)—The captain of the Italian steamer Escambia sent a radio message today saying that in the vicinity of the Azores he had recovered the airplane in which Stanislaus F. Hausner attempted a New York to Warsaw nonstop flight last month. Hausner was rescued from his plane by a British tanker June 11 after having floated in the water for about eight days.

Stops Fight, Goes to Jail; One Was Federal Agent

St. Joseph, Mo., July 22.—(AP)—George Files, 43, ran from his office today at word from a woman employé, "There's a fight in the street; go stop it." Files grabbed one of the embroiled pair from behind. The other broke away and smashed a jug of liquid. Files had grabbed Dorus Rodierick, federal prohibition investigator, so Files went to jail.

TURNING THE CORNER?

STRANGE EVENTS ADD VARIETY TO LIVES OF PEOPLE OF THE U. S.

Dayton, O., July 22.—[Special.]—A Dobermann Pinscher dog today offered her life to save her playmate, Gene Boldman, aged 3. The boy started to climb a large rock pile to pick a rose. The dog grabbed the boy by the back of his rompers and pulled him back. Gene again reached for the rose, only to be jerked back a second time. Then the dog leaped through the air and her teeth sank into the neck of a large rattlesnake. The snake struck but the pup hung on until she had killed the rattler. The pup is expected to live.

Snow High Over Maryland.

Frederick, Md., July 22.—(AP)—Lieut. E. R. Fenimore of the Maryland National Guard reported today he encountered a series of snow flurries while flying at an altitude of 10,000 to 12,000 feet over the Blue Ridge mountains near here. The ground temperature at the time was 80 degrees.

Weather Wins a Divorce.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 22.—[Special.]—Charles Viale and his wife had filed counter suits for divorce. Viale named Henry Stein as co-respondent. Counsel for Mr. Viale asked Mrs. Viale why she and Stein were in a dark schoolhouse on the night of July 16, 1929. She said they had taken refuge from a rain. Weather bureau records showed it was clear that night and so Mr. Viale was granted a divorce.

Wife Listens to Spirits.

Cincinnati, O., July 22.—[Special.]—Mrs. William R. Perkins was told by "spirits" her husband would die on Christmas day. She bought a cemetery lot and arranged for a minister. Perkins survived, but the "spirits" made another effort to kill him four weeks later. Recently Mrs. Perkins was told that Perkins was not her "soul mate" and she must find a new husband. Perkins got a divorce today.

Wife Defies Superstition.

Detroit, Mich., July 22.—(AP)—Mrs. Mary Rush, 55, is not one to bow to superstition. When she encountered a ladder leaning against a downtown street building today she walked right under it. A gust of wind blew the ladder down. And she was taken to a hospital with a fractured skull.

Hardy Major of Regulars.

Seagirt, N. J., July 22.—[Special.]—After swallowing two tablets containing too large an amount of strychnine Maj. George R. Koehler, U. S. A., arrived unworried in his quarters tonight. He was unaware of the fact that New Jersey and New York state police had made a widespread search to warn him against taking the tablets. The major called for two cups of black coffee and while drinking them telephoned assurances to the Paterson store that we was still alive.

JOHN MULLANEY.

John Mullaney, 70 years old, a pensioned fire department captain, died on July 14, just three days after his removal to a hospital from the county jail, where Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude had committed him for nonpayment of alimony.

His death became known yesterday when Mrs. Anna Mullaney, 2519 Pershing road, on whose petition Judge Trude sent the veteran to jail on June 1, applied to the firemen's pension board for the pension provided by law for the widow of a fireman. She was granted $45 a month.

Separate Maintenance.

Capt. Mullaney married her in 1927. In 1930, court records show, the wife ordered the veteran and his son from her home and instituted separate maintenance proceedings. On Oct. 24, 1930, Judge Thomas A. Lynch entered a temporary alimony order of $10 a week. Later he sustained a demurrer to the bill. Mrs. Mullaney filed an amended bill and another temporary order of $10 a week was entered, this time by Judge Trude.

Because this separate maintenance suit was still pending at the time of the captain's death Mrs. Mullaney retains her full rights as widow, making her eligible for the pension.

Given a Pension.

Following his honorable retirement from the fire department after fifty years' service Capt. Mullaney was granted a pension of $135 a month. He refused to use this pension to meet alimony arrears of $397 and on June 1 Judge Trude sent the veteran to jail.

Three weeks later Mullaney complained that the jail fare and the confinement were undermining his health. He suffered from pernicious anemia, which eventually caused his death. Judge Trude had him brought into court on June 20.

Returns Him to Cell.

Her attorney insisted that Mrs. Mullaney was destitute and in ill health herself. Mullaney and his attorney, William Scott Stewart, disputed this. They said she was in good health and had rentals from property to support her. When Mullaney again refused to sign over his pension to his wife, Judge Trude sent him back to jail.

Mullaney's condition became steadily worse in jail, and on July 11, after 6 weeks' confinement, it was necessary to remove him from the jail infirmary to the county hospital. Judge Trude vacated the jail commitment on July 12. Dr. Jere E. Black, 6039 South Honore street, obtained permission to move the veteran to the South Town hospital on July 13, and Capt. Mullaney died there 24 hours later.

SHIP IS RESCUED FROM ROCKS BY COAST GUARDS

Hundreds of motorists blocked the outer drive on either side of Center street early this morning to watch a coast guard crew under Capt. John O. Anderson of the Central station rescue a 60 foot schooner from the rocks 100 feet off shore.

The craft, bearing the name of Sea Girl, was swept into shore by a sudden and strong northeast wind which whipped up the lake into unexpected roughness. With each wave the vessel rolled, and her seven or eight passengers could be seen clinging to the rails and other support for life.

After fifteen minutes of maneuvering the coast guards attached a cable to the vessel and towed it away from the rocks. Half an hour later the schooner was safely nestled in Belmont harbor. Capt. Anderson and his men started homeward, but were returned to the open waters by another call off the Edgewater Beach hotel before they had made a report on the identities of the owners of the Sea Girl or its passengers.

Flo Ziegfeld, Producer of 'Follies,' Dies

The famous "glorifier of the American girl" had been here only a few days, having been brought from a New Mexico sanitarium. He never had recovered from an attack of pneumonia last winter. A hard season after his illness caused a relapse and complications, although improvement in his condition had been noted in the last few days.

Death came at 10:31 p. m. after an unexpected setback that developed only tonight. Only Dr. Marcus Radwin, attending physician, and a nurse were in the room when the producer died.

BORN IN CHICAGO

Mr. Ziegfeld was the son of Dr. Florenz Ziegfeld, who organized the Chicago Musical college and recruited the Symphony orchestra for Theodore Thomas. The son was born in Chicago on March 21, 1869, and grew up against a background of Beethoven, Schuman and Bach.

The younger Ziegfeld had a flair for the theater and was active in amateur promotions. His father seized the World's fair as an excuse to give him a chance at the business in a professional way, sending him to Europe to obtain performers for a program. The family at that time lived in West Adams street, a little east of Ashland boulevard.

The result was a German band, a group of Russian singers and dancers, a Hungarian string orchestra and an English singer. The combined efforts of all of them produced nothing more than a financial failure.

Becomes Sandow's Manager.

In New York the younger Ziegfeld knew Maurice Grau, grand opera impressario, had under contract Eugene Sandow, the "perfect man," Mr. Grau esteemed as being worth $1,000 a week. Mr. Ziegfeld could not guarantee anybody $1,000 a week, and so offered 10 per cent of the gross. The deal was made and Sandow came to the World's fair.

The ability of the young manager as a glorifier soon was being used. One night Mrs. George M. Pullman and Mrs. Potter Palmer, leaders in Chicago society, visited Sandow in his dressing room. The fact of the visit made a newspaper story and other prominent women found similar visits a sort of social obligation. Sandow's percentage quickly ran up to about $3,600 a week and Mr. Ziegfeld's esteem for publicity became virtually ineradicable.

Presents Anna Held.

Mr. Ziegfeld, tired of being Sandow's manager after 18 months, went to New York. He brought Anna Held from Paris and presented her in his first production, "A Parlor Match," in 1896.

"The French Maid," which followed in 1898, first revealed the Ziegfeld flair for elaborate and costly revue spectacles. Miss Held continued in the leading rôle, appearing in "Papa's Wife," "The Little Duchess," and "Miss Innocence."

Produces First Follies in 1907.

In 1907 Mr. Ziegfeld produced his first "Follies." Two years later, names which still are familiar began to appear in his production. There were Mae Murray, Sophie Tucker, Harry Kelly, and Lillian Lorraine. The "Follies" grew in popularity, and one followed another year after year for twenty years.

MACHINE GUN ENDS CAREER OF DEPUTY WERNER

Policeman Is Slain

Two hours before the discovery of the slaying of the deputy sheriff in 81st street there was a fatal clash at 144th street in Dolton in which a policeman was killed by a gang of four men, three of whom were captured later. Two of them were wounded as were two members of a posse which searched for the bandits. Details on Page 3.

A deputy sheriff under the administration of Sheriff Meyering was slain last night my machine gun bullets at 81st street and Calumet avenue. He was Jack Arthur Werner, who ostensibly gave up a life of crime and became connected with the sheriff's office eighteen months ago. He was 36 years old. Last night when he was killed he was wearing deputy sheriff's star No. 16.

The killing was done in traditional gangland fashion. A car drew up beside the Lincoln automobile in which Werner was riding with a young woman. There was a burst of fire; then another. Werner collapsed over the wheel. The killers' car sped on. The girl, apparently wounded in one arm, leaped out and fled.

Once a Pontiac Prisoner.

Seeking a motive for the crime, investigators looked at Werner's criminal associations of the past and also to his recent activities as a cog in the sheriff's administrative and political forces.

Finger prints disclosed that he served a term in Pontiac reformatory for the killing of a saloonkeeper. He was paroled in 1917. In 1920 he was charged with robbing the Markowitz Brothers' bank at 2313 Wentworth avenue, but the case was stricken from the docket.

Werner came next to public notoriety in 1926 as the close friend of the notorious Martin Durkin, bandit and killer, who is now serving a 35 year sentence in the state penitentiary for the murder of a federal agent.

Moreover, he had lived with Betty Werner, who later was the sweetheart of Martin Durkin. Werner, it was discovered then, was Betty's first lover and the father of her child.

Has Court Building Job.

As for his position with the sheriff's office, it was related last night by Assistant Sheriff Frank Wright that he was chief elevator starter in the Criminal court building.

"He shouldn't have had a deputy sheriff's star," said Mr. Wright. "It should have been a watchman's star. But he has been working for nearly two years at his job and was a satisfactory employé."

Sheriff Meyering was reported to be out of the city, but his wife said Werner was a good friend of the official.

"We have known him for years," averred Mrs. Meyering. "He was a fine fellow. I can't imagine him having any enemies."

Acquaintances of Werner said that he had lived near Sheriff Meyering for several years and had been active in seeking votes for the latter at election time.

Gossip Is Recalled.

Around the Criminal court it was learned that gossipers, possibly without foundation, had been theorizing on where Werner obtained money enough to run a large automobile. His salary as an elevator starter under the sheriff's régime was small. There were whispers to the effect that he had been branching out and trying to get a finger into rackets—particularly to use his star to convince persons operating slot machines that he had influence which he did not have.

Underworld Evidence Found.

That Werner maintained some connection with the underworld was indicated by names found in one of his pockets. Among the names was that of Jimmy Mondi, known as a prominent figure in loop gambling. There was also the name of Buster Brown, a gangster who was recently brought to trial for kidnaping.

Werner also carried notations of the names of several assistant state's attorneys and two or three judges, with their telephone numbers.

Even with these clews the police were at a loss to assign a definite motive for the killing. It might have been any one of a dozen, they said. They were told, too, that Werner was a Romeo. That brought a guess that a love affair may have been the cause of his death.

At the Werner home, 7333 South Park avenue, the widow, Mrs. Mae Normoyle Werner, said that her husband left there with Miss Margaret Murray, her cousin, to drive her to her home near 83d street and Calumet avenue. It was assumed that Miss Murray was the woman who fled from the death car after being wounded.

Mrs. Werner was asked by the police whether she had ever discussed with her husband the reports six years ago of his being the father of Betty Werner's child.

"He told me," the widow replied, "that he had been accused of that, but he always denied there was any truth in it."

Werner apparently had had no fear of enemies. He was unarmed and was clad in white duck trousers and an athletic undershirt. He wore no outer shirt. There was a bathing suit and woman's shawl in the car.

He was driving slowly along 81st street when the killers drove alongside and opened fire. Witnesses described the second car as a green sedan. The car of the victims had no license plates.

Explains Lack of License.

Mrs. Werner, questioned by the police, explained this by saying that he had recently purchased the car second hand and intended to take a vacation trip in it. She was married to him only about a year ago.

From Benjamin Sullivan, 7004 Prairie avenue, the investigators learned that Werner had been a tenant there for a long time and still owed $400 rent. Sullivan said he had often seen men carrying mysterious bundles into a garage in the rear of the flat he leased to the sheriff's employé, and that he suspected Werner of engaging in liquor peddling.

INQUEST IN WISCONSIN

Other developments yesterday in the Chicago gangland situation were:

1. The verdict of a coroner's jury at Shawano, Wis., that Patrick Berrell, labor leader, and Willie Marks, gangster, who were riddled with bullets early Thursday, came to their deaths at the hands of persons unknown.

2. A series of raids in Lake county, in and near Fox Lake, by forty prohibition agents. Seventeen places were visited and twenty-three arrests were made. This territory, it has been reported recently, has gone under control of George [Bugs] Moran, Chicago gangster, who has forced all the saloon owners there to buy beer and slot machine privileges from him.

Girl Is Witness.

Miss Betty Davis, who said she was a resident of Chicago but gave no street address, was a witness at the Shawano, Wis., inquest. She and Berrell had registered 10 days ago at the Murdock hotel in Shawano as Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Welch. She said she did not know Marks, who was killed with Berrell, nor Clarence Gleason, brother-in-law of Marks.

Gleason testified that he did not know Berrell, but had driven to Shawano with Marks, leaving Chicago at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning. They stopped in Milwaukee, and reached Shawano at 2 o'clock, and then went to the Lime Kiln inn. The proprietor of the inn, Clarence Haupt, telephoned Berrell and the Chicago labor chief came over and joined them, Gleason said.

Late that evening Berrell stepped outside and was shot, Gleason testified. Marks ran out and was killed by the still roaring machine gun. Gleason saved his own life by staying inside.

Gleason and Miss Davis were dismissed from custody and allowed to return to Chicago.

Hundreds Witness Raids.

The swoop of the federal agents in Fox lake and the surrounding territory was witnessed by hundreds of Chicagoans who had driven out to the resort country for the week-end. They followed from house to house as the operatives dashed in, seized liquor and beer and made arrests of the proprietors.

In the Mineola hotel, where several slot machines were found, the raiders confiscated all the furnishings, which were loaded on to trucks and carried to Chicago. In the Helvetia hotel at Pistakee Bay, outside Fox Lake, Fred Eiter was arrested. His wife, who was present, fainted and the agents called a physician to attend her.

Other Saloons Raided.

Other places in Fox Lake raided were Harry McElvoy's tea room, Robert Velisek's saloon, George Murray's saloon, George Koeth's saloon, Frank Votava's dance hall, Fred Frolic's saloon, and the Willis inn. The Wedeen hotel, the Pavilion saloon, and Jim's place, also a drinking establishment, were visited at Antioch.

Saloons at other points which were raided were Roy Sorenson's at Channel Lake; Henry Challenger's at Cary; George Renehan's at Round Lake; Edward Kelley's at McHenry, and Charles Walker's at Grass Lake.

All those arrested were taken to prohibition headquarters in Chicago. They will be arraigned before United States Commissioner Walker today.

JILTED YOUTH SLAYS GIRL AND SHOOTS HIMSELF

A jilted swain saw the girl he loved walking homeward with another boy last night. He fired two shots. With one he killed the girl. With the other he probably fatally wounded himself.

Principals in the love tragedy were Mildred Char, 17 years old, of 7649 South Marshfield avenue; Herbert Souther, 21, an orchestra drummer and paralytic cripple whose last known address is the Sheridan Plaza hotel, and Harold Petersen, 19, of 5911 Princeton avenue. Souther, who turned to the gun to settle his amorous problems, is in the Auburn Park hospital with a bullet in his head.

For several months Souther had been courting Mildred, but because of his crippled condition her parents objected. Two or three nights this week he had driven around the block in which her home was situated. Last night he parked his car at the corner and watched as Mildred and Petersen walked up. They had been to White City amusement park. The girl excused herself to Petersen saying: "O, here's an old sweetheart of mine." As Petersen walked away he heard two shots and ran back to find Mildred dead and Souther unconscious. In Souther's car police found nearly 50 cartridges for his gun.

GIRL DIES OF BURNS.

Joyce Meyer, 4 years old, of 3252 Grenshaw street, died yesterday in Mount Sinai hospital of burns incurred when she set fire to her dress while playing with matches.

SEEKS BLANKET JUDGMENT ON ALL TAX DELINQUENTS

Sale of Properties to Be Started Monday.

County Treasurer Joseph B. McDonough will appear before County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki today to ask that a blanket judgment be entered against properties on which 1930 taxes have not been paid. Sale of the properties against which judgments have been entered is scheduled to begin Monday.

Judgments will not be placed against properties on which owners have paid 25 per cent of the tax under the installment payment plan, or properties included in objections against the assessment and injunctions to prevent collections. Also excluded are properties owned by school teachers or employés of local governments who have not been paid.

Plan for Tax Sales.

Under state law sale of tax delinquent property must begin on July 25. Under the statute the 30 country towns are taken in alphabetical order, and the city towns in the same order after the country towns have been finished. Treasurer McDonough said that, to comply with the law, one parcel will be offered for sale on Monday morning and the sale will be closed. This procedure will be followed for 30 days, with one parcel being sold each day, so that full selling operations will not begin for a month.

The subjoined list of properties on which, according to the records, less than half of the 1930 taxes have been paid, is taken from volume No. 414 of the treasurer's office, which covers the area in the vicinity of 63d and Halsted streets. The names given are those to whom the tax bills are addressed. These persons in many instances are merely the agents of, or the lessors to the persons who are actually liable for the bills.

Tax Delinquency List.

The records give merely the item number and the legal description of the property taxed and the address of the person to whom the bill is sent. The address does not purport to be that of the property taxed. The list follows:

Property owners continued to jam the corridors of the County court on the deadline set for the filing of objections to the 1930 assessments. The total of objections was brought to 13,000 covering 350,000 parcels of property.

ILLINOIS RELIEF LOAN PROMISED QUICK ACTION

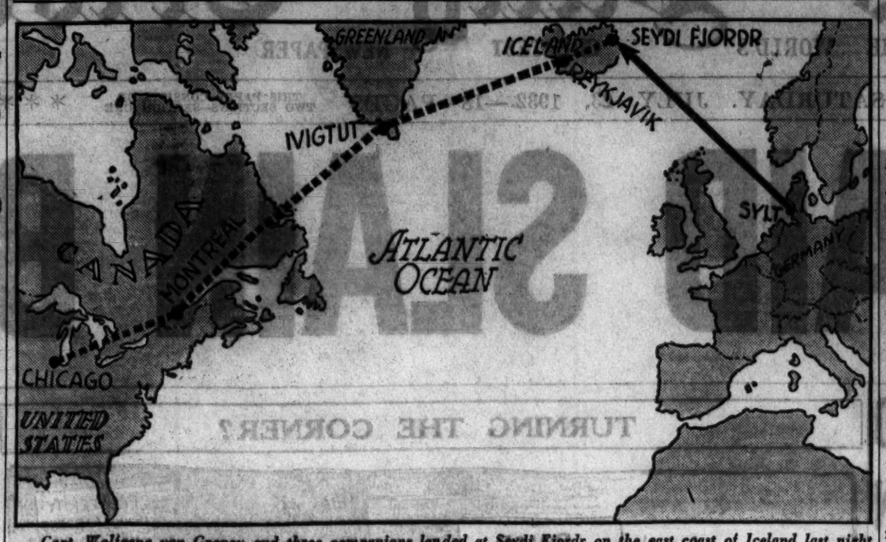

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 22.—[Special.]—Prompt action on the $10,000,000 emergency relief loan application filed by the state of Illinois was promised today by the board of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The application was studied by the board at its first meeting today following the attaching of the President's signature to the two billion 122 million dollar emergency relief bill yesterday.

An order granting the loan is expected tomorrow or Monday. Notice of the board's favorable action will go straight to Gov. Louis L. Emmerson.

On its first day of operation as a huge banking institution doing a business in relief loans, the financing of private construction projects, the setting up of home loan banks and the export of agricultural commodities, the board was called upon to begin winnowing through and acting upon hundreds of applications for loans. In one-quarter it was said loans asked for aggregated more than half a billion dollars.

GERMAN FLYERS IN ICELAND; CHICAGO IS GOAL

Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau and three companions landed at Seydi Fjordr on the east coast of Iceland last night on the first leg of a trans-Atlantic flight over the Arctic route to Chicago. Von Gronau, who is on his third ocean flight, was forced down by fog in Iceland after a 1,100 mile hop from the island of Sylt off Germany. He will resume his flight today via Reykjavik. Montreal is scheduled as the first stop in America.

NEW TAX BOARD MEETS REBUFF ON HELP PLEA

Must "Struggle Along Until Fall."

The new board of tax appeals has no need of the nine employés it requested, including a "public relations counsel and statistician" [who George F. Nixon and Fred W. Brummel, members of the board, insist is not a press agent]. Thor E. Matsen, county efficiency engineer, so informed the county board yesterday.

Mr. Matsen recommended that the tax reviewers struggle along with two assistants until County Assessor Jacobs turns over to them the first 1931 assessment books. These will not be ready until Oct. 1, and until then the board of tax appeals will have nothing to do, Mr. Matsen's letter to the county board pointed out.

Several Other Employés.

Mr. Nixon and Mr. Brummel, in addition to the "public relations counsel and statistician," had asked for a secretary of the board, an attorney, two secretary stenographers, a chief clerk and assistant chief clerk and two stenographer clerks. The salaries of this group were fixed to consume almost to a penny the portion of the 1932 appropriation for tax review work left when the old board of review left office on May 24.

The appropriation was $82,229.54. The old reviewers spent approximately $40,300, Mr. Matsen reported, leaving about $21,900 for the new board. Salaries of the employés asked by the board, including Mr. Nixon's and Mr. Brummel's pay, would total $21,869.20 for the year.

No Work to Be Done.

"The board of appeals cannot begin to function in an official capacity until after it receives either personal property records or real estate tax records from the county assessor, which, according to the best estimates, will not be delivered before Oct. 1," Mr. Matsen stated. "There is, therefore, no need for any clerical employés except possibly one stenographer and one assistant to the members to answer questions in their absence."

Mr. Matsen suggested that the board be given one executive assistant at $297.50 a month, and one junior stenographer at $148 a month. The salaries for the help which the board asked would total $2,692 a month.

There was not a quorum present, however, and the committee adjourned until Monday.

POLAND ORDERS DEATH FOR 3 IN SERFDOM REVOLT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANOK, Poland, July 22.—As a sequel to the Ukrainian peasants' "anti-slavery revolt" in Lisko county, July 1, in which five were killed and several wounded, a court martial here today sentenced to death two Ukrainians, Wasyl Junok, 28, and Peter Madeja, 24, and a Pole, Michael Malecki, 28, on the charge of leading the insurrection. Anton Paclawski, Ukrainian, was sentenced to life imprisonment. Rumors that Poland planned to restore serfdom led to the fatal rioting.

The trial created intense excitement. Huge crowds swarmed to Sanok. The foremost Ukrainian lawyers and parliamentary deputies pleaded in behalf of the accused, all of whom vehemently denied their guilt.

More than 140 Unrainian, Polish and German peasants who participated in the revolt still are in prison awaiting trial.

CHICAGO DEATH RATE LOWER IN 6 MONTH PERIOD

Chicago's death rate for the first half of 1932 has decreased substantially from the comparatively low rate established during the first six months in 1931. This was the announcement yesterday of Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, who compiled records from his department showing that deaths have dropped from 11.19 for each 100,000 in population last year to 10.10 this year.

The infant mortality during the same periods also showed a favorable decline, according to Dr. Bundesen. Infant deaths in 1931 amounted to 65.06 a hundred thousand, while this year they dropped to 58.27.

"Chicago's health record for the first half of 1931 was excellent," Dr. Bundesen said, "but the figures for this year show splendid decreases."

MAYOR WALKER ASKS NEW YORK EMPLOYES TO SLASH OWN PAY

New York, July 22.—[Special.]—Mayor James J. Walker told the city's 147,000 employés in a radio address tonight that their next year's pay must be cut 8 1-3 per cent or the city would face bankruptcy. The pay cut, which he asked them to accept voluntarily, would be in the form of a deduction of a month's pay from their 1933 salaries and would amount to $26,000,000.

It would be better to have a reduced pay check than no pay check at all, he told them. He painted a picture of the city's taxpayers' plight, who in some cases, he said, were unable to realize from their property enough to meet the taxes that keep the city's government going.

"No taxes, no government, no city employés," was the way the mayor phrased it.

The pay cut will be voluntary in theory. The mayor explained at length that no power rested in the board of estimate to change the salaries of about 60 per cent of those on the city pay roll. But he threatened repeatedly in the course of his forty-five minute speech if the city employés do not agree they would find their salaries cut by action of the legislature.

If the reduction is made by the legislature it will be years before it is restored and the pension status of employés will have suffered as well, Mr. Walker said. However, he added, if the cut is voluntary the higher level of pay can be restored in a year or two when the depression is over.

Of the 631 million dollar city budget for 1932, 312 millions, or 49.9 per cent, was for personal service, "the pay roll," the mayor declared.

HUNGARY JAILS 41 REDS; LEADER MAY FACE DEATH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUDAPEST, Hungary, July 22.—After years of fruitless searching Budapest police today announced that they had uncovered the secret headquarters of the Hungarian communist party from which a powerful under cover bolshevik movement has been directed.

They arrested 41 red leaders including the notorious Emmerich Sallay Hollenberg, who had been under sentence of death here since 1923 for being the right hand man of Bela Kun during the latter's bloody dictatorship of Hungary in 1919. It is reported that Hollenberg will be summarily executed. Large stocks of red literature and arms also were confiscated.

After the overthrow of Bela Kun, Hollenberg escaped to Russia where he became an official of the communist party. Later he went to Berlin and from Germany made his way secretly back to Hungary, where, behind the scenes, he skillfully directed soviet propaganda and activities of the communist party. Though the red organization is outlawed in Hungary, its undercover activities have worried the government.

LINDBERGHS WILL BRING NEW BABY TO KIDNAP HOME

New York, July 22.—[Special.]—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh plan to return to their home in Hopewell, N. J., scene of the kidnaping of their baby son, immediately after the birth of their second child, expected the latter part of August.

They have remained at the Morrow home in Englewood for the summer, giving up their usual trip to North Haven, Me., so that Mrs. Lindbergh could be under the care of New York physicians.

Her mother, Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, is expected to return here from a European trip in a few days, together with her two younger children, Dwight Jr. and Constance.

TWO OKLAHOMA CITIES FREE OF MUNICIPAL TAX

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 22.—(AP)—Two cities in Oklahoma—Stillwater and Ponca City—are entirely free of municipal taxes and the state now has at least 28 other towns without a general revenue levy. Stillwater and Ponca City have no city levies whatever, paying expenses out of profits of municipal utilities, while the other 28 municipalities require special taxes for libraries and other local needs or on sinking funds.

Garner Home with Fishing Stories and the Evidence

Uvalde, Tex., July 22.—(AP)—Fully as adept with a casting rod as with a gavel, Speaker John N. Garner came home from his fishing trip today with seven bass weighing from 3 to 5 pounds each and two big soft shelled turtles. One of the turtles weighed 16 and the other 20 pounds.

and loan associations, savings banks, and other institutions taking loans for home purposes in such fashion that they are not only unable to extend credit for the acquirement of new homes but in thousands of instances they have been unable to renew existing mortgages, with resultant foreclosures and great hardships.

"A considerable part of our unemployment is due to stagnation in residential construction. There has been overbuilding in certain localities in boom years, but there has been far less than normal construction of new homes for three years in pace with the increase of population and there is thus a shortage which while now obscured by present huddling will become evident with the first stage of recovery.

Work Awaits Financing.

"Nearly 200,000 new homes are erected annually in normal times, which with initial furnishing contribute 2 billion dollars to construction and other industries. A survey by the department of commerce shows that there are localities in which there is today an immediate demand for homes amounting from 300 millions to 500 millions of dollars which could be undertaken at once if financing were available. Thus the institution should serve to immediately increase employment.

"In the long view we need at all times to encourage home ownership and for such encouragement it must be possible for home owners to obtain long term loans payable in installments. These institutions should provide the method for bringing into continuous and steady action the great home loan associations which are so greatly restricted due to present pressures."

Reluctant on Glass Bill.

The President said he had accepted the Glass inflation rider reluctantly but with the feeling that the amendment was not of such a nature to "warrant refusal to approve the measure which means so much to hundreds of thousands of home owners." The home loan provisions, the President added, "are such a contribution to their relief, such a contribution to establishment of home ownership and such an aid to immediate increase of employment" that they should be enacted into law.

The Glass rider provides for a currency expansion of approximately 995 million dollars by permitting national banks during the next three years to issue notes against all long term government bonds bearing an interest rate of 3½ per cent or less. The amount of inflation is limited by the capitalization of the national banks, which in turn limits the amount of their government bond holdings.

Criticizes Inflation Plan.

In his report to the President, Controller J. W. Pole termed the Glass rider a backward step in currency and banking legislation.

"This section of the bill," the controller said, according to the statement issued by President Hoover, "runs counter to the general plan established through the federal reserve act intended gradually to do away with an inflexible bond secured currency and represents a backward step in currency and banking legislation, but in view of the fact that the provisions are limited to a three year period I do not feel justified in recommending that the bill be vetoed, more especially as it is a rider to an important and constructive piece of legislation to which it bears no relation."

Withdraws Suit Asking Receiver for Palmer House

Special County Attorney Edward M. Winston yesterday withdrew a suit asking the appointment of a receiver for the Palmer house, which he had filed in the Superior court on Thursday. In his bill Attorney Winston charges that taxes for the years 1927 to 1930, totaling $555,695, were unpaid. Yesterday he announced that he had been misinformed and that he had discovered the hotel had paid most of its taxes. A portion of the levies is in litigation, he said, but there is no other delinquency.

FLO ZIEGFELD, PRODUCER OF FOLLIES, IS DEAD

especial attention to these two phases of his shows. He chose his chorus girls with fastidious care, he went through hours of rehearsals to make each number fit into his conception of perfection as to dancing, music, costumes, and scenery, and he operated on the theory that if anything is good, more of the same must be better.

In a few years he had clinched a reputation for excellent taste in feminine beauty. "Women glorify gowns, and certain gowns can glorify certain girls," he said in 1914.

Turns to Other Shows.

It has been estimated that Mr. Ziegfeld made $1,000,000 each from "Sally," "Show Boat," and "Kid Boots," his three biggest hits. "Smiles" was said to have cost him $350,000. In 1930 he revived the "Follies."

His home, Burkeley Crest, at Hastings-on-Hudson, was supposed to have cost $1,000,000. He had been known to take as many as a hundred trunks with him when he traveled. He had two gold telephones on his desk and he enriched the telegraph companies considerably by his fondness for sending 500-word messages.

When he built the Ziegfeld theater in Sixth avenue in 1927 he unconsciously sought to create something which would best express him, next to the nature and opulence of his shows.

Weds Billie Burke.

In 1914 Mr. Ziegfeld married Miss Billie Burke. The couple had met the previous New Year's eve. There is one child, a daughter, Patricia.

Mr. Ziegfeld's first wife was Anna Held, whom he divorced.

CONGRESSMEN "OFFICE BOYS," WILBUR AVERS

San Francisco, Cal., July 22.—(AP)—Ray Lyman Wilbur, secretary of the interior, said in a luncheon address today most congressmen are "selected office boys" of their particular districts.

"I defy you to name twelve men in congress who have consistently fought for the national progress of the United States during the last year," he said.

WIND OFF LAKE IS PROMISED TO COOL CITY TODAY

Fair skies and mild temperatures are to prevail in Chicago today, according to the official forecast. A northeast wind is due to bring the lake's cooling power into play. Tomorrow, it is anticipated, will be partly cloudy and somewhat warmer. Forecaster C. A. Donnell said that the maximum today should be about 80 and that there should be nothing over 90 tomorrow.

The heat wave that has hovered over the central United States for the last ten days clung on tenaciously yesterday, the high temperature being 93 in the late afternoon. Street temperatures of 103 were registered in the loop. There was a brief shower at about 6 p. m., however, and this was followed by a sharp fall of ten degrees, from 91 to 81, before 7 p. m.

It was only slightly cooler yesterday than on Thursday in most parts of the middle west, and the east sweltered in temperatures nearly as high. The cooling off today is likely to prevail, according to the weather bureau, only in the great lakes region.

Miss Frances Foley, 31 years old, a maid in the home of Walter Hoving, on Mellody road in Lake Forest, was drowned yesterday afternoon in a swimming pool on the estate. She had gone alone to the pool. Her body was found in sixteen feet of water.

IRISH REFUSE TO DO BUSINESS WITH ENGLAND

Negotiate with Canada for Trade Exchange.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., July 22.—The Irish Free State, which armed itself for an economic war with England by passing a retaliatory tariff bill at Dublin this morning, tonight announced it would refuse to do business with England at the imperial conference, now in session here.

Sean T. O'Kelly, vice president of the Free State and leader of the Irish delegation, made this formal statement at a private meeting of the committee for the promotion of trade within the commonwealth.

"The Irish Free state does not expect to come to any agreement with England at the present conference and does not even propose to try," O'Kelly is quoted as saying.

British Minister's Retort.

The statement was received in silence, but later in the lobby of the Chateau Laurier, J. H. Thomas, British minister for dominions, said that O'Kelly had saved him the trouble of making a similar statement.

The personal relations between the Irish and British are perfectly friendly, but it is understood that the Irish are trying their utmost to find an alternative market for their exports, which are chiefly cattle, pork and dairy products.

It has been learned that they have been discussing with the Canadians an exchange of pork products. The Irish are large exporters of high class bacon, but they import large quantities of cheap American bacon for home consumption. They are now striving to switch this trade to Canada if Canada will agree to take their high grade products in return.

Australia Delivers Ultimation.

Stanley Bruce, chief of the Australian delegation, delivered the second shock of the conference earlier in the evening by virtually issuing an ultimatum to England that if she expects favors in Australian markets for her goods, she must give something substantial in return.

Bruce's statement consisted of 5,000 words and was circulated among the delegates.

After reciting the recent history of Australia and claiming that it is now back on a sound financial and economic basis, he said that Australia proposes to give substantial concessions to British goods in her markets. He used almost the identical words of Premier R. B. Bennett of Canada yesterday.

"It is necessary to emphasize that these proposals are conditional on what we deem reasonable reciprocity by Great Britain," the Australian spokesman said. "The almost unanimous view of Australian people is that while for a quarter of a century they have given preferences to Britain freely and unconditionally, they regard the British preferences granted under the impost duties' act as a somewhat tardy response for the benefits from Australia and long enjoyed by British industry."

The most important conference post outside of the chairmanship of the general body, held by Premier Bennett, was conferred upon Viscount Hailsham, British secretary of war, this afternoon. This is the chairmanship of the committee for the promotion of trade within the commonwealth and which has already become known as "the big committee."

An Economic Expert.

Lord Hailsham is a noted lawyer and economic expert and is regarded as the cleverest man in the British delegation. As chairman of this committee, he will be in a position to exercise great influence in the guidance of the conference. It will meet again on Monday afternoon.

Although there will be no formal meetings of the conference or any of its committees tomorrow more than a dozen informal conferences have been arranged between delegations and between individuals. The object is to work out some method of procedure by which time can be saved. It is planned to discuss outside of the formal meetings the subjects in which certain dominions are interested without troubling the others, and thus presenting agreed results for ratification.

The actual work of the conference began today with the appointment of committees which will deal with the various problems. The various delegations met separately and selected their representatives on the committees. These were then reported to the heads of delegations and the appointments officially made.

O. D. Skelton, Canadian secretary of state, was elected general secretary of the conference, with J. E. Read deputy secretary, and Col. H. J. Coghill administrative secretary. Both these men are Canadians. One official from each delegation was also added to the general secretariat.

IRELAND ADOPTS TARIFF; DESIGNED AGAINST BRITAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, July 22.—Recalled from their holidays, members of the dail eireann met today and passed the emergency tariff, thus preparing the Free State for economic warfare with Great Britain.

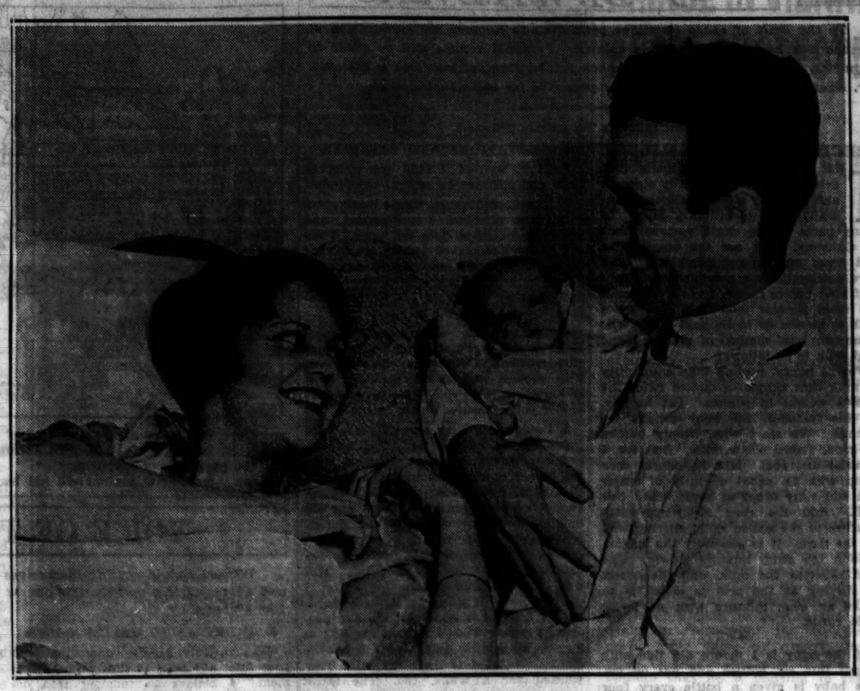

The new law will be used to retaliate against Great Britain, which ordered 20 per cent duties levied on Free State goods because Ireland had refused to continue payment on the land annuities.

Women today paraded Dublin streets bearing placards urging a boycott of British goods. The Irish republican army issued a call to workers and farmers to "proclaim unbending hostility to British imperialism in all its forms."

HOODLUM SENT TO JOLIET AS HIS U. S. TERM ENDS

Old Law Invoked to Foil Liberty.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Robert Ely, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in Pontiac reformatory; Meier Barnhard, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary, by Judge Walter Stanton.

Louis Berardi, one time leading Chicago hoodlum, had expected to return Monday from a seven year stay at Leavenworth penitentiary after completing a robbery sentence. His plans were altered yesterday when he was taken to Joliet penitentiary to serve 10 years to life. Berardi was maneuvered into the state prison on a legal technicality, discovered by Assistant State's Attorney Euclid Taylor in a search of old statutes.

Berardi, with Jack Shapiro, took part in a daring daylight raid on the offices of the American Railway Express company in the La Salle street station on Jan. 2, 1925. A $17,000 pay roll was stolen. They were arrested and sentenced in a federal court to 10 years for stealing from an interstate shipment.

Turned Over to State.

Following the federal sentence they were tried on a robbery charge in the state court and sentenced to 10 years to life. Edwin A. Olson, United States district attorney at that time, promised, if the men were allowed to serve the federal sentences first, government officials would see that they were turned over to state officials at the completion of the terms.

Both were sent to Leavenworth and Shapiro was later transferred to the federal prison at Junction City, Kas. He was paroled a month ago and escaped return to Illinois in habeas corpus proceedings. A Kansas judge upheld the Shapiro contention that Illinois had waived rights by allowing the prisoner to enter a federal prison.

Finds Old Ruling.

Fearing that Berardi would escape in the same manner, Prosecutor Taylor searched the statute books until he found an old ruling which provided that federal prisoners might be transferred from one penitentiary to another "for good cause." Sanford Bates, superintendent of federal prisons, was reminded of the government promise and invoked the old statute to transfer Berardi to Joliet because Leavenworth was overcrowed.

Berardi will finish his federal sentence and start on the 10 years to life term without changing cells.

YOUTHS OUT OF PRISON 2 WEEKS GET JAIL TERMS

Charged with two purse snatchings, William Worl, 19 years old, and Wilbur Good, 20, released two weeks ago today from the Nebraska state prison after serving fifteen months for larceny, were sentenced to two years each in the House of Correction yesterday by Judge John P. O'Connell in the Boys' court. They were also fined $200.

The youths were found guilty of snatching the purses of Mrs. Anne McLaughlin, 5510 South Lincoln street, and of Mrs. Nora Schroeder, 7348 South Claremont avenue.

Policeman Thomas Murphy of the New City station seized Worl Wednesday in an automobile chase a few minutes after the youth and Good had robbed Mrs. McLaughlin of her purse. Worl named Good and the latter was arrested that day. They confessed the Schroeder theft. The automobile they used was stolen.

BLAST STARTS $10,000 FIRE IN STORE BUILDING

A terrific explosion, followed by a rapidly spreading fire, last night caused damage estimated at $10,000 in a two story building at 3833-37 Lawrence avenue.

The first floor had three storerooms, occupied by Mrs. Mary Goldberg's delicatessen shop, Morris Franklin's fish market, and W. Weinger's meat market. One flat on the second floor was occupied by the family of the owner of the structure, Angelo Paudla, but no one was at home when the explosion occurred. The stores had been closed for the night.

Woman Driver Put to Work in Laundry at Bridewell

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

May Romano, 2905 Diversey parkway, convicted of reckless auto driving, was taken from her police cell in the State street station to the Bridewell to serve a 30 day sentence yesterday. She was sentenced by Municipal Judge Thomas A. Green on Thursday when testimony showed she had twice piloted her sedan through barriers in Cambridge avenue between Oak street and Chicago avenue where 100 children were playing, knocking down and injuring two little girls on her second trip, and narrowly missing others. It was also disclosed that her car carried neither a state nor a city license. She was fined $200 or lack of licenses in addition to the jail sentence.

"I'm sorry I swore at that woman in court," Miss Romano told interviewers yesterday. "I don't know much about courts and I guess it hurt my case. But I'd rather go to jail than make my mother put up $23,000."

The defendant's reference was to a woman witness at a previous hearing before Judge Edelman, at whom the defendant shrieked, "You're a —— liar!" The $23,000 bond was set by Judge Green, who declared the case one of flagrant violation of law and disregard for the rights of others.

Tells Reporter: "Get Out."

Two hours after leaving the women's quarters in the South State street station, Miss Romano, who is married but gave her maiden name for the records, was in another fury at the Bridewell. Her clothes had been taken away and the ordinary striped blue apron dispensed to women prisoners substituted. And she had just learned that her job for the next month would be in the laundry. At that moment a reporter asked for an interview.

Poking her head around a dividing screen, she yelled, "Get out of here. I'm sick of you guys and I'm not talking to anybody."

Good conduct may secure the prisoner a better job, according to the Bridewell matron, who indicated that a promotion would take the young woman to the sewing room. Supt. Edward Denemark gave instructions that she was to receive the same treatment as any other inmate.

Brakes of Car Faulty.

Police said that when the Romano girl was arrested she at first denied knowledge of any accident, but finally said: "If I hit the kid I'll pay damages." When asked why she had not obtained either a state license or city vehicle tag she asserted that she had had several tickets, but didn't need any license because "I always get it fixed for a few dollars." Tests showed that her car had faulty brakes. She made no application for licenses even after the accident.

Eight year old Mary Rizzo, the more severely injured of the two children struck, is still in the Children's Memorial hospital. Laura Turmino, 11, who was knocked down and suffered a bruised ankle and leg, testified against the young woman driver on Thursday.

Reckless Driver Gets 10 Days.

Stanley Mallinowski, 21, of 1414 North Fairfield avenue, was sentenced to ten days in the Bridewell and fined $100 and costs yesterday by Judge Leon Edelman in Speeders' court. Four charges of reckless driving were entered against him for passing a street car on the wrong side at 350 West Erie street. He struck four other cars. Mallinowski said something had gone wrong with the steering wheel, but the complainants insisted it was wild driving that resulted in the collision. The penalty was imposed on one charge, the others being dropped.

CAPITAL RECALLS ORDERS TO OUST BONUS VETERANS

Washington, D. C., July 22.—[Special.]—Notwithstanding the temporary rescinding of an order requiring evacuation of government and public park property, and an edict of their commander to remain, hundreds of war veterans flocked to the veterans' administration today to secure transportation to their homes.

The commissioners of the district, desiring time to obtain legal rulings necessary to carry out orders to vacate, recalled instructions to Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of metropolitan police, issued late yesterday, to clear out camps along Pennsylvania avenue. The other camp sites were to have been evacuated by Aug. 4.

Promptly this morning and before the rescinding order was issued, Walter W. Waters, commander in chief of the bonus expeditionary force, informed his men not to move "an inch," but to remain on government property.

Roy W. Robertson, leader of the left wing of the bonus army, announced late in the day that his force of 450 men would quit Washington tomorrow after a parade down Pennsylvania avenue. They plan a barnstorming tour of the states to carry their cause to the voters.

In the latter line was about 350 veterans who learned late yesterday that President Hoover had signed a bill authorizing the loan of half the value of the adjusted compensation certificates to those whose certificates were less than two years old.

The transportation line had about 200 veterans when the building gates were opened at 9 o'clock. At that time officials said that 4,223 men had applied for transportation since July 8, when President Hoover signed the bill providing for loans to veterans at one-third the regular railroad rates and subsistence to their homes.

Oak Park Police Shoot Two Riding in Stolen Car

Two men riding in a stolen car were shot and slightly wounded by two Oak Park policemen, who pursued them over Chicago avenue into Maywood last night and captured them after a sharp pistol battle. The prisoners identified themselves as Walter F. Pattie, 25 years old, 2004 Armitage avenue, and Anthony Jameson, 18 years old, 1400 Liberty avenue. During the chase bullets struck the automobile of V. H. Allen, 4842 Iowa street, who was accompanied by his wife and children.

ESTIMATE TOTAL BAIN CRASH LOSS AT 43 MILLIONS

Concluding six weeks of testimony on the collapse of the twelve Bain banks, the state virtually closed its case yesterday at the trial of John Bain, former head of the bank chain; his two sons, John H. and Robert A., and his son-in-law, W. Merle Fisher, all of whom are charged with conspiracy. A few exhibits are to be introduced Monday morning. On Wednesday Attorney Francis X. Busch will present several motions for the defense.

Assistant State's Attorneys Edwin J. Raber, Harold M. Keele, Henry E. Seyfarth, and John Gallagher said yesterday that the evidence they had presented showed that the twelve banks were insolvent over a long period before they were closed. They asserted that the four defendants knew of this unsound condition, but conspired to keep the banks open. Meanwhile, the prosecutors said, the defendants were foisting on the public stocks and bonds which they knew were greatly depreciated.

Raber said the loss to the public will be $30,000,000 in stocks, bonds, and mortgages and $13,000,000 in deposits in the closed banks.

SEIZED BANDITS KILL POLICEMAN AT AUTO WHEEL

Two of Gang and Two of Posse Shot in Hunt.

Motorcycle Policeman Harold Koehncke of the Dolton force was shot and killed last night by one of four gunmen whom he had arrested only a few minutes earlier. Three of the men were later captured. Two of them had been wounded. Two other men, Henry Mohr, a Dolton trustee, and Jake Debock, a carpenter, both members of a posse, were also shot when fired upon through error by friends. Their wounds are slight.

The slaying of the policeman threw the suburban towns in the southern end of the county into intense excitement. Armed men from the various villages hurried to Dolton to search for the slayers, three of whom had sought refuge in the timberlands in Dolton. The actual slayer, who was nabbed first, is Tony Pickels, 18 years old, of Gary, who was paroled only 35 days ago from the Pendleton, Ind., reformatory. He confessed that he killed the policeman to avoid being returned for violation of parole.

Car Runs Stoplight.

It was shortly after 9 o'clock that Policeman Koehncke sighted the four men. He was eating in a restaurant at Michigan City and Chicago Roads when their car passed through a stoplight. He halted the quartet in front of 947 Chicago road.

Behind Koehncke followed Deputy Sheriff Edward A. Zerman of 3331 Lincoln avenue, Chicago. Koehncke told the men to drive to the station, and when they hesitated Deputy Zerman inquired if Koehncke needed any aid. The policeman told him no, and the deputy drove away. Just then the hoodlums started away. Koehncke halted them again a half block away. This time he got into their car and took the wheel.

Shoot Policeman at Wheel.

Koehncke drove as far as 144th street and Irving avenue, when Pickels drew a gun and fired five shots point blank. Four struck the policeman in the head. Several shots were fired, one hitting Pickels in the arm and the other wounding Frank Puinti, 20, a confederate, in the cheek. Police believe that Koehncke fired these shots as he fell dying. The car swerved and crashed into a tree, overturning.

Puinti, his brother, Morris, 22, an ex-convict, and Peter Pickels, 22, a brother of Tony, crawled out and escaped into the woods. Tony, still holding the gun, was seized by Deputy Zerman, who had returned on hearing the shots.

Posse Surrounds Woods.

Within a few minutes the forest was surrounded. Peter Pickels and Frank Puinti were caught after more than an hour's search by two gardeners near Calumet City, who suspected them of being vegetable thieves. They were unarmed. Morris Puinti was still free this morning, and was still armed, police thought. At the Harvey station, where all the prisoners were taken, they confessed. They said they were on their way to rob a drug store in Chicago Heights when Policeman Koenecke stopped them.

Koenecke was 26 years old and lived at 154 Park avenue, Dolton. He was married, father of one child, and a member of the Dolton force for four years.

Shotgun Bandits Rob Office of Oil Company

Six men armed with shotguns and revolvers entered the Texas Petroleum company bulk plant, 3052 Archer avenue, yesterday, and after threatening the manager, John McNeal, 6235 South California avenue, and several men employés, robbed the safe and cash register of $300 and $2,200 in checks.

HANGS HIMSELF IN HOME.

John Golamb, 62 years old, committed suicide yesterday by hanging himself in his home at 1037 North California avenue. Police said he was despondent over ill health.

Hope of Teachers' Pay Rests in Supreme Court

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

With no new hope of obtaining cash to pay $20,700,000 in back salaries to teachers and other school board employés, a plan was announced at yesterday's conferences of city officials which contemplates the payment of school workers in tax anticipation warrants.

AGNES CLOHESY.

The 1932 tax levies of the board of education which have been held up by the city council since last April will probably be passed by the aldermen next Thursday. Mayor Cermak's "summer cabinet" promised representatives of the teachers' organizations yesterday that the city administration will support those levies.

To Meet with Aldermen.

Under the plan for passage the school board will be invited to appear before the council finance committee next Wednesday to discuss the tax levies. It is expected that some of the objectionable features of these levies will be brought up for discussion by the aldermen, who intend to disclaim any responsibility for the items and to fix the blame upon the trustees. With that done they are expected to recommend the levies for passage—unless the unexpected happens.

That is the program agreed upon yesterday at a conference in City Controller Szymczak's office attended by Corporation Counsel Sexton, City Treasurer Kearns, Ald. Sonnenchein, Ralph Conde, assistant schools attorney, and Attorneys Thomas Mason, Wiley W. Mills, L. J. Hassenauer, and T. G. Essington, representing teachers' organizations.

Law on Teachers' Orders.

The fly in this ointment is the new law authorizing the issuance of teachers' orders, which are regular pay checks marked "not sufficient funds." This law, in the opinion of bankers, makes the school board tax warrants unmarketable. A suit to test the constitutionality of that law is now before the Supreme court, and a recess opinion is expected next Monday. If that holds the law invalid then it is expected the school board will proceed to issue tax anticipation warrants at 5 per cent interest.

City Controller Szymczak said yesterday that he would go to New York in an attempt to sell warrants for the schools if the law is held invalid. But if it is held valid a session of the legislature will be necessary to repeal the law.

Appeals to Parents.

Miss Agnes Clohesy, head of the Elementary Teachers' union, issued a vigorous appeal yesterday to parents to urge aldermen to vote for the school tax levies next Thursday.

"If and when the Chicago schools reopen," reads her statement, "teachers should junk their textbooks in history, economics, and social science and teach these subjects from the travesty of democracy now being enacted in the great city about to stage a Century of Progress exposition."

The appeal asks the parents to write the mayor and phone the aldermen to vote for the school tax levies. The city officials, in addition to their promise of aid, have another reason for passing the levies. The law requires that tax levies must be filed early in August, and the aldermen do not care to accept the responsibility for a tardy and perhaps legally questionable tax levy.

Self-Liquidating Loan.

On the matter of obtaining cash to pay school teachers, the Szymczak conference yesterday painted the picture darker than it was presented Thursday. No money can be had from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, according to Corporation Counsel Sexton. A loan to the schools as a "self-liquidating agency" is specifically prohibited by a clause in the act which says that liquidation by taxes is not permitted. This appeared conclusive to Ralph Conde, attorney for the school board, and is said not to have been questioned by the other lawyers present.

At a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. building yesterday morning representatives of teachers' organizations decided that their future action must await the state Supreme court decision on the "N. S. F. checks."

MAYOR CERMAK'S DOCTORS TO HOLD A CONSULTATION

A consultation of physicians is to be held tomorrow at Mayor Cermak's home in Antioch, in the hope that means of speeding his recovery can be found. This announcement was made yesterday by the mayor's son-in-law and personal medical adviser, Dr. Frank W. Jirka.

Dr. Frederick Tice, heart and lung specialist, and probably Dr. Joseph Miller will be among the consultants.

According to Dr. Jirka, his patient's progress to health has been slow on account of the heat. Also, he has had too many visitors, in the opinion of the physician. If the mayor does not take a European trip, he added, he should go to some secluded spot in the United States for a long rest. X-ray photographs of Mayor Cermak were taken yesterday at St. Anthony's hospital. He stood the trip in from his summer home fairly well, it was reported.

Derailed Freight Train Wrecks Depot at Marley

A Wabash freight train was derailed yesterday at Marley, six miles east of Joliet, demolishing the depot with damage of $50,000. No one was in the station when the freight cars crashed through its walls. Conductor Samuel White was slightly injured when he was thrown against the side of the caboose. The wreck was caused, officials said, by a broken arch bar on the fourth car behind the engine, and 25 cars of the 52 car train left the rails.

CHARGE AUTOIST WITH DIAMOND ACCEPTS CHARITY

Crash Brings Case to Court's Attention.

In the 6100 block of Addison street, the automobile crashed into another car parked at the curb. The owner of the parked car, City Fireman Bernard Farmer, 3001 North Mansfield avenue, ran out and had the driver of the zig-zagging automobile arrested.

Farmer said that the other driver, who gave his name as Charles Wagner, 57 years old, 3518 Olcott avenue, was intoxicated. He was charged with reckless driving and was arraigned yesterday in the Speeder's court before Municipal Judge Leon Edelman.

"Here is a man who is prosperous enough to drive an automobile and have a diamond in his tie," said Judge Edelman. "Yet I have been informed that he is taking aid from the Joint Emergency Relief commission.

"The relief commission is in need of funds, but a man like this can somehow contrive to dip his hand into the relief chest while thousands of worthy persons are in actual need. I will inform the relief commission immediately of this case."

Wagner said he was an unemployed mechanic. The automobile, he declared, belonged to his daughter. He denied he was intoxicated. He was placed upon probation for one year on the charge of reckless driving.

Wilfred S. Reynolds, secretary of the relief commission, said that the records of the Irving Park relief station, which is in the district where Wagner lives, would be examined today, and that if Wagner is shown to possess resources while accepting aid from the relief fund, relief will be discontinued immediately.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

FEDERAL TAXES AND DIMINISHING RETURNS.

The federal fiscal year of 1932, ending June 30, showed a decrease of 870 millions in internal revenue. The loss in income tax receipts was 813 millions. The rate of taxation was the same as the year before. The incomes had disappeared. Miscellaneous taxes are derived from the use of taxable articles. The decrease in use, another indication of reduced earnings, contributed the remainder of the loss to the treasury. The comparison is with the preceding year of 1931, which was regarded by the country at the time as a bad year. Evidently no one knew the half of it. The next twelve months was to make it known.

What was happening should have been as clear in Washington as it was anywhere else, but there apparently the meaning was lost in the fog of the government mind. The revenue gathering methods of the government had reached the point of diminishing returns. People had lost their incomes in the depreciation of their securities and loss of dividends, in the contraction of business volume, in the shrinking of profits, the failure of rents and the low price levels for all commodities. Incomes could not remain on stilts when all the sources of them had dropped off.

The federal government, confronted with a situation which was ominously plain elsewhere than in Washington, reasoned itself to a conclusion that elsewhere than in Washington would have been recognized as lunatic. It was decided not to reduce the expenditures to preserve the balance with the diminished receipts, but to increase the tax rates and the costs.

The returns for 1932 having proved the loss of taxable income, it was proposed and carried to remedy the loss in income by taking more of it. Consequently a four billion dollar congress became a five billion dollar congress, and the taxpayer was required to part with an increased proportion of the income he had managed to preserve out of his losses. The country had demonstrated its inability to support the government; therefore the government made the task harder. The lower tax rate had proved that the money was not available; therefore a higher one was put in the new tax act.

This philosophy prevailed in Chicago with results with which the country seems to be familiar. Pay rolls can't be met. Supply bills can't be paid. The Washington pay rollers will find that the policy will work in federal affairs as it has, for instance, in the Chicago schools. You can call spirits from the vasty deep—but will they come?

SUBURBAN TRANSPORT COMFORTS.

Several of the American railroads precool their special trains, but none, so far as we are informed, has taken pity on the commuter. Suburban trains in some of our stations during hot days of summer would be complimented if called vestibules of hell. A steel car with plush seats absorbs heat in an open yard for hours and is then run into a concourse where locomotives are radiating heat from half a dozen tracks. Patrons who, after a day's work in a hot office, enter this inferno meet a final drain upon their vitality which must count heavily against their health in due time.

We Americans are proud of the intelligent resourcefulness which has given the American home a high standard of comfort and convenience. In transport we are not so far in the lead, in some respects are behind the best European trains. In England, though England knows no such extreme temperatures as ours, they are giving the cars baths before use by means of sprays. Perhaps some of our roads spray, but we haven't noted any results. Air conditioning is just beginning and the suburban car is a special problem, but we think enterprising initiative would produce some welcome ameliorations. We know of one concourse which ought to have a double roof when the road can afford it. The protection of cars from the sun when not in service and means of cooling them before they are made up for suburban use seem to us worthy of serious experiment. We recognize that railroad resources are depleted and no unreasonable draft upon their operating funds should be expected. But some betterments might be made profitable.

GANGDOM AND LABOR.

Reputable organized labor must be given better protection from the criminal and the racketeer. The double murder at Shawano, Wis., is but the latest tragedy in a long record of violence. Gunmen have taken over the control of unions repeatedly and used force to overawe the decent rank and file. This has been possible for two reasons. The police have been held back by the political influences which are allied with organized criminality and this condition has grown worse since prohibition and its illicit profits have added to the resources of the professional gangster. But another contributing factor, not so easily exposed, is the belief among many of the rank and file of unions that a gangster boss, though known to be a grafter, takes his profits chiefly from employers, and that on the whole assists the union to maintain itself against them. This is a cynical and, we think, a shortsighted and mistaken opinion, but it undoubtedly prevented revolt against gangster violence and graft. The gunman boss has survived on the theory that he is a Robin Hood who only robbed the rich.

This evil, however, has reached a stage in which not only reputable organized labor, which is the great majority of labor, but the community is gravely concerned. The first step must be a demand upon the police for a faithful and resolute performance of duty. Crime in labor affairs must be treated like crime elsewhere. We have made some advances against gangdom and the fight must be carried on regardless of political influences which obstruct the workings of law agencies. Violence and racketeering still prevail and all the resources of the respectable community are needed to overcome them.

YES, MR. WOODCOCK'S A GREAT HELP.

A few days ago the small town of Alexandria Bay, Jefferson county, in the northwestern border country of New York state, was thrown into a turmoil by the wild operations of Amos Woodcock's federal prohibition agents. After a two days' experience the people of the region were demanding protection of their senators and representatives in congress and were organizing to repel raids.

Other incidents in other parts of the country have kept Mr. Woodcock's attention jumping from spot to spot. The political campaign seems to have had its first sharp reaction in the prohibition unit and several surmises are possible. Both party conventions virtually ditched the eighteenth amendment. The prohibition unit is by the eighteenth amendment out of the Volstead act, and it cannot survive its sire and dam. The progeny must pass away with the parents, and misgivings may have seized it. If it were at all intelligent one could count on the misgivings as a certainty.

One surmise is that prohibition agents, true to their traditions and their instincts, are determined to make their last days notably obnoxious. Although they have already given the people much to remember them by, they may desire to make it more and to have the closing year or so of their disservice to the nation notorious for generations. It is often the case that a tyranny increases its frenzy as its end approaches. The agents may be merely acting according to nature.

It is also possible that the professional prohibitionists who have enjoyed over ten years of spectacles pleasing to their ill suppressed desires require that the tempo of enforcement be quickened in the twilight of the noble experiment, that the severities be made more ecstatic and the brutalities more satisfying. These are deathbed rites.

Again Mr. Woodcock might find himself asked the natural question whether, the refreshed activity of his agents having been noted, it has become the policy of his office to make the reelection of Mr. Hoover as difficult as possible as a warning that any administrative attempt to do away with the enforcers will be resented.

It would almost appear that Mr. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee, is running the department of justice in the interests of the Democratic ticket.

A WARNING FOR US.

The resignation of Sir Henry Thornton as head of the Canadian National railways ends a hopeless fight. Efficiency versus politics. Sir Henry is one of the ablest railroad men in the world. He has demonstrated that in the United States, in Great Britain during the drastic ordeal of the war, and in his management of the Canadian National railways since he took it over in 1924. It was after this that the government system began to show increasing earnings for the first time. Even after the depression reduced earnings operating charges have been met. It is a record which would insure Thornton's retention in any honestly managed enterprise. But since the change of government in 1930 Thornton has been investigated by parliament, "exposed," and abused. He drew too high salaries, he spent too much money, he favored Americans. After months of this he accepts the inevitable and takes his hat.

That is what naturally occurs under political control of enterprise. The tests are not the same in government and private control. The Canadian railways lose Thornton's abilities because the new party government wants to put some one else in his place. No private enterprise could survive that sort of thing. No public enterprise can prosper under its infliction.

Through our experiment with bureaucratic regulation of railroad operation we are driving our railroads toward bankruptcy, and the sequel of bankruptcy is government ownership. The retirement of Thornton warns us of conditions which will control the government management of our own transportation if we are not wise enough to free it from the burdens of inordinate taxation and the strangling bonds of bureaucratic regulation.

CAPITALISM IS LIBERTY—COMMUNISM IS COMPULSION—BUTLER.

[Jefferson County (Wis.) Union.]

The power of a man as a statesman or as a mere orator depends upon his ability to define. New situations are constantly arising and he who can best define them is called to leadership. Nicholas Murray Butler says communism is properly defined as compulsion; capitalism is properly defined as liberty—liberty to work for a competence—liberty to lay up for old age or for one's loved ones. Liberty to do those things made property rights sacred. When men are protected in property rights they become ambitious, hire their idle neighbors to work and all are made rich as compared with their previous poverty-stricken condition.

When the whites came to this country communism had made and kept the Indians poor. If an Indian risked his life to kill an eagle on its craggy nest so as to get feathers for his arrows and for a headdress, he was able to keep but a few. The bulk were confiscated or stolen from him. With no urge to lay up a competence the Indian had left to him only war in which to win distinction. The white man with his love of liberty—called by the communist "capitalism"—changed all that and made each square mile support fifty on crops, where before only one Indian could live on wild game. The communist would destroy the human urge to acquire property and send us back to the Indian's communistic life—one to the square mile. If Russia keeps up her communism in the pure form of the lazy Indian she will come down by starvation and war to the population standard of communistic North America in 1492—one to a square mile, and not even that unless game were plentiful.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

LET'S GO BACK TO FIRST PRINCIPLES.

It seems apparent from a study of auto accidents that people have forgotten many of the things they learned in school. The thing to do is to refresh their memory on these points and the number of accidents will be immediately reduced.

1. Two bodies (autos, for instance) cannot pass when approaching each other on the same line. The popular impression which has grown up that two autos, each traveling over fifty miles an hour, can pass each other safely when on the same line is erroneous. Autoists are now laboring under the idea that one auto dodges nimbly under the other or that one hurdles the other and that there is no collision. This is quite wrong, and, although it is tried every day, never with any great measure of success.

2. Many drivers of automobiles believe that an auto is much heavier and stronger than a railroad train and if the two meet the railroad train will get a swift kick in the pants and be thrown over into an adjoining cornfield. This is all wrong. A small auto, such as most usually tries to prove this theory, weighs say 2,000 pounds. The engine alone on a train weighs many times more than this and when you take the weight of each car into consideration, the thousands of tons of freight and the fat engineer in the cab of the locomotive any autoist should know on reflection that in a discussion between an auto and a freight train the odds are heavily in favor of the train.

3. A tree growing by the side of the road is not pasted there. Nor is it made of cardboard with paper leaves. Many autoists under the delusion that a tree is pasted to the ground and is made of cardboard with paper leaves try to remove it from the landscape by driving their car with great force against it. A tree has what is known as roots, which grow very deep into the ground, anchoring the tree quite firmly into the scenery. It is almost futile to try to remove a tree from alongside the road by driving an automobile against it. However, the attempt is made every day.

4. Large octagonal signs are frequently met with on the highway at the intersection with another highway. These signs bear the word S-T-O-P. The word "stop" means to cease, to discontinue further progress for the time being, to halt. It is a simple English word and is in every dictionary, but autoists so seldom carry dictionaries. Many of them are under the impression that the word means to hurry faster, to put on greater speed, to step on the gas, etc. All this is quite erroneous, but the motorist not knowing the true meaning of S-T-O-P speeds madly on. Which would not be so bad were it not for the fact that another motorist is traveling rapidly on the crossroads. This motorist also fails to remember the meaning of the word, or perhaps has never heard it, and he, too, is without a dictionary. So the two cars meet and Farmer Stubbs, who lives near by, telephones for the coroner.

PUZZLE.

Maybe there is no day and night,
But only, when we think it's day,
It's really night's gay cloak we see
Behind it as it rides away.

Or else, when we think night has come,
It is not night at all, we find,
But day going rough shod down the world,
Its spangled cloak aflow behind.

And when dawn bursts upon the east,
What really happens might well be,
Night's riding back, or, if it's day,
He's going, as the case may be.

SHERRY KING.

"WALL STREET BETS 5 TO 4 ON ROOSEVELT."—Headline. As every Wall street thing we've ever owned goes to a new low almost every day we are emptying all the money out of the old sock and putting it on Mr. Hoover.

THEY'RE STILL ARRESTING girls for wearing shorts on public tennis courts. Tsk, tsk, tsk! Has the human race progressed or has it not? They said Columbus was crazy because he believed the earth was round. The neighbors called the police because Galileo said there were new stars constantly appearing in the heavens. James Watt said he could harness steam and put it to work and they thought he ought to be tied up so he wouldn't injure his family. The pioneers, girls, in all ages get nothing but the raspberry from their contemporaries. In a year or two they'll be wearing shorts all over the place and nobody will think it any stranger than to wear a fur coat in winter time. But we're a stiff necked race, we humans, and it takes us a long time to get used to anything new.

DISILLUSION.

What shall we say, dear heart, what shall we say?
Shall we bemoan the night or bless the day?
God knows what mood were best, or whether you
Or I should laugh, or which of us should rue.

For, look you, when two wake from the same dream
To things that are, from those that only seem,
Nothing is really changed. The dream is dead,
With equal gain and loss, and all is said.

What shall we say, dear heart, what shall we say?
Silence, methinks, would be the better way.
Part, if we must, with laughter or with tears,
But no vain words to mock the cynic years.

For, though we have grown sudden very wise,
And bravely vaunt our newly opened eyes,
Yet we shared tenderly the foolish seeming,
And speech would but profane our dear dead dreaming.

THE TWO BILLION DOLLAR relief bill was signed by the President yesterday and the money is now ready in Washington for the borrowers. We have changed our vacation plans; instead of the cool lake and the log cabin in the woods of Wisconsin we are going to steer the old bus straight for Washington. Maybe not, but it's worth trying.

RECIPES FOR ACID MILKS.

THE opinion is rather general that acid milks are more easily digested and probably more wholesome generally than is ordinary milk. In many parts of the world various kinds of clabbered milk are the staple food and fresh milk is not much used, and here buttermilk is a popular beverage.

If your babies cannot have breast milk the most popular modification of cow's milk is known as lactic acid milk. The commonly used method of making lactic acid milk is as follows:

For 24 hours' feeding take a quantity of milk that equals in ounces twice the baby's weight in pounds. Let us say, in this instance, the baby weighs ten pounds. We start with twenty ounces of good, fresh, clean milk. Boil for 3 minutes and cool. Mix 1½ ounces corn sirup with an equal quantity of water and add sixty drops of lactic acid. Stir well. Add the corn sirup-acid-water mixture to the cooled milk, stirring well all the time. It is generally the custom to add the sirup mixture slowly. The acid thickens the milk, and the object in stirring as the acid is added is to make an even mixture with no large, solid curds.

If the baby is 1 month old this milk is put into six bottles and put on ice. The baby is given a bottle every four hours.

To prepare lactic acid milk with evaporated milk:

Take 16 ounces of evaporated milk. Mix 3 ounces of corn sirup and a scant teaspoonful of lactic acid in a pint of water. Mix thoroughly. Add the water, corn sirup, and acid to the milk gradually, stirring well all the time. This mixture is divided into bottles and put away on ice. It will keep for several days, and the amount given should be determined by the age and weight of the baby.

Since lactic acid milk is thick and gruellike, it will not pass readily through the ordinary hole in the regular nipple. Therefore, the size of the hole should be increased. This is readily done with a hot needle. In warming the milk just before using, care should be exercised lest it be spoiled by heating to a temperature that is too high.

The amounts of lactic acid given at a feeding are lower than those given if liquid milk is used.

There are many other acid milks in somewhat general use. Among them are lemon juice, orange juice, other fruit juices, vinegar, acetic acid, and dilute muriatic acid. Each has advocates. The method of mixing these acids and the quantity used varies according to the acid used and the procedures worked out by different men for each.

PROBABLY EYE STRAIN.

S. H. writes: What is the cause of a growth under the eyelids of a girl 12 years old? It is neither red nor swollen. It has been there for over a month.

REPLY.

This is probably a chalazion. This is the cyst of a gland in the lid. Eyestrain is apt to be a contributing cause. If a chalazion persists it should be opened and emptied. This can be done through a small incision made on the inner surface of the lid.

OBSERVATIONS AND OPINIONS.

S. L. F. writes: I send you observations and opinions on several symptoms:

1. Muscae volitantes. These black spots cannot be removed, I understand, and yet their presence does no harm. They are not symptoms of kidney trouble as some claim. They may foretell cataract, but I have had them for twenty years and have no cataracts yet. Their presence worries some old people.

2. Arcus senilis. Some say these gray rings in the eyes are symptoms of arteriosclerosis, and others say they are not. This growth worries old persons. If it is harmless they would feel grateful to you if you reassured them.

3. I suffered for the past 53 years with pains in my gastric, renal, abdominal, and appendicular regions. Early I tried the theory of elimination of possible uncongenial foods such as tea, coffee, pastry, and condiments. Then I cut out tobacco and alcohol. However, during heavy mental concentration the pains returned. The doctors said hyperchlorhydria and prescribed an alkaline. This was not altogether satisfactory. Then I cut out meat. It worked fine for a while. Then I thought it was eyestrain and procured glasses. Then I figured the HCl of my excess gastric juice came from the NaCl in my diet and cut out salt. That worked for a while, too. The latest marvelous relief from all these gastric, renal, and abdominal pains for me has come from a few swallows of sour milk after meals and during the night, if pains appear. It beats bicarbonate of soda or subnitrate of bismuth prescriptions, and everything else I have tried, and leaves no bad after effects. I have not had a pain for the past four months.

REPLY.

1. Your observation is correct as to your case. It is correct as to ninety-nine cases out of a hundred. And then comes the exception.

2. The appearance is due to a deposit of cholesterin in the tissues of the eye. As an indication of senility it has some value but not a great deal. When it comes to telling age even the arcus senilis is liable to lie.

3. Ordinarily, soured milk has been pretty well pushed off the stage by acidophilus milk. I am sure that both have places in the promotion of human well being.

ABOUT T. B. TESTS.

H. C. W. writes: 1. What is the meaning of "acid test" in a sputum examination?

2. What is the meaning and significance of moist rales?

REPLY.

1. When the tubercle bacillus has been stained for microscopic examination, and the stained specimen is washed with a dilute acid, the bacillus is not bleached. We say it is "acid fast," meaning that the stained bacillus is not readily discolored by acid. While there are other acid fast bacilli, not many of them are liable to be confused with the tubercle bacillus in sputum examinations.

2. In listening to the chest sounds, a peculiar bubbling sound is sometimes heard. It is known as moist rales and it is caused by air bubbling through mucus, as, for instance, sputum. This sound is heard in pneumonia, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and other troubles. If it is heard only in the upper part of the chest it is regarded as a good indication of consumption.

BOND INTEREST.

Chicago, July 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I hold several bonds on a building which is part of a large bond issue made five years ago and which has now become due. I am advised there are no available funds to pay these, although in the past they have paid interest when due. 1. They ask bondholders to turn in their bonds and they will execute a new five year loan. 2. Should I be the only one to hold out, can they make this new mortgage without my bonds? 3. Is there any way I can be froze out? 4. This building will not go under foreclosure.

S. H.

1. The decision on such questions depends upon the value of the pledged assets, the financial responsibility of the maker whose name is signed to the bonds, the reputation of the members of the committee, and the proposal which the committee makes. We are not in a position to investigate the facts for you. If you are skeptical as to the offered plan, we would suggest that you join with other bondholders in employing an attorney to investigate the facts and determine on a course of action.

2. If you hold out it would be necessary to put through a receivership in order to refinance.

3. You would receive your share of the proceeds of the foreclosure sale.

4. We do not see the basis for this statement. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ILLEGAL ENTRY.

Chicago, July 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I read an article last year concerning a law passed in the senate making all aliens that entered illegally in the United States before July 1, 1925, free from deportation, that is, of course, providing they are law abiding subjects, paying their taxes, etc. I would like to have confirmation of this as I have a friend in this predicament.

What the writer has in mind is the act of congress approved March 2, 1929, regarding the registration of aliens. Briefly, it provides that an alien, not ineligible to citizenship, in whose case there is no record of admission for permanent residence, may have his entry registered, if he shall make a satisfactory showing to the commissioner general of immigration in accordance with prescribed regulations as to the following particulars: [1] That he entered the United States prior to June 3, 1921; [2] that he has resided in the United States continuously since such entry; [3] that he is a person of good moral character, and [4] that he is not subject to deportation. Aliens desiring to register under the provisions of this act should apply to the nearest office of the United States immigration service, where more detailed information may be obtained.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 23, 1916.

SAN FRANCISCO.—A bomb exploded presumably by anarchists in protest against the preparedness parade in which more than 50,000 participated, killed at least six persons at Steuart and Market streets and injured more than forty, besides inflicting lesser injuries upon many others. The capacity of downtown hospitals was taxed to care for victims, but the parade went on. The bomb, one of the deadliest infernal machines ever put together, was left in a suitcase at the corner and exploded just as the First California regiment was passing. The suitcase was packed with explosives and crammed with nails, cartridges, slugs and other missiles. Pieces hurled a block failed their victims. The building against which the suitcase had been left was wrecked and stores across the street partially demolished. Buildings for blocks around rocked. Warning that a bomb would be hurled was received the day before by newspapers and others. "The close watch for any move of the kind was foiled by the fact that the bomb was left in the suitcase instead of being thrown.

PETROGRAD.—The Russians have driven the Teutonic forces resisting them south of the River Lipa in Volhynia, near the Galician frontier, beyond the town of Berestchek to the west. More than 12,000 prisoners were captured by the Russians, making a total of 20,000 captured since July 15. Fierce engagements have taken place south of Riga and the Russian troops have penetrated the German first line at several points.

ROME.—Between the Adige and the Brenta Italian artillery was active and the infantry maintained pressure over the whole line, according to a war office announcement. Attacks were made over rough ground between the Brenta and the Piave in the Dolomite region. Numerous important positions were captured.

INDIANAPOLIS.—James Whitcomb Riley, the Indiana poet, died at his home here on Lockerby street. He had suffered from the extreme heat all day but was thought to be resting easily by night. At 11 o'clock he asked his nurse for a drink of water and when she returned he was dead from a stroke of paralysis. The poet was the son of Reuben A. Riley, a lawyer and political speaker of Greenfield, Ind. The boy could not be brought to the dull routine of schooldays, but he was wise in the lore of streams and fields, so instead of preparing for the practice of law as his father wished, he turned itinerant sign painter. For ten years he roamed through the Ohio valley painting signs on fences. He led this free and easy life until late in the '70s when he became a reporter on a newspaper at Anderson, Ind. In the early '80s he began writing verses in "Hoosier dialect" for the old Indianapolis Journal, and from that time on his poems were famous throughout the world. He was 63 years old.

CHICAGO.—Dodge, the latest American Derby winner, finished a rather indifferent third in the Chicago Merchant's handicap, the feature race of the day at Hawthorne. The race was won by H. G. Bedwell's four year old gelding Sir Edgar with Peaky second.

A QUERY AS TO RELIEF COSTS.

Chicago, July 21.—In connection with your fight against "taxeaters in government" I believe an incident that occurred at the Town Hall police court a few days ago will be of interest to you.

A young man falsely represented himself to the Emmerson relief commission as a property owner anxious to take in a certain family and give them a flat in his building, and thereby received from the relief commission through the Chase park branch the sum of $15. After receiving this money it developed that the man was not a property owner and he was arrested and prosecuted by the officers of the Chase park station. He was found guilty and put on probation for one year and ordered to make restitution of the fifteen dollars.

Five salaried employes of the relief commission appeared against him. One of the ladies stated to the court that "one of our clients," etc., and in answer to the judge's question of whether they ran a law office and why they called them "clients" she answered that it was a term generally used by the commission.

Judge Allegretti judiciously and with a great degree of understanding asked this particular young lady if she represented the commission that spent a million dollars of the taxpayers' money as salaries and overhead to give a million dollars to the unfortunate. And to the amazement and interest of all in the courtroom she acknowledged that it was.

The part that I believe worthy of comment is the fact that five persons, from appearances all receiving substantial salaries from the Emmerson relief commission, should be stationed at one relief station, all doing secretarial work. It seemed to me that at this particular office the salaries going to employes would amount to as much as the relief distributed through the office. An investigation ought to be made into this phase of the "taxeaters in government" so that the unfortunate for whom these funds are appropriated will be given the necessities of life that the taxpayers intended for them.

Will you do what you can at the proper time to look into this phase of the situation, and oblige?

B. F. CUMMINGS.

THE SUNDAY JAM AT LAKE ZURICH.

Chicago, July 18.—Every Sunday afternoon and evening during the summer south bound traffic in Rand road is jammed up at Lake Zurich. This is caused by an utterly unnecessary stop light in the village, placed there, no doubt, at a time when anything could be sold to anybody on any pretext; possibly some glib salesman told the authorities of Lake Zurich that a large town like Lake Zurich should not be without a stop light, and said authorities apparently fell for the argument.

The loss of time, temper and fuel and the hazard of life and property due to this senseless "regulation" of traffic should, it seems to me, warrant some action on the part of the state authorities.

These roads are built by the state, paid for by the taxpayers and are intended for the use and convenience of the populace in general, and certainly a small hamlet like Lake Zurich should not be in a position legally to enforce its whim on thousands of motorists, whose main desire is to get through there as quickly as possible. DISGUSTED.

A BURIED CLASSIC.

Chicago, July 19.—The obituary of Evanston's old Scotch horse in this morning's TRIBUNE is a classic. Why any story with such a sound moral should be relegated to the seventh page is beyond me, however. R. CRAWFORD.

SLOGANS.

Chicago, July 18.—In reply to one of Gov. Roosevelt's campaign speeches on the "forgotten man," Al Smith used the phrase, "Bunk cannot win." This sounds like a fair campaign slogan for the Republicans. J. J. WILEY.

HE SHOULD LEAVE DOORN.

Chicago, July 20.—Recent political events are still eliciting much bitter comment throughout the land. May I be permitted, without reflecting on our national honor, to make a suggestion bearing on the political and economic conditions of this country, for, let us say, the next two or three years? And, indeed, what with postmasters and prohibition agents putting over a grand slam for Mr. Hoover, and with Mr. McAdoo, not long ago a party to the most notorious deadlock in Democratic conventions, suddenly suffering a change of heart about deadlocks to become not only the latest version of Salome dancing the dance of the seven tricks before Herod and his howling mob, but also the archpriest of all political soothsayers and oracles; and what with our congress, perhaps out to outdo Mr. McAdoo, buying its way at a 5½ billion dollar price out of an economic deadlock into which it had plunged without rhyme or reason—what with all these events crowding in upon us, possibly my suggestion will not be out of order.

In Doorn, Holland, there is at present a gentleman whose experience in affairs of government is ample enough; but over and above that he has had a blessed 14 years of serious reflection on the tremendous price that must be paid for blunders in government.

And so, let congress and the major parties take a two years' vacation or rest; and at a $50,000 a year salary let us have one Mr. William Hohenzollern, experienced in every school of life, take a hand at shaping our national affairs. . . . Is it economy we need? Is it prosperity? Is it relief? Is it efficiency? Is it beer—good old Pilsner—we want immediately? . . . I merely suggest. And these are desperate times.

MARTIN BUCKLER.

WAIT TILL IT GOES TO 100.

Chicago, July 19.—Some time ago my scholarly young daughter asked me what Emmy Schmaltz meant when she said "Tisk, tisk." That was her interpretation of the arbitrary and somewhat absurd "Tsk, tsk." When I had finished increasing my daughter's store of learning I got to wondering just how you should spell this expressive but inarticulate expletive. For fear my family might think I had gone slightly demented I went down to the basement and made a series of exhaustive experiments with the sound Emmy makes so often. I emerged from the basement with a partial gleam of exultation in my eye. If I hadn't discovered just how the darned thing should be spelled I had, at least, discovered that "tsk" doesn't come within miles of it. After reading this letter try it over a few times yourself. Listen carefully and see if you're making a sound that begins with "t." You won't be. You'll find that the initial sound is infinitely closer to "s." Let's take it for granted that you're hugely interested—it will be such a relief from trying to make up your mind about having to swallow Hoover again—and that you'd like some additional proof. Try this: Place the end of your tongue against the front of your palate and say "stipple." Well, what do you find? This, my friends: that your pronunciation of the first three letters will be exactly like the sound that "tsk" is supposed to represent. Will this make any difference to your comic strip artists? Will they cut out the meaningless "tsk, tsk"? They will not. In case you're curious, the temperature was 96 when I wrote this. PURIST.

IN LOCO PARENTIS.

Chicago, July 20.—The name of Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, the leader of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, appears quite frequently in your paper. I am informed that this lady is the daughter of the late Paul Morton. As one who knew her father quite well, I would like to say in his behalf that if he were alive today he would probably give her a good spanking.

"END SOCIALISM" MOVE SPREADS OVER AUSTRALIA

Victorians Try to Slash State's Apron Strings.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MELBOURNE, Australia, July 1.—[By Mail.]—One hundred years ago blacks and kangaroos lived by this sheltered bay and these river banks. Then came the whites, the British pioneers from Tasmania, and today there is the smoke of a thousand factories, the bulk of a great financial and shipping center and miles of neat streets and little homes where the English rose has been transplanted and the cult of middle class comfort obtain.

Through generations of leadership of the new aristocracy of labor in politics, many experiments in common welfare through the medium of state control, have led to measurable results. They have been partly good and partly very bad. They have aided the general standard of living through artificial means, but have retarded the larger development of the state and fostered a dependent rather than independent state of mind.

Strange Contrasts Exist.

Human nature has had its way through it all. The moon, moving high over the rocky headlands, the pleasure beaches, the home of a million people and the wide and desolate back country, may still peer through the clouds upon many strange contrasts. Some live on crusts and work in sweatshops, while others live in splendid Victorian mansions amid the green illusion of an English countryside.

An old woman in Little Lounsdale street sells her daughter for a few shillings, while the beautiful daughter of a wealthy family takes the hand of the son of another wealthy family in the gray shadows of old Scot's church and the triumphant music rolls out upon the street.

There are beggars and race track touts, barefooted newsboys and legless war veterans, muffled ladies in evening dress, the sound of a saxophone moaning in a night club, workers talking of injustice and the coming revolution, students, roisterers in the back bars, shivering men looking for a night's lodging, music of the opera, and chorus girls dancing in the gaudiest theater under the Southern Cross.

While Victoria has not been noisy and radical about it, as her sister state of New South Wales, her huge experiments in social undertakings during the last thirty years in the great common services as well as in ownership and operation of railways, bridges, roads, water power, irrigation works, electric power development, and the financing of settlers furnish many interesting lessons for the rest of the world.

Finances Unsound Before 1929.

While much is said of the depression and war debts, it is significant that even before 1929 and outside of the war expenditures the finances of the state were unsound. Despite all the efforts to bring the whole people to the level of a fair and reasonable wage, the problem of unemployment was still uppermost, the deficits were increasing and the results to the state were becoming increasingly unsatisfactory.

Having taken the first step toward the socialist objective and having found it wanting in many ways Victoria, like New South Wales, is now trying to shake off the habit of looking to the state for everything and to strike out in old fields along new lines. Big business plus a social objective would probably be the answer of the thoughtful to this situation.

The failure of the great socialist enterprises has been due, it is found, to the defects inherent in the political system.

"Socialism Has Retarded State."

A frank and authoritative view of the situation in Victoria is given by F. W. Eggleston, former minister of water supply, railways and electricity, in the state government and a delegate to the Institute of Pacific Relations, who is preparing a book on state socialism. In various writings on this subject he points out that the work already done in these lines, meant to be developmental, has not developed but has retarded the state.

The investment of loan capital in various enterprises is listed as follows:

Closer settlement boards	$160,000,000
State rivers and water supply	100,000,000
Railways	300,000,000
Harbor trust	18,000,000
Roads and forests	42,500,000
Electricity	65,000,000
Tramways	33,000,000
State savings bank	100,000,000
Metropolitan board of works	100,000,000
Metropolitan fire brigade	1,000,000

The water and sewerage systems, trams, harbor trust, savings bank, and fire brigade have been quite divorced from politics, put under independent commission, and have proved efficient, Eggleston points out. The statewide developmental enterprises have created a problem which taxes the whole resources of the state.

Railways Lose Millions.

The state railways were begun in 1856. There are now 4,712 miles in the state under operation, at a cost of $370,000,000, or about $75,000 a mile. Eighty-one per cent of the gross revenue goes for working expenses. In 1930 the loss was $3,977,419 for the year. They have not been expected to pay. They are used by politics for building up depressed areas and helping local industries.

The settlement of lands policy has been a serious failure and has entailed a state loss of about $50,000,000 so far, with extensions and commitments necessary to those now on the land. This venture began in 1904 with the purchase of huge estates at high prices. The capital outlay of the soldier settlements was $120,000,000, that of civilian settlements $40,000,000. Fifteen thousand settlers have responded to this call, and the state has been losing $3,500,000 a year. The indirect advantage of the settlements has been stressed.

Court Issues Writ Upholding Wearing of 'Shorts' by Girls

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

The public is no longer interested in women's legs, neither does it find them shocking, Judge Marcus Kavanagh of the Superior court ruled yesterday, in granting an injunction to restrain the Irving Park commissioners from preventing the playing of tennis by girls wearing "shorts."

The injunction was sought by Miss Ruth Smutny, 18 years old, 4434 North Kostner avenue, and Miss Nonna Thome, 20 years old, 4447 North Kostner avenue, after they were barred from the Kilbourn park courts when they appeared in shorts on July 4.

Judge Sees the Shorts.

Judge Kavanagh heard the girls testify, and leaned forward to observe the "shorts" they wore on their sunburned thighs. Then he settled back, drew his black alpaca robes around him, and heard the remainder of the testimony with less apparent interest. Various experts, including Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, defended the wearing of "shorts."

"It's unfortunate that this case came before me," Judge Kavanagh said at the conclusion of arguments, "because I've just returned from two weeks at Asbury Park, N. J., where I saw 5,000 women a day in costumes beside which these girls' tennis costumes appear most conventional.

"I don't think any man or woman would be shocked at these costumes in question," he continued. "We're living in a changing age. In 1910 this would have been a shocking exhibition. It isn't now.

Public Doesn't Care.

"The Irving Park commissioners have a right to make any reasonable regulations. But the public doesn't care whether these girls appear in these costumes or not. No one would look twice at these girls' legs in these days."

Dr. Bundesen, questioned by Attorney Victor Frohlich, representing the girls, said that there was a definite beneficial influence in wearing shorts in sunlight.

ATTORNEY FROLICH — In your opinion are they immodest or immoral?

DR. BUNDESEN—Those my daughters wear aren't.

JUDGE KAVANAGH—I don't believe the doctor is an expert on modesty.

DR. BUNDESEN—I'm not, your honor.

Tells Stand of Park.

J. B. McGrath, attorney for the Irving park district and executive manager for the parks, testified as to the commissioners' position. He was questioned by Attorney A. J. Schmidt.

"The Lincoln park board is the only one in the city permitting shorts on tennis courts," McGrath said.

It was announced that Judge Kavanaugh's ruling would be appealed. Attorneys Schmidt and McGrath said that it would probably cost the Irving park commissioners $400 or $500 if taken to the Supreme court, "in addition to attorneys' fees," but that they must maintain their rights.

GERMAN CROWN PRINCE IN VIENNA; PLOT SUSPECTED

Former Heir to Throne Refuses to Talk.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Austria, July 22.—Former Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm of Germany arrived in Austria today, ostensibly for a holiday, according to himself, but perhaps for more important reasons, according to others.

Two explanations linked his arrival with a monarchist putsch in Germany. One came from a member of his entourage, who said the former crown prince came to Austria in order to set aside all rumors that he is plotting a putsch to bring the Hohenzollerns back to the German throne this week-end or next.

"The crown prince is not responsible for what others are doing in his behalf, but personally he is not taking part in any plan, nor does he know of a plan to restore the monarchy in Germany," his spokesman said. "He came to Austria for a short holiday. Perhaps it will stop rumors that he is plotting to regain his father's throne."

Republicans Are Suspicious.

Another explanation emanated from German republican circles and suggested that a definite plot for the restoration of the Hohenzollerns is scheduled for this week-end. They contend that in order to avert suspicion and put the German republicans off their guard the prince planned to be in Austria when the monarchist putsch began.

The former crown prince refused to be interviewed, but is understood to have told a friend that his arrival today has no significance. He said he has always visited Austria at this time of the year and the present trip was planned months ago. The prince went directly to Mondsee, where he is the guest of his old friend, Count Almeida, who is famous for the cheeses manufactured on his estate.

SEIZED FROM BEDS

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 22.—Military police of Berlin early today arrested Col. Hugo Heimannsberg, ousted commander of Berlin's "protective police," Maj. Walter Enke and Ernst Charlesbergh, an official of the republican "reichsbanner men," dragging them from their beds.

They were charged with "violation of the emergency decree of July 20," but no further details were issued. Lawyers of the arrested men were not allowed to speak to them until tonight. They were cross-examined during the day by Prosecuting Attorney Sohl of the military dictatorship. Col. Heimannsberg was released late tonight.

Maj. Enke, member of an old and distinguished family, is a fanatical republican. Charlesbergh is also a firm believer in republicanism. Through his zeal he succeeded in keeping the reichsbanner men in control in the district of Charlottenburg against Adolf Hitler's Nazi "storm troops."

The restrictions on public demonstrations were slightly eased today by Baron Wilhelm von Gayl, minister of the interior, who authorized outdoor nonpolitical gatherings of artistic and cultural character. The permission extends to religious processions, "so-called field sport exercises" of semi-military organizations, "provided they are not of demonstrative character."

The German Supreme court tomorrow will hear arguments in Prussia's appeal against the ousting of its cabinet by President Paul von Hindenburg and Chancellor Franz von Papen. Prussia's appeal will be supported by Bavaria, Baden, and Württemberg.

Guard Hitler; Plot Feared.

WALDENBURG, Germany, July 22.—(AP)—Chancellor Franz von Papen telegrapher the police here today to take special precautions to protect Adolf Hitler, National Socialist leader, because there was a plot against his life. Hitler made a campaign address and police placed a strong guard over him. Waldenburg is strongly communist, so the Nazi leader is not generally popular here.

Indict Police for Murder in 3d Degree Death Case

Mineola, N. Y., July 22.—[Special.]—Several Nassau county policemen must answer before the bar of justice for the third degree death of Hyman Stark, an east side thug, arrested last Friday on suspicion of beating and robbing a detective's mother.

Sealed indictments charging homicide and assault were handed up to County Judge Cortland A. Johnson by the grand jury tonight. The indictments charged policemen and detectives, it was said, with murder in the second degree and second degree assault.

All the policemen are already under bail on warrants issued by Supreme Court Justice Meier Steinbrink, who sat as a committing magistrate at John Doe proceedings after Stark's death. Because of this no bench warrants were issued, but it was stipulated that the indicted men were to surrender and plead on Monday.

Grand Jury Still at Work.

The grand jury which is considering perjury indictments against several of the policemen, has not completed its work. It will reconvene on Tuesday to hear further evidence.

The indictments handed up tonight came after three of Stark's companions, survivors of the third degree which resulted fatally for him, had told their stories. They were Alex Drangel, Alexander Feldman, and Philip Cacala, companions of Stark.

Drangel was the first of the prisoners suspected of beating and robbing Mrs. Valeria Hizenski, mother of Joseph Hizenski, one of the county detectives, to be called before the grand jury.

Prison Officers Exonerated.

Raiford, Fla., July 22.—(AP)—Complete exoneration of Florida prison officials and employés in the recent deaths of two convicts was voted here tonight by the board of state institutions.

The action was taken following a two day hearing conducted by Nathan Mayo, head of the state's prison department, during which approximately 30 convicts were questioned. Today's session was attended by Gov. Doyle E. Carlton.

The two prisoners whose deaths were being investigated were Harold Bradley and Frank Powell.

Bradley, whose home was at Loretta, Pa., was shot and killed by a guard when he and another prisoner attempted to escape from a prison road camp at Indiantown. The board upheld the Martin county grand jury finding and a report by State's Attorney Augus Sumner that Bradley's death was justifiable homicide.

Father Accepts Findings.

Following upon the investigation the board telegraphed W. J. Powell of Miami, father of Powell, that the convict died of natural causes and he replied he accepted the findings "and shall consider the matter closed."

The board did not investigate the "sweat box" death of Arthur Maillefert, young New Jersey convict who was found strangled with a heavy chain about his neck and his feet in wooden stocks at the Sunbeam prison camp near Jacksonville recently.

It held that this case now was in the state courts for disposal. Two camp officers, Capt. George Courson and Guard Solomon Higgenbotham, were indicted for first degree murder in Maillefert's death and are at liberty under $5,000 bond each pending trial next fall.

BOLIVIA URGED TO DECLARE WAR ON PARAGUAY

State of Siege Is Ordered.

BY NORMAN INGREY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VALPARAISO, Chile, July 22.—Private messages received from La Paz, Bolivia, state that the only description possible to apply to the Bolivian bellicose activities is that the country is rushing, not drifting, toward war. Bolivian newspapers today demanded a declaration of war against Paraguay in the struggle for control of the Chaco regions.

It is asserted that officially inspired public opinion now is brimming over and has placed President Daniel Salamanca in a dangerous situation from which it will be difficult to emerge without involving a breach of international peace.

State of Siege Exists.

Following a Bolivian cabinet session President Salamanca has signed decrees establishing a state of siege throughout the country. He justified the act by saying that "complications exist which may compromise the republic in view of armed aggression in the southeast of the republic." The president added that it was urgently necessary to adopt emergency measures to cope with the situation.

Private advices refer to an extraordinary movement among military officials yesterday, but a report that mobilization of troops has been ordered is unsubstantiated. It is pointed out that Bolivians recently have been piling up munitions as fast as possible.

Carry Arms to Frontier.

These arms have been leaving the capital for the interior in long motor convoys over the modern road uniting La Paz with the Gran Chaco frontier. The convoys leave the city in the night to avoid public attention. Travelers arriving from Bolivia declare that the Bolivian road system to the Chaco area is very modern, linking three aviation camps located in the heart of the jungle region with recently reinforced forts.

The completion of the road was expedited by a special law compelling every Bolivian citizen to work two days annually on its construction. Office workers, who were unwilling to "do their time," were forced to supply Indians or other laborers as substitutes.

INSURGENTS KILL THREE BRITONS ON NICARAGUA FARM

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, July 22.—(AP)—Today's newspapers reported that insurgents had killed three British subjects employed on a farm operated by the United Fruit company. They were identified as Clayton Hislop and his two brothers, Albert and William. The charge d'affaires at the British legation denied rumors that the British government was sending a warship.

FRENCH SHOUT "ASSASSINS!" AT ITALIANS; RIOT

Geneva in Uproar; Duce Angry.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, July 22.—While the world disarmament conference was arranging today to close down its long but polite wrangle, real hostilities broke out and raged on the other side of the partition.

The Interparliamentary union was meeting in the council chamber, the holy of holies of the league of nations building, and in the midst of its discussions a French delegate chose to deliver a mortal insult to the Fascist government.

He is Pierre Renaudel, French Socialist, and what he said to climax the row with the Italian delegates was that their government ordered the assassination of his Italian Socialist comrade, Giacomo Matteotti.

There was a tumult, spiced with cries of "assassin" in the halls. People came running. From the disarmament conference there was an exodus.

Italy Threatens to Quit.

Tonight Geneva was aquiver. The Italians are threatening to quit the Interparliamentary union cold in its 28th year. Minister of Air Italo Balbo, chief of the Italian delegation to the disarmament conference, got Mussolini on the phone and was ordered to demand retribution. He saw Sir Eric Drummond, league secretary, and told him that Italy cannot be insulted in the league of nations building of which it shares the upkeep.

Renaudel and his comrades already had decided that the Fascist delegates were using the union to beat the drum of fascism. When the Italian deputy Costamagna, in a speech on codification of international law, boosted Fascist achievements in the field of justice, Renaudel began to roar.

"What right," he cried, "have the Fascists, who don't know what a parliament is, to come here anyway! What right have they to talk about justice! In a country where there is no liberty and no free opinion there can not be any justice."

Italians Demand Apology.

The Italians, furious, clamored for an apology. The meeting was suspended. When the session was resumed Renaudel shouted:

"What right have they got to ask me to apologize to the government that ordered the assassination of Matteotti?"

Everybody jumped up, the Fascists screaming for action and the Socialists raising the cry "Assassins!" There was much pushing and shoving around Renaudel, but nobody was actually hit.

Just before this row, Germany rose in another part of the building and slapped the mark of failure on the disarmament conference. She spoke of her disgust for the closing resolution, so elaborately prepared to show the world a measure of agreement and that she will do better next time, and said that she would vote against it.

Germany said she meant it when she asked for juridical equality in the right to arm, which was denied her in the Versailles treaty. She said, moreover, that she might withdraw from the conference by failing to return unless this principle is granted.

The resolution interring the conference for six months will be voted on tomorrow.

MAY FIND SMITH IN ROOSEVELT'S CORNER AT START

Campaign Opens Aug. 27 at Seagirt.

New York, July 22.—[Special.]—The possibility of inviting former Gov. Alfred E. Smith to speak at Seagirt, N. J., on Aug. 27, when Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic nominee for President, is scheduled to open his campaign at a state-wide ratification meeting, was under consideration today. This was the result of the conference yesterday between Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City and James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee.

MAYOR FRANK HAGUE.

Mr. Hague, who was the Smith floor leader at the Chicago convention, was said to have promised to use his influence with Mr. Smith to get the latter, who so far has expressed merely his intention of supporting the Democratic party, to appear with Governor Roosevelt at Seagirt. It was at a similar rally at Seagirt four years ago that Mr. Smith's presence brought a crowd estimated at more than 100,000.

Will Help Chances.

The mayor is reported to have told Mr. Farley that, while he was confident Gov. Roosevelt would carry New Jersey, a public statement by Mr. Smith urging his friends to support Gov. Roosevelt would make "assurance doubly sure."

A conference with Gov. Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts is also arranged for next week.

Gov. Roosevelt went to Hyde Park, N. Y., tonight in preparation for a discussion of the international situation tomorrow with Owen D. Young.

To Talk with Young.

Mr. Young, looked upon as one of the men in the Democratic party best acquainted with current international problems, both financial and political, will halt at the governor's home on a motor trip.

"Will you take up debt cancellation and German reparations?" Gov. Roosevelt was asked.

The governor, who is already on record as opposed to cancellation, replied:

"Our conference will be on general international relations."

Late tonight Gov. Roosevelt held a long discussion on the problems of the railroads with Carl Gray, president of the Union Pacific system.

"Mr. Gray's visit was similar to those from a number of railroad leaders which I have had in recent months and will continue to have," said Gov. Roosevelt. "I am talking also with business and labor leaders, all with the idea of getting a specific program."

WOODCOCK HOLDS UP OFFICIAL REPORT ON DRY RAID DISORDER

Washington, D. C., July 22.—[Special.]—An official report on the recent dry raid outrages at Alexandria Bay, N. Y., in which two citizens were injured and the entire township terrorized by prohibition agents, was withheld from publication by Federal Prohibition Agent Amos W. W. Woodcock today on the ground that it did not cover adequately certain "details of the case" in which he is particularly interested.

The report arrived at dry headquarters this morning from Andrew McCampbell, New York state prohibition administrator, who was sent to Alexandria Bay by Woodcock to conduct an investigation.

MYSTERY MARKS DEATH OF PISTOL VICTIM IN LAKE

Mystery surrounded the death of a well dressed man whose body was recovered from the water off Calvary beach yesterday in Evanston. He had been shot through the head. A revolver, apparently the one from which the fatal shots were fired, was found in the water near the body. The only clew to the identity of the man was the initials "J. H. B." worked into his shirt. The body had been in the water only a few hours.

Two shots had been fired from the gun. Two more cartridges showed that the hammer had struck them without exploding them. One bullet was found in the skull. The man was 5 feet 8 inches tall, had sandy hair, and wore a gray flannel suit, a blue striped shirt, green tie, and black oxfords.

While they said that it was quite possible that the man had shot himself on the pier and fallen into the water, dropping the revolver as he did so, police had a coroner's inquest continued to July 29 to investigate the possibilities of murder.

Exhibit 1859 Horse Car at Devon Ave. Celebration

A horse car used in 1859 will be on display at Western and Devon avenues today and tomorrow as a part of the celebration of the recent order putting two-men street cars on the Devon line. Ald. James R. Quinn of the 50th ward and George Voss, commissioner of compensation, arranged the exhibit.

WOMAN, 4 OTHERS SENTENCED AS COUNTERFEITERS

May Avery, alias Harper, 26 years old, 4240 Clarendon avenue, was sentenced to five years in the reformatory at Alderson, W. Va., yesterday by Federal Judge John P. Barnes for passing counterfeit $10 bank notes. She was one of five defendants, who were arraigned in four different cases before Judge Barnes on the same charge and given sentences totaling 47½ years.

Miss Avery was arrested July 2 when she attempted to pay for a pair of hose in a Chicago department store with a bogus bill. Federal agents are seeking her alleged accomplice, Richard Adams, who escaped from their Clarendon avenue apartment. Adams and the Avery woman were arrested in 1930 in a New York apartment, where federal agents found 7,000 counterfeit $20 bills. Adams was sentenced to 14 years, but escaped a year later from a prison camp in New Jersey. Miss Avery was not convicted then.

Others sentenced yesterday were August and Alex Maszkowski, brothers, and Eli Yukojvich, 10 years each in Leavenworth; John Ruthven, 5 years, and Dominick La Ricchio, 7½ years.

DEFEND LINCOLN PARK POLICEMAN ACCUSED BY GIRL

Capt. James U. Sammis, commander of the Lincoln park police force, yesterday defended William Gruber, 38 years old, 1212 Otto street, one of the park policeman who is charged with rape. The complainant is Miss Evelyn Nolter, 15 years old, 2823 Warsaw avenue, who claims that the attack took place in an alley last Saturday night.

"This is a plain case of mistaken identity," said Capt. Sammis. "I have seven witnesses to prove that Gruber was on his beat in uniform during the time that this crime was allegedly committed. The girl says that her attacker was not in uniform. Gruber is the father of ten children and has always had a clean record on the force."

The case was continued to July 28 in the Felony court on Thursday. Gruber is free on his own recognizance and continuing his police duties.

BRAZIL'S TROOPS FIGHT REBELS ON 225 MILE FRONT

BUENOS AIRES, July 22.—(AP)—Wounded began arriving in Rio de Janeiro today from a heavy artillery offensive launched by Brazilian federal troops against the Sao Paulo state rebels at strategic points along a 225 mile front near the border line between Sao Paulo and the state of Minas Geraes.

The rebels replied to the gunfire of the loyal forces. The government claimed that Guaxupe, Ourifone and other centers seized by the revolutionaries at the outset of their movement had been regained. The federal forces increased their hospital detachments, indicating that casualties were heavy. A communique from federal headquarters in the field said that near Pouso Alegre the loyal forces had pushed a detachment of about 1,000 rebels fifteen miles to the south.

President Getulio Vargas offered amnesty to all soldiers charged with desertion who joined the federal troops. The federal government extended until Sept. 15 the period of grace for bills payable in foreign currencies. Banks at Sao Paulo, capital of the rebel state, have reopened after being closed for several days. The authorities limited withdrawals by depositors to 20 per cent to avoid possible runs.

SYNOPSIS.

Gold Franklyn calls Dr. Elverton, who has a surgery in a poor district of London, to attend her indolent, dependent young half brother. The doctor offers to give Barney Pierce, a well to do accident victim, a lift to his destination, and Pierce waits while the doctor makes his call. He catches a glimpse of the pretty young creature who summoned the doctor. Both men determine to help the plucky orphan girl. The doctor is to sail the next week to New York and Havana on a leave, taking the ship doctor's place. Mrs. Doris Hathaway, a widow, friend of Pierce's, is to sail on the same boat. She wants a maid-companion for the Atlantic crossing. The doctor sends Gold to see Mrs. Hathaway and she gets the job. Pierce regrets putting Gold under the demoralizing influence of Doris. He decides to sail himself. On the boat Doris meets David Dorrance, who wants to interest Pierce in a business deal. Doris asks Gold to dine with her. They are joined by Pierce and Dorrance. Gold is angered by Pierce's cynicism and distrust of women. Gip Alen, Gold's half brother, stows away on the boat and threatens to disclose his identity unless Gold does as he bids. Pierce, who overhears Gip's threats, unknown to Gold, arranges to get him third class passage on condition he doesn't bother Gold. Dorrance offers Gold a position as his secretary on the Havana trip, which she gladly accepts. Doris invites a good looking youth from steerage to dine with her and give an exhibition tango. The youth is Gip Alen.

SAFETY IN BEAUTY.

Gold did not know what held her in overwhelming possession that night—what mood, what audacity. She felt only that it was a different night, a night of happenings, an occasion, cruel or kind, but still an occasion. Safe with the kind of "safety" only a woman can feel in beauty, in the scarlet velvet gown that had been fitted like a snakeskin to a young duchess slim as herself, with the coat of scarlet velvet clasped over it, she went without Doria to the main lounge where Pierce and Dorrance would be waiting. There they were, two large notable men, though with Barney's personality overtopping, eclipsing the other's. They both looked at her as she moved toward them, Dorrance thinking with comfortable elation: "I can be very satisfied with my luck in this foursome, anyway."

As a matter of fact, he was elated, not only on the score of Gold Franklyn, but because that merger with the Pierce interests was now definitely shaping. This shipboard association had been the best approach towards the tentative feeler which he preferred as tactics to a more formal suggestion broached in office conclaves.

The conclaves would follow. But first he would have a great many private statistics to prepare, and the sunny trip to Havana would be profitably half spent in the work. Looking at Gold, Dorrance thought in tremendous good humor: "Some secretary."

For he did not want to deplete his New York office staff, nor to make, even in the secret precincts of that office, any disclosures yet. This stranger girl suited his book admirably now that the Havana trip was, in his own mind, a certainty for him.

"Mrs. Hathaway," Gold was telling them, "will be late, and she wants us to go in without her."

"Definitely?" said Dorrance with polite concern.

"Yes. She was quite definite."

She looked at Barney Pierce. He raised an eyebrow—a faint cynical smile twitched one corner of his mouth. So Doria was punishing him with a show of displeasure, of indifference to his company?

"Funny girl, Doria is," he said. "I hope she enjoyed the boxing, Dorrance?"

"Well, as a matter of fact, you know, she was bored; she quit, anyway. I'm afraid I stayed; there was a good bout coming on. Er—didn't you find her for tea? I thought you would."

Pierce shook his head; and his eyes met Gold's swiftly. She knew where he had taken tea. A little secret hovered between them. But as if repudiating it she looked away at once.

"A cocktail, Miss Franklyn?" said Dorrance.

"Not this evening, thank you."

"We've already had a couple in the bar," said the fat man comfortably, "so if our lady here scorns me, Pierce, shall we go in to dinner?"

Somehow Pierce was beside her as they left the lounge for the gilded lift, though Dorrance kept close at her shoulder, and his thoughts were lively and approving. "Clever little girl," were his thoughts, "knows it mightn't be quite in order for her to sit having cocktails with us if Mrs. Hathaway wasn't there. Caution—I like it. May be a darned good secretary."

In the lift he glanced sidelong at Pierce. Poker face. The man must be distinctly rattled by Doria's snub, especially in the confused little world of a ship where a charming woman's snubs and favors had a great influence upon masculine enjoyment of life; but he had showed nothing beyond that momentary smile lifting one corner of his mouth. The mouth was straight, long, set as a trap. The light eyes were hard; the face immobile as if cut smoothly from stone. Ugly customer, the world that knew him said of the man. Well, Dorrance considered, perhaps that little lady isn't playing her cards too well after all. Perhaps she's trifling with forces she doesn't know. He may not stand for nonsense.

"I had ordered a really perfect dinner tonight, too," he said regretfully as they were carried down.

"Any woman would all the more enjoy upsetting the arrangements, then," Pierce answered.

"More trouble we take the more they like to fool us, eh?" Dorrance remarked easily.

"Naturally."

Pierce had seemed barely to look at Gold, yet he knew that tonight, under the scarlet coat, she had dressed for triumph. When a woman had that cloaked air of secret delight, he knew, for all the covering; when she carried herself as this girl carried herself, it meant a sense of victory as plainly as if victory had been borne before her blazoned on a banner. It was for Dorrance, of course? And the surge of jealousy which had discomfited and made him contemptuous of himself that afternoon swept him again.

Or probably it was for all men.

Including himself?

Without looking right or left he knew of the heads turning to watch the girl in scarlet as she went up the short, wide, curving stairway to the gallery tables. He heard, without a sign, open exclamations.

Her "simple doom is to be beautiful."

Who had written that of women, or of a woman? Or of a flower? It was true. There was never anything better than just their beauty, if they were lucky enough to have it. Yet dug so deep into his heart that it was as if it lay in a grave of all his fervent, young man expectations, was that unslaked and burning desire to find more.

He forestalled Dorrance and the steward in taking Gold's cloak from her shoulders, draping it effectively over her chair back.

"My order tonight," he said, taking the wine list.

Champagne again, of course. Men tired of the gaudy stuff, but young and pretty women never tired. It seemed to be one of the stupid tributes that one paid unceasingly to them when occasion arose. As he ordered it he recalled—as he had recalled last night—that dinner alone in London; before him, in mists that hardly dissolved for passing diners and attentive waiters, this very girl's face that was clear before him now. Then he had thought: I would like to take her and dress her in beautiful things, find very rare ambrosia and nectar for her to eat and drink. Here he was ordering champagne as Dorrance had ordered it last night.

"You're happy tonight?" he said to her abruptly.

"I'm happy!"

"Of course, she is," said Dorrance, "she is the loveliest woman at present in this restaurant." He had given a smiling glance about them and down the short, wide stairway as if in proof of his declaration.

On the stairway his eyes focused, stayed. Pierce looked down, very still, too. He heard a stifled cry from Gold. And without turning he laid a hand under the table on her two hands gripped together on her knees. Just for that moment it was as if he held her against the world.

"Did you speak?" he said, not looking away from the stairway.

He had her hands tight.

She was already releasing them. "No. I didn't speak."

Doria Hathaway, in her silver gown, blue fox fur framing her red head, ascended, followed by a young man no less than beautiful, in a velvet dinner coat over gray flannel trousers and very flexible feet, that made the women he passed think of dancing, in correct shoes of patent leather. He had tied a flowing bow at the neck of the collar of a soft shirt. Women probably murmured as he went by, "An artist." Men probably answered: "Queer, untidy bloke. Why d'you look at him?"

Baby "Bath Clinics" Show Mothers How to Keep Infant Cool

Some of the subjects gurgled and cooed, and some of them squalled indignantly when Red Cross nurses demonstrated yesterday how to bathe and care for a baby in torrid weather. The "bath clinic" was held at the settlement house at 3055 Normal avenue, operated by the Salvation Army. Nurses in uniform scurried about and mothers looked on with interest as the infants, from five weeks old to three years, underwent their ablutions. The instructions given were designed to keep the babies as comfortable as possible, and with the minimum of care from the mother.

Now Something Is Being Done About Weather

Air Conditioners Banish Heat from Homes.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

CHICAGO has a new crop of pioneers; not the brave stalwarts who cleared forests and raised log cabins a century or so ago, but rather the families who are blazing a trail in keeping their homes at a cool 70 degrees.

Air conditioning is the term applied to this business of making the weather to order. It refers to a year 'round process, but right now in midsummer, when the thermometer is soaring to dizzy heights, it's a particularly refreshing subject. True enough, the large movie palaces, some of the big loop skyscrapers, and even the crack trains have provided this comfort for several seasons, but as far as the home is concerned it's still a novel luxury that never fails to call forth the comment and envy of every guest.

One of the first and finest examples of home air conditioning in this city or the suburbs is to be found in the Lake Forest home of the Cyrus H. McCormicks. It is what is known as a "custom built" plant, since nothing in the way of air conditioning equipment for the home had been marketed prior to a year ago. The story is that Mr. McCormick was so much impressed with the results obtained from such a system in an office building that he set architects and manufacturers to work to produce the same results in his home. And, incidentally, this is a story that might be applied to the master of most any domain that boasts "custom built" equipment.

Another Lake Forest home that is a pleasant warm weather rendezvous is that of Owen Jones on Deerpath road. Both Mr. Jones' weather manufactory and the one Louis Lager is installing in his Joliet residence represent the most recent improvements in household air conditioning, which, most any engineer will tell you, is the fourth development in a series that now includes the automobile, the refrigerator, and the radio.

It was Mark Twain who said, "Everybody talks about the weather, but nobody does anything about it." All right fifty years ago, but he spoke just in time. For even then scientists and engineers were beginning to struggle with the problem of doing something about it. Serious study of the behavior of air led to the discovery of certain basic laws concerning it and resulted in the development of means to control atmospheric conditions inside of buildings. Thus the science of air conditioning was born. Something could be done about the weather!

To talk in simple terms, air conditioning may be defined as taking the three characteristics of air which make outdoor weather—temperature, moisture content, air motion—and adding a fourth, cleanliness; then scientifically combining them to maintain a relationship which will produce indoors the kind of "climate" or atmospheric condition most to be desired.

Though in the summer it would seem to be all a matter of temperature, moisture content or humidity plays a considerable rôle in our health and comfort. While there's apt to be too much moisture right now, many homes, in the winter, have been proved to be drier than the minimum water content of 14 per cent found on the Sahara desert. The reason, incidentally, for many a cold, for floor boards creaking, also for the better complexions of English and Irish women, who live the year around in a pleasantly moist climate.

As for air motion, it is necessary to prevent air pockets, which act as insulators. The need for air cleaning has only to be proved by the fact that a cubic foot of air contains 362,000 particles of dust.

Rebuilding, or at least remodeling, the house used to be one of the prerequisites of this "ideal" atmosphere, but that stage is being rapidly passed, so that now it's little more than a matter of a refrigerating unit below and a cabinet (that might well be mistaken for the family radio) above.

This is the reason we talk about pioneers today. It may not be so many seasons hence that all householders will laugh at summer and its 100 degrees plus!

Chinese Dedicate World Fair Temple with Ancient Rites

The ancient religious rites of the Chinese were called into play yesterday at the dedication of the Golden Pavilion of Jehol on the World's Fair grounds, just west of the Hall of Science. A group of Chinese children scattered rice from the porticos of the temple to drive away "evil spirits."

Exposition officials announced that the pavilion will be completed in two weeks. Consisting of 28,000 pieces of wood, fitted together, the temple will have copper shingles covered with gold leaf. Inside will be Chinese statuary, tapestries, and shrines.

Among those who attended the ceremonies were: Dr. Sven Hedin, Swedish explorer, who brought the temple parts from inner Mongolia; Vincent Bendix, who financed the project; L. R. Lohr, general manager of the exposition; and Koliang Yih, Chinese consul in Chicago. Jennie Yih, the consul's 8 year old daughter, was one of the rice throwers.

Germany Lifts Ban on Open Air Meetings for Saengerbundfest

FRANKFURT-ON-MAIN, Germany, July 22.—(AP)—The old German love of singing intervened tonight to save colorful ceremonies in connection with the eleventh German saengerbundfest, attended by choruses from many parts of the world.

The ban on open air demonstrations decreed by the federal government, to stop political riots, was partly lifted by Baron Wilhelm von Gayl, interior minister, in special consideration for the saengerbundfest.

A number of Chicagoans are participating.

Picking Winners at Arlington

Mrs. Austin H. Niblack, Mrs. Howard Linn, and Mr. Niblack all look as if they had picked winners and were hastening to collect their winnings in this picture taken in the Post and Paddock club at Arlington Park the other day. Mrs. Linn will be leaving for California with Mr. Linn next week for a visit to his sister, Miss Mabel Linn.

Minor Tiffs the Result of Our Jangled Nerves

Overlook as Much as You Can, Says Doris.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

There is a reason, no doubt, for the frequent repetition of reported quarrels going on at the moment between husbands and wives, between engaged pairs and couples who obviously care for each other but quarrel.

The reason is that nerves at the moment are in a rawer state than they've been for some time. The money pressure affects them. Job disappointments jangle them. The general feeling of uncertainty wears nerves down. And human cussedness arranges that all of this be taken out on the person or persons with whom one comes in closest contact.

Now, if folk could only be persuaded that it is a common complaint, a general complaint, in fact; that taut-strung, easily jangled nerves are no isolated disease, they might bear up more wholesomely.

You may think your husband is the world's worst cross, at the moment. He is moody, sensitive, grouchy, sore. His income's cut. Or, he may have none. He's a spiritually sick man and the last thing that is going to put him on the way to recovery is to nag and quarrel.

The boy friend can't take you where he wants to take you. He hasn't the money. He doesn't see any immediate chance of laying hold of any. His pride is hurt. The one thing he wants to do is to expand before you, his girl. Your quarreling may seem to have nothing to do with the economic state of affairs. But it has, in 90 per cent of cases, as they are reported to me today. The man is touchy. You, the girl, may be, too, suffering your own disappointments and enforced economies. You're on edge. Nerves have a way of exploding over trifles distantly remote from the actual cause.

So next time when it begins to look as if there is going to be headon collision, try to look at this thing not from the petty personal angle. Look at the big scene in which we're all playing a nerve-strung part. If something irritating is said—charge it off to the taxes, to the insurance premium that must be met, to the mortgage payment, to anything but an intended personal affront.

Service Tomorrow Will Honor Herzl, Zionist Founder

A service will be held tomorrow night at the United Artists theater, Randolph and Dearborn streets, to commemorate the twenty-eighth anniversary of the death of Theodor Herzl, founder of the Zionist movement.

Rabbi Solomon Goldman will be the chief speaker. Others who will discuss the rebuilding of Palestine as a Jewish national home will be Jacob M. Braude, who will preside; Mrs. Bertha Read, representing the Hadassah organization; Dr. A. E. Abramowitz, Aaron Schechtman, Meyer W. Weisgal, editor of the Herzy memorial book, and Max Shulman, president of the midwest Zionist region.

International Lions Clubs Re-Elect Jones of Chicago

Los Angeles, July 22.—(AP)—Charles H. Hattan of Wichita, Kas., was elected president, and St. Louis was chosen as the 1933 convention city as the International Association of Lions Clubs ended its 1932 conclave today. Melvin Jones of Chicago, founder of the organization, was reelected secretary-treasurer. St. Louis won over Grand Rapids, Mich., by five votes, and Indianapolis ran third.

Paris Couturier Links the Beach with Town Styles

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—There was a time, and not so very long ago, mark you, when there was a plainly defined line between styles and fabrics for different hours and occasions. But with the rest of the world all topsy-turvy, Paris fashions have turned around also. Fabrics that never before saw the light of day are now perfectly in order in sunlight. There are types of frocks that function for many occasions and all at different hours of the day. Almost anything goes these days.

Last week, if you have followed these columns, you saw the bathing suit and evening gown that had many points in common. You see in the sketch today the beach pajama and the town dress that are so closely related they almost seem like twins. Worth is the creator of this original pair.

In the foreground is shown the dress, which is in diagonally striped, printed crêpe de chine—navy stripes on a white ground. It has a surplice closing and sleeves which become full at the elbow, where they are tied in place.

There is a belt made of triple rows of white cord, strung with double rows of red imitation ivory tubes. The skirt is cut on the bias and the stripes meet, making chevrons, at the center front seam.

In the background you see the twin sister of this dress—beach pajamas cut exactly in the same fashion and made of exactly the same material. They are sleeveless and the trousers are rather full. The same corded belt marks the waistline.

Chicago Shows Summer Music Appreciation

Big Audience at Concert in Grant Park.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

What Chicago thinks of music in the summer time was well illustrated last night around the band shell of Grant park, where P. A. Cavallo and his symphonic band gave the program that would have been heard a week before if it had not been for rain. Here was an enormous audience to listen to a briskly played program that would have been good to hear at any season, and especially on a warm night in July.

The music was in good part operatic, drawn from the works that have been most popular on the lyric stage. Wagner's "Tannhæuser" Overture was one; the finale of the third act of Ponchielli's "La Gioconda" was another; a collection of excerpts from Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci" was a third, not to mention the fact that four of the most expert brass players of the band gathered at the front of the stage to play the "Rigoletto" quartet for one of the encores.

Other styles of melody varied the program. The Illinois Central Male chorus directed by Carl Craven, singers who from the start have taken an important place in the Chicagoland Music Festival contests, were the featured artists. They sang two numbers and one encore, which could easily have been stretched into two by vote of the audience. The band at another time played the "Blue Danube" waltz, and both players and conductor have a special gift for making waltz music persuasive.

During the intermission an appeal was made for a public subscription to carry on these concerts throughout the summer and fall. No summary of the amount subscribed could be obtained, but if what was put down upon the subscription cards was in any way comparable to the applause that went up when the announcement was made, the concerts are assured for a considerable time to come.

Society Flyers on 3 Day Lark in 16 Airplanes

New York, July 22.—[Special.]—Society flyers started on a three-day air cruise today. There were 16 planeloads of them when they took off from the waters of Oyster bay and headed for East Hampton, where they were the luncheon guests of Miss A. Willoughby G. Ellis at her summer home. Tonight the sky tourists were the guests of Mrs. Douglas Townson at the Eastward-Ho Yacht club at Chatham, Mass.

This is the second annual New England seaplane cruise of the Aviation Country club of Hicksville, L. I. The society flyers are to travel as far north as Lake Winepesaukee, New Hampshire, before heading back toward this city.

Rounds of entertainment have been arranged for the air tourists. Headed by Charles Lanier Lawrence, who was the commodore of last year's successful cruise, the non-professional flying group climbed into their planes at the dock of the Seawanhaka Yacht club at Central slip shortly before noon, and a few minutes later the man made ducks were in the waters of East Hampton.

Besides Miss Ellis, who joined the cruise at East Hampton, flying her own plane, the women pilots include Mrs. A. Felix Du Pont Jr., the former Eleanor Hoyt, who probably will take her turn at the controls of the plane, her father, Richard F. Hoyt, is using for the cruise.

SOMETHING OUGHT TO BE DONE ABOUT THIS

New Costume Jewelry Comes in Pastel Tones

Provides Contrast for Fall or Summer Frocks.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Here are a few timely suggestions on how to spend your money for summer trifles that coolly contrast with your various frocks and gowns. Pastel-tinted costume jewelry comes first because of all the new, delectably frosty tones that you will find, bracelets of minty green, pale lavender pinks, refreshingly perfect blues, and yellows as crisp as crushed ice. Then there are charming combinations of three narrow armlets or six very narrow bands or two wide affairs, each colored in a different pastel shade.

You can do your own assembling or buy some one else's collections. Black and white get-togethers are classic because you can wear them as contrast with practically every frock in your wardrobe. If you really want to clank as you shop, you'll fall for the metal bracelets of chromium and simulated silver and gold metals. Bronze bracelets are going to be tremendously smart with the new brown clothes that French designers are featuring for fall.

Ingenious new costume necklaces combine sleek glittering chromium with colored wooden beads, such as lapis lazuli beads with chromium, coral tinted beads, and cinnamon brown beads also effectively combined with this shiny new metal. Ear-rings to match are also supplied. These new ideas can be worn with your summer clothes as well as the colorful new wools for fall, so you are scooping all the out-of-town vacationers by selecting yours now.

Most of the newest clips are extremely patriotic. Chevron stripes of wood in good looking tricolors enliven white ensembles and if you want other color combinations, such as yellow, green and brown, blue, red and green, or three shades of one color, you can easily find them. And while dog clips are not new, the designers have some new breeds of dogs that they liked well enough to send them for all dog lovers, dressed up in tiny French brilliants. Your airedale, droll little scotties, a bull terrier, and even a great dane have been copied with these brilliants to make quite the doggiest kind of clips you have ever snapped on your hats or necklines.

And while there is little doubt but what all of us have spent some of our clothes allowance for intriguing little bargains that we either could have lived very nicely without or regretted, there will be no regrets if you collect some extraordinarily fine bargains in antique jewelry that you will see in some of the shops.

For now is the time to buy authentic antiques at revolutionary prices and never be sorry. One superb necklace is fashioned of natural colored rose quartz, each lovely bead exquisitely carved, with a round black enamel disc at the end decorated with a finely carved turquoise rose. Another beaten gold necklace is set with glowing Siberian amethysts.

A large and glamorous gold bracelet that might have graced the wrist of any queen is intricately carved and set with one huge but perfect topaz. Uncut and unpolished pieces of natural turquoise are hung, a bit barbarically, to make a most unusual necklace that would be heavenly blue and perfect as the contrast for a sophisticated black velvet gown.

Matching ear-rings complete this set. The prices of rings in this collection also have been remarked. Many of the rings are distinctively large and unusual, each gem matchlessly set against gold or silver with simple contrasts of fine engravings or the more elaborate effects of tiny seed pearl outlines.

BY MAE TINEE.

Good Morning!

Well, welcome back, George Bancroft! And are we glad to see you draw a good picture again!

"Lady and Gent" presents this popular he-man of the talkies in a tale that's tough and tender. In other words, one that gives him opportunity to be himself as we have known and best liked him.

The "gent" of this scenario is a "pug" who has seen better days. The "lady" is his sweetie—a night club hostess till the joint she engineers goes the way of others whose owners have refused to buy beer where ordered.

Slag Bailey and Puff Rogers, through a strange chain of circumstances, find themselves in a neat suburban bungalow, greeted as Mr. and Mrs. Bailey by the neighbors, and amazedly acting as foster parents to the little son of Slag's deceased one time manager.

Slag, out of the fight game for good, gets a job in the steel mills and takes to the simple life like a honey bear to honey. But Puff is different. She is not the sort to let anybody down, least of all her man, but she battles every inch of the new way until—well, that's quite a story, too!

You'll probably say that the yarn is an improbable one, and I'll grant you that—reminding you in the same breath that truth has been proven stranger than fiction by some of our best people.

Possible improbability aside, "Lady and Gent" is crammed with good acting and situations that can't fail to interest you. The dialogue has tang—especially lines as rendered by Wynne Gibson, that all around smart actress, who did such a beautifully pathetic job in "The Strange Case of Clara Deane." I'm told she's in great demand by all the studios—which is as it should be.

The film has been skillfully directed, and the photography, I thought, was extra fine. You will notice that interiors have been taken at a new and effective angle.

Society Welcomes News of Four-Day Exhibition.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE best news anybody has heard in a long time comes from Fort Sheridan: There WILL be a horse show at the fort—a grand equestrian exhibition on Sept. 16, 17, and 18. The fact that the annual Lake Forest horse show was canceled this year was a great blow to all the horse lovers of the north shore and there has been some fear that the army show would be omitted also this season.

Plans for the Fort Sheridan program are just getting under way now and announcements of classes and entries won't be ready for a week or so. There is no doubt, however, that it will be a splendid show, probably bigger and better than the fine displays that society has been seeing at the fort in recent years.

Onwentsia and Fort Sheridan Polo Teams Meet Tomorrow.

Tomorrow afternoon there will be another big attraction at Fort Sheridan which will draw fashionable crowds from all the north and northwestern suburbs. The Onwentsia and Fort Sheridan polo teams will meet in the third of a series of games at 3:30 o'clock on the fort polo field. It will be one of the highest goal games of the season, with the Fort Sheridan team carrying 13 goals and Onwentsia 14. In addition the Highland Park American Legion drum and bugle corps will be on hand to enliven the proceedings. Charles F. Glore will lead the Onwentsia men and Capt. C. A. Wilkinson will head the army players.

The long list of box holders includes Maj. Gen. Frank S. Parker, Brig. Gen. F. C. Bowles, Maj. F. A. Sloan, Miss Edith Behr, Joseph C. Belden Jr., Mrs. Benjamin Carpenter, Mrs. William E. Casselberry, Ira J. Couch, Mr. and Mrs. C. Colton Daughaday, Albert B. Dick Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Donnelley, the Stanley Fields, Mrs. Carter H. Fitzhugh, Mrs. James A. Patten, Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, Wayne Chatfield Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Poor, Gen. Robert E. Wood, Gen. John J. Garrity, Albert D. Lasker, Cyrus Hall McCormick, Joseph T. Ryerson, Gustavus F. Swift, John T. Pirie, Col. William Nelson Pelouze, Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe, Alden B. Swift, Otto W. Lehmann, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Haffner Jr., Norman W. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence B. Robbins, Mrs. Charles F. Glore, Alfred H. Granger, Col. Noble B. Judah, Irving Florsheim, and William B. McIlvaine.

"Open Gardens" Replaces Libertyville Flower Show.

In place of a flower show, Libertyville is to have "open gardens" today. From 1 until 5 o'clock this afternoon visitors will be admitted to the Joseph M. Patterson, Benjamin H. Miller, William Bartholomay Jr., A. H. Hedley, and Doby estates. All of these residences have beautiful gardens and visitors probably will see as great a variety of horticultural glories on the grounds as they would at the average flower show.

Society undoubtedly will flock to Arlington Park today, next to the last Saturday of the season there, and there are numerous luncheon reservations at the Post and Paddock club. Some of those who will lunch at the club are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Field, Mr. and Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, Mr. and Mrs. Roy D. Keehn, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Honore Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Britton I. Budd, Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Lobdell, Mr. and Mrs. John Hertz, Mr. and Mrs. Laurance H. Armour, Mr. and Mrs. A. Watson Armour, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Lehmann, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wright, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. McCulloch.

Alfred McCormacks Going to Oconomowoc for Visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred McCormack [Winifred Smith], who are in Lake Forest for a 10 day visit with Mrs. McCormack's father, Walter Byron Smith, are going to Oconomowoc today to spend the week-end with the Stanley Zarings in the large old house where the Zarings spend the summers with Mrs. Zaring's father, George W. Dixon. The former "Winnie" Smith and Marion Dixon Zaring have been close friends since childhood. They went to school together, made their debuts in the same season and served in each other's wedding parties, and Mrs. Zaring always entertains for Mrs. McCormack when she comes home from New York for a visit. The Owen A. Wests will also be guests of Mrs. Zaring this week-end.

The committee in charge of the performances to be given next Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons at the outdoor theater on Mrs. Howard Shaw's estate in Lake Forest, asks us to remind those who are planning to go that in case of rain the performances will be given at the Lake Forest Country Day school. Tickets are on sale at 40 East Oak street or at the gate of Mrs. Shaw's residence, 1230 North Green Bay road. The performances will start at 3 o'clock and the proceeds will go to the Druce Lake Camp where poor city children are given vacations.

Up at Lake Geneva this week-end the women are having to take a back seat, for the men are having their invitation golf tournament at the Lake Geneva Country club and none of the festivities were planned to include the wives of the summer colonly except the dinner dance tonight.

After the golf matches yesterday the hosts and their guests had a stag dinner at the club and today there will be the usual "beer" luncheon and tomorrow the presentation of the cups. Henry P. Isham's guests are Kent Chandler, John H. McIlvaine, and Daniel R. Winter; Henry Bartholomay has William Bartholomay and Herbert A. Lundahl among his guests, and his son, Henry C. Bartholomay, is host to Hamilton Vose, Harlan B. Eldred, and H. G. Stratton. Joseph C. Belden Jr. is visiting the Madlener twins, Otto and William, and "Tony"

Another question box today. Do feel free to write us about anything at all that bothers you in the foods and cooking line. Perhaps we can't answer it—but we will try.

From R. N. comes a request just a day too late to be answered in our talk on gooseberry preserves and jams. She would like a recipe for a "gooseberry jam made from gooseberries just turning ripe. The recipe made from honey instead of sugar and cooked in the sun." May I suggest the following?

SUN BAKED GOOSEBERRY JAM.

Wash and stem nearly-ripe gooseberries and crush thoroughly. Take an equal weight of strained honey and heat carefully. When hot, simmer five minutes, then pour over crushed berries in shallow trays. Cover with panes of glass and let stand in the sun for three or four days or until thickened to the desired consistency. Bring in at night. If the sun fails to shine, keep the preserves in a cool oven. Pack in sterilized jars and seal.

Jellies and jams seem to have the floor today. Mrs. D. F. is next with three questions which puzzle her. Perhaps these answers will give all of you some tips.

Question 1: "If I want a very soft jam, what proportions should I use?"

Answer: Don't attempt to alter your proportions. When you wish a jam of softer consistency than the recipe gives, mash with a silver fork before serving. Sugar cookery is temperamental and an altered recipe may give you soup instead of jam.

Question 2: "What is one to do about floating fruit in conserves and jams?"

Answer: Use fully ripe fruit, crush it thoroughly, and boil vigorously for the length of time indicated in the recipe. This requires a large kettle.

Question 3: "I have had trouble with jellies souring. Why is this?"

Answer: The growth of yeast and mold is the cause of this souring. Check up on these points: Count the time of cooking from the minute the jelly reaches a full boil; thoroughly sterilize glasses and covers and keep covered until just ready to use; seal immediately upon pouring with hot paraffin, tipping the glass slightly to insure a wider seal; use only clean paraffin—used paraffin may have colwith covers on, in a cool, dry place.

An interesting question has come from K. de H., who says: "Can you tell me what sometimes makes a burnt sugar fudge turn into a tough, sticky sort of taffy? With exactly the same recipe I have had it turn out fine one day, and sticky the next. What causes this?"

While this reader believes she is carrying out the recipe exactly the same each time, the result indicates that there has been some variation in method or proportions. The change is due to the fact that instead of making a crystalline candy, as was intended, the reader has made a noncrystalline product—that is, one in which the sugar has practically all been changed from crystals to a melted form. This may be caused by too high a proportion of fat which prevents crystallization and often is inaccurately measured. Or more likely it has been caused by overheating of the sugar during melting. If the sugar is heated above the melting point, brownish substances called caramel are formed which will change the whole texture of the candy. Crystals are formed in fudge by stirring. It is possible, therefore, that the "taffy-like batches" were not stirred sufficiently during cooking and after cooling to insure this crystallization. The following recipe for burnt sugar fudge will perhaps be more uniformly successful.

BURNT SUGAR FUDGE.

1 teaspoon vanilla.

Heat one-half cup of sugar over a low fire, stirring constantly until it just melts. Add the milk gradually, then stir in the remaining sugar and butter. Raise the heat slightly and cook to the soft ball stage [234 degress F.], stirring frequently. Place the sauce pan in a pan of cold water and cool without stirring until room temperature. Beat until thick and dull on the surface. Stir in nuts and vanilla and turn into a buttered pan.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

In Need of Clothing.

"I am a young girl suffering from a weak heart. The doctor has advised me to leave the city and now I have an opportunity of going to the country with friends, but I have no decent clothing to wear. Do you think you could get me some sports clothes and a bathing suit, size 18? I could make over anything that does not fit. "M. M."

A few weeks in the country will probably speed this young woman's recovery. Will you help to make her trip there more pleasant by donating any suitable clothing in her size which you may have to give?

WOMAN'S AND MISS' BLOUSE.

This little blouse is just the thing for summer days, and it is so fresh and dainty looking, with its quaint puffed sleeves and ruffled collar. Pin dots in a dusty pink shade on a white ground in tub silk was used for the original blouse. Organdie, batiste, and similar materials are also suitable.

The pattern, 2912, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measure. Size 16 requires 1⅝ yards of 39 inch material with 2½ yards of 2 inch wide ruffling.

Cold Water Plunge, Dusting Powder Help Hot, Tired Feet

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A male contributor to one of our metropolitan dailies says that every thinking woman should pay more attention to her feet than to any other part of her body. The best looking feet in the world, he claims, are nothing to write home about. They've never driven poets to verse. Tin-pan or any other song alley can think up raves about eyes and dimpled cheeks and pearly teeth and swan necks and ruby lips, etcetera. On feet, they're silent. There appears to be neither rhyme, adjective nor inspiration for milady's tootsies. Yet the learned gentleman agrees they're useful things to have around, just the same.

Useful, says you, who'd give worlds to be able to get through a summer without knowing you had a pair! That's the trouble with them!

There are people who never know foot peace during the whole hot weather season. Feet are hot, swollen, painful. Shoes, a torture chamber. The blame is too often centered on the shoes. Relief when you discard them at night reassures you that it must be the shoes. It may be, in part. It may be the feet themselves.

A distinguished London orthopedic surgeon in a recent lecture before the Royal Society of Medicine issued the statement that high heels are not harmful; that they do not twist the spine nor sprain the ankle; that a heel about two inches high is better for city pavement wear than flat heeled shoes. He advised that if you have trouble with your feet blame it on the feet—not on the two inch heel.

The condition of hyperidrosis [excessive sweating] is often the reason. This causes a maceration of the skin of the foot and makes it a favorite place for athlete's foot, ringworm, and other infections. The cause of excessive sweating is not determined yet. It is spoken of as due to circulatory changes.

Treatment can be administered, however. And cold water—not hot—is the best remedy. The feet should be bathed and washed, not soaked, in cold water twice a day. After that they should be swabbed with an astringent lotion such as is found in three per cent salicylic acid and methyl alcohol. The constant use of a good dusting powder is urged. When walking around and before retiring try a good dusting powder.

Pick Winners for Party at World's Fair

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

The winners of invitations to the Century of Progress Exposition party next Thursday, July 28, have been selected and their names will appear in tomorrow's SUNDAY TRIBUNE. We're going to have a grand time there and I am convinced more and more of it as additional news of the attractions at the World's Fair comes to me.

There is such a variety of things to do! Those thrilling rides—a whole amusement park in itself. The interesting buildings where one can literally relive the history of the city—Fort Dearborn, where sturdy pioneers founded a great city against the most baffling odds. The group of Lincoln buildings whose structures tell a chronological story of the life of Abraham Lincoln.

Then there's the Florida Alligator farm where interest, excitement and fun fairly abound. Here the scenery alone will be a treat, for there's a background of tropical shrubs and trees, flowering plants which have been imported from the south, and the result is an exact replica of the Everglades. Monstrous alligators of every age and size live there in huge tanks. A broad archery range where one may test his skill with the bow and arrow and a high diving act number the attractions in this picturesque spot.

With all this to look forward to, won't you be thrilled to find your name in that list of winners tomorrow? But just in case you don't, I don't want you to feel discouraged, because there'll be news of another marvelous party, too, and you can try again for that.

Coldwater, Mich., July 22.—[Special.]—Isaac Lawrence, 90, a native of Coldwater, said to be a resident of Chicago, the last surviving member of Loomis battery, an artillery unit of Civil war fame, was married at Windsor, Ont., today to Mrs. Minnie Vincent, 70, of Fenton, Mich. The groom, following the ceremony, slid behind the wheel of his car and said he would drive his bride to Toronto, where they will spend their honeymoon.

Sheik Hadj Sails for Morocco; Will Return for Fair in Chicago

New York, July 22.—(AP)—The Sheik Hadj Ahmed Ben Abdi of Rabat, Morocco, sailed for his native land abroad the liner Paris tonight, after making a survey preliminary to the erection of a model Moroccan city for the French exposition at the coming Chicago World's Fair.

The sheik, who is director of beaux arts in Morocco for the French government, spent two weeks in Chicago. He said he would return in about five months with 75 natives who will construct the city and remain to show Americans their arts and crafts.

Chief attention will be paid to the weaving of rag rugs, for which the Moroccans are noted. They will also do leather work, make slippers, and execute brass plate.

The city will include a minaret and the natives will observe all the Moslem laws. To this end they will prepare their own food.

Young Children Will Enjoy This Music Group

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Can your young children listen to music? I don't mean listen to just any old thing at any time to the accompaniment of play or conversation. I mean really listen, sitting or lying down quietly, to something that is good music, but music they are able to follow because it is entertaining and simple enough for their age.

Music for little children is an all the year round pleasure, but it may fill a special place in summer. On hot days when the children need their rest but often don't relax to it, listening to music is a help. But frequently the mother who would like to use it or to cultivate an appreciation of it is at a loss as to what music is suitable. So I am giving today a list of compositions for listening:

1. Elfin Dance .....Grieg
2. Waltz, Opus 39, No. 15.....Brahms
3. Barcarolle .....Offenbach
4. Papillon .....Grieg
5. On Wings of Sonks.....Schubert

Miss Jeannette Peterkin is having a party of young friends at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Peterkin, at Lake Geneva this week-end. Among the six guests are Miss Lillian Dudley and Philip Elting.

Mrs. Simeon B. Chapin left Lake Geneva yesterday for New York to visit her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Drake. Mr. and Mrs. Simeon B. Chapin Jr. [Elsa Bartholomay] will come about the first of next month from their home in Greenwich, Conn., to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bartholomay, at Black Point on the lake.

Howard Linns Going to California for Visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Linn will leave their charming house on the Shoreacres grounds the middle of next week for a three weeks' visit to Mr. Linn's sister, Miss Mabel Linn, at Bel-Air, Cal.

Mrs. George R. Nichols, whose sons are trying camp life this summer instead of their customary sojourn at the family place at Watch Hill, R. I., was to sail last night for Europe with Mrs. Eugene V. R. Thayer. Mr. Thayer went east to see his wife off.

Mrs. Fortunato Jerace [the former Mrs. Eugene McVoy] is expected to arrive from Rome about Aug. 10. Her young son, Eugene, will be with her, and they'll probably spend several weeks at the family summer place at Pentwater, Mich., with Mrs. McVoy Holden, Miss Dorothy Jean McVoy, and Mrs. Sidney Gorham Jr., who is staying in town this season, but makes week-end trips to Pentwater.

Mrs. Cochran Motoring to Mackinac for 10 Days.

Mrs. John L. Cochran and Mrs. Paget Cady are motoring to Mackinac for a 10 day stay at the Cochrans' summer estate. On the way up they'll stop at Charlevoix to visit Miss Peggy Hambleton.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Dunham have left for a European holiday. They will return in early October.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore T. Weldon of Evanston are being congratulated on the birth of a son at the Evanston hospital last Tuesday. This is the first son—there are two little daughters in the family—and he is to be named Theodore Tefft Weldon Jr.

Governor Approves State's Plans to Restore Old Salem

Springfield, Ill., July 22.—(AP)—Gov. L. L. Emmerson today approved plans that eventually will wrest from the past a faithful reproduction of Old Salem, the village in which Abraham Lincoln lived from 1831 to 1837.

Reconstruction of the shops, cabins, and stores as the Emancipator knew them will be well under way this season and will round out a four year program of Lincoln shrine preservation undertaken by the governor in 1929.

Among the first to be reconstructed are Rutledge inn, the Lincoln-Berry store, Clarey's grocery, Offutt's, Herndon's, the Chrissman Brothers' establishment, and the Trent Brothers' store.

The Old Salem league, from which the state acquired the park, will furnish the buildings in a style contemporary with the civil war President. Old Springfield road will be restored to its appearance of the days Lincoln traversed it.

The construction plans were made possible by a $50,000 appropriation of the 57th general assembly.

Russian Star Host to German Olympic Team

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

Hollywood, Cal., July 22.—[Special.]—Anna Stem, Sam Goldwyn's Russian leading woman, found herself almost the only Hollywood actress without a date to play hostess to a foreign Olympic team because there is no soviet team coming for the games here next week. So Anna was assigned by Mr. Goldwyn to play hostess to the German team. "She speaks German," Mr. Goldwyn explained.

George Bancroft's tenure as the big he man of the Paramount lot ended with the expiration of his contract last month and Bancroft is to make his future films for Edward Small, head of the Independent studio known as Reliance Pictures, Inc. The new contract practically makes Bancroft dictator of his own film destiny, as he held out for the right to pass on who gets into his cast, kind of story, and even kind of costumes to be worn.

It may not strike Rouben Mamoulian, the Paramount director, as a joke, but everybody else is laughing because he offered to give a screen test to the good looking brunette girl whom Alexander Kirkland, new Fox leading man, took to the local opening of "Strange Interlude." The brunette girl talked with the most attractive southern accent when Kirkland introduced her as "Miss Archer." Mamoulian telephoned Kirkland the next day to inquire Miss Archer's address for a screen test, and learned that Miss Archer was Ann Harding, incognito in a black wig, for a joke.

Remember when John Barrymore was courting Dolores Costello? Well, Ethel Barrymore's son, John Barrymore Colt, was out dancing with Helene Costello, Dolores' sister, the other night.

David Graham Fischer, director who bossed Norma Talmadge in "Song of Love," Otis Skinner in "Kismet" and other films of the silent days, is now a book publisher in Hollywood.

Gifts to Free Ice Fund Soar with Mercury

There was a soaring thermometer outside yesterday. There was sunshine that bored deeply into paved streets and brick walls, until the atmosphere above them sizzled with the reflected heat waves. There was desperate need for ice—free ice—in those arid stretches of Chicago removed from the lake, where the families of unemployed men huddled in stifling, darkened rooms as a refuge from the onslaught of the sun.

But it wasn't all privation and discouragement yesterday. For the letters that poured into THE TRIBUNE office with gifts to help alleviate the suffering from lack of ice this summer contained as heartening messages as are on record anywhere, and broke all records for the season, totaling $197.50.

Jay followed in the wake of these showers of donations, big and small, proving the sympathy of dozens of Chicagoans for their less privileged neighbors, especially and particularly the helpless babies whose need is for milk, and sweet milk at that. Only ice can protect their milk from spoiling.

"A mother" wrote that she was sending a second gift of $2, "realizing how much need there must be this awful weather to have ice for the children's milk." M. F. M. wrote, "I have never realized how far $1 could go in bringing relief to babies. I hope mine will help the poor little things during this weather."

"Just a mite from a widow," ran another. "So sorry I cannot send ten times the amount to help the babies who so badly need ice. M. A." And a young woman wrote, "My sister and I feel that our money—what little we have to give—could be used for no better purpose."

H. C., who sent the largest contribution of the day—$45—apologized, "I am very sorry I have not been able to send the enclosed contribution sooner, when free ice was needed so greatly. I know that contributions to THE TRIBUNE'S free ice fund are needed at any time during the summer, so am sending the enclosed check now."

Reckoned at seven and a half cents per day for ice for one family, yesterday's report means unutterable relief for hundreds of needy mothers and babies. Gifts were:

Hergesheimer's 'Berlin' Fails to Be Convincing

Book Indicates Author Isn't Born Traveler.

BY FANNY BUTCHER

"Berlin," by Joseph Hergesheimer. [Knopf.] Published yesterday.

If it is true that poets are born and not made, quite as true is it that travelers are likewise congenital. Travelers, that is, who are not constantly comparing their discomforts with the super-chromium charms of their own native bathrooms and the ruins of ancient days with the highly polished plate glass of the First National bank of Prairie Hole. There are born travelers and those who think their social position demands that they travel. Much as I dislike having to say so, I fear that Mr. Joseph Hergesheimer is not a born traveler. When he wrote about Havana in "The Bright Shawl" we thought he might be. "Quiet Cities" led us astray also on that subject, for it sounded as if its author "got the feel" of what he was visiting. But "The Bright Shawl" was pure fiction with the background merely sketched in to throw the foreground into sharper relief, and "Quiet Cities" was, after all, merely an investigation of the deeper reaches of the author's own roots.

JOSEPH HERGESHEIMER.

In "Berlin" he has gone farther afield in his picturing of other places. In 251 pages he makes two trips to Berlin and spends a couple of weeks or so each in Munich, Vienna, the Bavarian Oberland, and Budapest. In some places he found a spiritual peace and the kind of oneness with older civilizations that does come to even the most disappointed travelers. But mostly he was in the mood of one of his paragraphs: "I was overcome . . . with the folly of foreign travel at my age. In Pennsylvania I was part of an existence that suited me exactly: the countryside in Chester county was inimitably beautiful; its customs and people were familiar to me. The long voyage across the ocean, the strange trains and languages, the constant change from country to country, from hotel to hotel were more exhausting than eventually valuable. It was better to read about foreign places in books. Some one soon would have written about a new Berlin; even the beer of Munich could not overcome the gloominess of that city; the Bavarian highland had been pleasant, but not pleasant enough to repay the difficulty of reaching it; and now, in Budapest, when I hod gone to Sporlarich to hear gypsy music, the orchestra had played—of all songs in the world—"Donne è Mobile." It was not necessary to travel the far way from Pennsylvania to Hungary to learn that donne were mobile.

Even though written partly in jest and because there are moments in every traveler's life when home seems best, that paragraph is so much the whole tenor of Mr. Hergesheimer's book that one wonders why he ever took the trouble to write the book at all. Probably because "Quiet Cities" was a success he was persuaded to try the same technique with quiet—or unquiet—ones of another land. Well, it was a definitely unsuccessful trial, and "Berlin" is definitely not among the masterpieces either of travel literature or the works of Joseph Hergesheimer.

"Berlin" is far less interesting than most of the letters good letter writers write home about their travels, and, so far as that goes, it tells less. Mr. Hergesheimer has been in his day one of the great American novelists. One might at least have expected from his pen a novelist's observations of life. One might have hoped, and not unjustly, for the human picture of a country which is as much in the public eye for its human problems as any on the earth today.

I do not mean that we might have expected great economic and social strictures about Germany from Joseph Hergesheimer, but we had every reason to believe that he would see, if he saw anything at all, the interrelationships of mankind as a novelist is trained to see them.

He saw that there was a vigorous youth in Berlin; that old and young shed their clothes, or as much of them as possible, upon every known occasion; that Germany had perhaps won the victory of 1918 instead of lost it; that Munich which was a dead, if not buried, city; that "the spirit of Vienna was more subdued, wearier, than I liked"; that Budapest did not produce its advertised gypsy orchestras.

In fact, he wrote his own critical story in this paragraph: "In addition, a rather ludicrous truth became evident; I did not like, I did not completely trust, foreigners, women or men. I always discovered something slightly absurd about them; their languages suspiciously resembled dishonest nonsense. I was, it turned out, thorbughly provincial, local."

George Blake Returns to Job as Journalist

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

MR. GEORGE BLAKE, whose novels, "Mince Collop Close" and "The Path of Glory," made his reputation with readers who appreciate sincerity, came from Glasgow to London as a journalist. He was for a time editor of the popular literary journal, John o' London's Weekly, and the monthly magazine, The Strand, and then joined the publishing firm of Faber & Faber, who have published many good and interesting books—including, this season, Mr. Chesterton's "Chaucer" and Miss Sitwell's "Bath"—as a partner. But Mr. Blake is by temperament a writer, and he is by birth a Scotsman. Therefore I learn with pleasure that he has returned to his first love, and has accepted an editorial appointment on the Glasgow Evening News. This was the paper to which Neil Munro contributed and on which Mr. Blake served his apprenticeship.

G. B. STERN.

Two novels seem to be making much talk in London literary circles just now. One of them is G. B. Stern's "Little Red Horses," which is apparently being published in America under another title*, and the other is Miss Margaret Irwin's "Royal Flush." Mr. James Laver's novel, "Nymph Errant," will be the highbrow novel of the summer season.

A first novel which will find in London a large and curious public is the work of the Rev. J. C. Hardwick. It is called "A Professional Christian," and judging by the author's other work it will be a strong and exceedingly honest study of religious problems in the guise of fiction. Mr. Hardwick belongs to the Church of England and is a hard hitter. He is also a very good and clear writer on all humane subjects, punctiliously conscientious himself, but charitable to those who are less conscientious. I have not read his book, but it will be worth reading by those whose interest in Christianity extends to novels dealing with its problems.

Mr. Wareham Smith's autobiography, "Split Ink," now published in London, promises to be one of the sensational features of the hour—in Fleet street. For Mr. Smith is a journalist who has been long behind the scenes. He describes in his book "how the head porter became manager of the London Daily Mail overnight," and has other tales not less astonishing.

Charles Ricketts, the celebrated artist and stage designer, who died last year, had completed a series of recollections of Oscar Wilde, and the book is to be published in a limited edition here. Ricketts was a man of extraordinary talent and considerable wit. He had lived through that period, the nineties of the last century, with intimate knowledge of all that was going on in the world of art. Not many men who knew as much as he about art and artists could write; but Ricketts, besides being a brilliant colorist, was an extremely vivid writer and a man of humor. This book, however slight, should be valuable in its material and curious and fascinating in its manner.

Rasmussen Interprets Old Lore of Eskimo Folk.

YOUNG readers who, having left the fairy tale age behind them, still have a longing for the magic and fantasy which can only be found in the lives of primitive peoples, and who are not afraid of the unpleasant and supernatural which marks most authentic folklore, have a real treat in store for them in Knud Rasmussen's "The Eagle's Gift," an excellent collection of Eskimo folk tales.

The tales were collected by the author on a trip through Alaska some ten years ago, and in his preface he tells us how he secured them. As we read them we can readily imagine that we are sitting with him in the low houses in the heart of a great snowdrift, listening to the old men and women tell those stories which have come down through generations of their people.

They are real folklore and, like all real folklore, they carry us into the heart and spirit of the times and peoples whence they sprang. The stories were taken down at the story tellers' dictation, and very successful has the translater been in her rendering of them, for instinctively we feel the beauty, strength, and strangeness of these age old tales and of the symbolism which they present.

The author has ascribed the stories to the individual story tellers and in many cases indicated the districts from which they come. Excellent illustrations by Ernst Hansen, himself a student of Eskimo life, add to the interpretation of the stories. The book is from every point of view one of the most valuable and significant contributions to our collection of folklore which has appeared in some time, and should be noted by all interested in the development of a folklore collection in school, library or home.

The two other books on our list today are stories of lands which will carry young readers far from familiar sights and scenes. "Magic Portholes" by Helen Follett is a fascinating true story of a mother and daughter who, answering the call of the sea, gathered up their limited means and set out for the South Sea islands for a year of roaming.

The voyage is an adventure throughout, and our travelers find themselves sailing on tramp steamers, cargo boats and liners, and viewing many strange sights and peoples in the South seas before they start homeward. Barbara, the young adventurer of the story, who has a passion for schooners and all things nautical, will be recognized by readers who enjoyed "The Voyage of the Norman D." as its young author, Barbara Follett.

"Two Children of Tyre," by Louise Andrews Kent tells of David, a lad of Tyre, who three thousand years before Barbara's time had his great adventures when he sailed for the first time with his father's great trading fleet into the Sea of Darkness, and of Esther, his sister, who remained behind. It offers excellent material on customs and industries of the period, as well as being a fine story.

Leisure—What to Do with It? Discussed in Book

With the strange title "Spectatoritis" [Sears] Jay B. Nash discusses what to do, and do constructively, with leisure. He defines the title as representing ". . . the spectator who is satisfied as he shrivels up on the grand stand, or before the radio, snug in his belief that everything can be bought and that nothing is worth while unless it costs money. . . ." This disease comes from watching others do things while you sit idle and the author has no use for it.

Reception Tonight

CHICAGO boxing fans who care to meet the eight amateur champions of Germany are invited to attend an informal reception at the Germania club, 108 Germania place, tonight. Everybody is invited. There will be no admission charge. The reception, which starts at 8 o'clock, will be held in the ballroom. After a few brief talks there will be dancing until midnight. The club is located a block south of North avenue at Clark street.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

By the application of my simple, expense-account arithmetic, I have made the interesting discovery that the price of fist fights having that expensive international flavor which Tex Rickard used to exploit in his big promotions, has dropped to a new all-time low.

In the case of the International Golden Gloves fights between the Germans and the Chicago team at Soldiers' field next Tuesday evening, the entertainment will retail to the customers at the modest price of about 3½ cents per struggle or a little more than one cent per customer round. There will be fourteen struggles, including the preliminaries, and the championship bouts all will have that expensive international flavor which Fainting Philip Scott, Georges Carpentier and Max Schmeling imparted to their celebrated cuddles produced under the auspices of the Garden corporation. The aroma, however, will not be the same.

The Old Order Changeth.

Two years ago, as the honest gamblers were packing their tools in New York preparing for the exodus to Florida, I predicted more in sorrow than in glee, that the time would soon come when dealers of this type would be operating in nickel chips. The honest gamblers did not take this prediction in a kind spirit and several of them later went out of their way to remind a bearish critic, who was selling the crap games short, that they had managed to peg the market at 25 cents per chip that winter.

But only the other night in a gay haunt of extravagance suburban to Chicago, I watched an honest dealer of the old school dealing roulette at 10 cents per chip with small demand. It would be unkind to name the name of this unfortunate dealer so that his associates in the profession might read, but he is a dealer who dealt at Bradley's big store in Palm Beach and in the large emporiums of Saratoga in the days when persons inquiring for the 25 cent table received a very sarcastic answer. I believe the stock answer for such inquiries was, "The notions department has been discontinued."

But now roulette chips are selling for a dollar a stack in this gay haunt of extravagance and the big loser the other evening left $15 behind when the play subsided and the help drew the shrouds over the tables for the night at half-past eleven.

That 3c Rate Gets 'Em.

It looked as though the dealer would be unable to peg the market 10 cents per chip and he remarked at one point in the evening as he raked in 70 cents and paid out 40 that he might have to offer some real bargains yet to revive business.

"I hate to consider it because it seems so undignified, but with these fights with the expensive international flavor selling at 3½ cents per combat, I am afraid we may have to adjust our prices again. It is my earnest wish," the dealer said, "to attend these struggles because I have a taste for the international flavor cultivated in the old days at from $25 to $55 per ticket, and I hope to lay up 50 cents

Fredrich Burger, president of the German Amateur Boxing association, last night spoke to the fans of the central states over W-G-N. Leonhard Mandlar, vice president of the World's Amateur Boxi g union and coach of the German team, and members of the team also were on the air. Mr. Burger's remarks follow:

"I am glad that I have the opportunity to tell you how much my team and I are impressed by the wonderful treatment Chicago is giving us. THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, which has done so much for the development of international sports and for approachment of the different nations, has made a wonderful job by organizing this Golden Gloves match between the United States and Germany, July 26 at Soldiers' field.

"Grown up amidst the culture of old Europe, I was surprised to find a city like Chicago which shows the same high standard of culture European cities are so proud of. Here I saw buildings not only of magnificent taste.

"I hope that the German team will show you their best fights and will give you a good impression of the standard of German amateur boxing."

THE GUMPS—THAT'S ALL I WANT TO KNOW

GOLDEN GLOVERS FIGHT FURIOUSLY FOR TEAM BERTHS

Name Squad Tomorrow for German Bouts.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lake Wawasee, Ind., July 22.—Chicago's Golden Gloves boxers, eight of whom will meet the champions of Germany at Soldiers' field Tuesday night, wound up their hardest training this afternoon with battles almost as furious as you'll see in the international matches.

The German boys, who now are sparring and boxing at the Germania club in Chicago, can have their eight ounce gloves. If the Golden Glovers practiced with eight ounce gloves, instead of the 12 and 14 ounce mitts, the resulting damage would have ruined the Chicago squad completely.

Only eight of the 17 boys now here can fight on the international card. That's the trouble. And there are 17 boys who want these jobs.

Rothier, Tonelli Duel.

Henry Rothier, the lightweight champion, and Laddie Tonelli. What a pair of scrappers these lads are. One day Rothier has the advantage; the next Tonelli is superior. The matter may be settled by weight, for the lightweight must scale 135 pounds on the afternoon of the fight. There will be no allowance as is customary in amateur tournaments in the United States. Rothier never has made 135 pounds, weighing 136 for the intercity fights in New York.

Then there's the light heavyweight class in which the champion, Vernon Miller, is waging a stern struggle with Adolph Wiater. Wiater is two pounds over the limit while Miller is safely within his class. Miller, however, has a badly infected tooth which has cut down his endurance to the point that it may be advisable to name Wiater, providing, of course, he makes weight.

Heavies? You Pick One!

If you want a job, name the heavyweight. Adam Smith, rugged 200 pound fighter with undoubted courage, hammered at Duffy Dvonch this afternoon for two rounds. Adam never fought better and neither did Duffy. Smith finished with a puffed nose.

The team will be named Sunday afternoon.

George Goodman, bantamweight, who joined the squad yesterday, weighs 116 pounds. He boxed three rounds today in his effort to catch up in conditioning. Goodman went two rounds with George Haberski and one with Al Soukup.

Tony Sutton, Johnny Baltzer, and Johnny Phagan were excused from ring work. Sutton's cut eye has healed, but a solid punch might open it. Bill Connell and Charley Neigo, the other middleweights, walloped each other today for two rounds. The injury to Sutton makes the nomination in this division exceedingly difficult.

Leo Rodak, captain of the squad, will fight in the 126 pound class, as he weighs around 123 and 124 pounds. The effort to make 118 pounds, the division in which he won his title, would weaken him, the coaches believe.

Word has been received that Josef Schleinkofer, the German featherweight, is left handed. There isn't a southpaw scrapper in camp, so a hurry up call was sent out last night to Waukegan, Ill., for Oscar O'Hanlan. O'Hanlan will appear on the Golden Gloves preliminaries against either Lennie Cohen or Johnny Baltzer, depending on which flyweight is named, to fight against Germany. He will arrive tomorrow morning to work against Rodak so that Leo will have some idea of how to meet a boxer who does everything backwards.

The intense rivalry in the ring hasn't affected the boys otherwise. No team ever trained under better conditions and with a minimum of friction. The rub, of course, is that only eight will be picked to fight against the Germans.

The Rt. Rev. B. J. Sheil and the Rev. G. K. Scanlan of Chicago and party motored down this afternoon. Bishop Sheil and Father Scanlan were the moving spirits in the formation and expansion of the athletic program of the Catholic Youth Organization which last year included boxing. They visited with the team at dinner tonight and wished the boys success against the Germans.

"Swell!" says Hans Ziglarski, German bantamweight champion, as he leaves the water. "Okay" also is in his English vocabulary, but "swell" will do this time, Hans. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

Boxing's Greatest Bargain

The international bouts between the United States and Germany at Soldiers' field Tuesday night are the greatest bargain ever offered American fans.

All seats are reserved. The prices are $3.30, $2.20, $1.10, and 55 cents. Tickets are on sale at Room 530, Tribune Tower, and The Tribune Public Service Office, 1 South Dearborn street.

OLYMPIC TEAM HAS EVERYTHING BUT NEEDED CASH

Los Angeles, Cal., July 22.—(AP)—A discordant note—the chink of money—swept in with the wave of athletes who continued to arrive for the tenth Olympic games today.

With the greater share of the United States team of more than 300 athletes already in training here, Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic committee, stated the "expense fund of the team—$350,000—is far short of achievement.

"Eastern apathy has checked our success in securing the needed fund," he said in calling upon the "public spirited generosity of the leaders of Los Angeles" to correct the situation.

"Where we received approximately $100,000 in the metropolitan area for the last games," he added, "we have collected only some $5,000 this year."

WEIGHT OPPOSES EQUIPOISE IN HANDICAP TODAY

Equipoise, His Rivals

WHEN EQUIPOISE defends his turf championships in the Arlington handicap this afternoon, the field, arranged in the order of post positions, will be:

Horse—	Wt.	Jockey—	Odds.
Pittsburgher	105	W. Wright	40 to 1
Stepenfetchit	108	S. Coucci	8 to 1
Equipoise	134	R. Workman	3 to 5
Risque	109	E. Steffen	25 to 1
Plucky Play	111	G. Woolf	20 to 1
W. Clover II.	117	E. Hanford	10 to 1
Gusto	116	H. Callahan	8 to 1
Dr. Freeland	109	R. Jones	100 to 1
Tred Avon	115	J. Burke	12 to 1

BY FRENCH LANE.

Equipoise, the turf champion of the world, will not take this Saturday afternoon off. He can't afford to do it in these times, with a pot of gold of some $28,000 to be cut up among the fleetest thoroughbreds in the land at Arlington Park.

So Equipoise, instead of enjoying a little rest over the week-end, will face the toughest job of his turf career today in the mile and a quarter Arlington handicap, which will be run along about 5 o'clock.

It is Equipoise's biggest day's work because he is asked to pick up the back-breaking weight of 134 pounds and concede many pounds to all his rivals in the finest field of horses that has been brought together in America this year.

Back Equipoise Confidently.

However, Chicago racegoers, who have become so familiar with Equipoise lately, don't think he can lose in the handicap. As a result he was made the 3 to 5 favorite last night, with Gusto and Stepenfetchit, which finished first and second, respectively, in the Classic, ruling as second choices at 8 to 1.

Gusto is scheduled to carry 116 pounds this afternoon. Thus Equipoise will be giving him 18 pounds. Stepenfetchit's weight is 108. So he gets into the handicap with a 26 pound pull in the weights from Equipoise and an eight pound pull from Gusto. Sylvio Coucci has been employed to ride Stepenfetchit, and it was only natural that the combination was considered the most dangerous opposing Equipoise.

Equipoise and Stepenfetchit are both Whitney owned, the former being the property of C. V. Whitney and the latter belonging to Mrs. Jock Whitney, the wife of C. V. Whitney's cousin. But there's probably more rivalry between these two racing establishments than any two others in the country.

Gusto Favors Heavy Track.

Gusto, the 3 year old champion, shapes up as one of Equipoise's most dangerous rivals, but there was some doubt as to whether he will start. If the track is soft or muddy he will try it out with Equipoise, according to information picked up last night. His trainer, Max Hirsch, doesn't think he can beat Equipoise on a fast track.

Among the older horses considered to have a good chance to trim Equipoise was White Clover II., a six year old horse from France which won the Suburban handicap in New York only a few weeks ago. He carries 117 pounds and Equipoise also is giving him a lot of weight. In the betting White Clover II. was at around 10 to 1. Jockey Buddy Hanford, one of the stars in the east this year, came on from New York yesterday to ride the French distance star.

Pittsburgher, Risque, Plucky Play, Dr. Freeland and Tred Avon were others named overnight to go in the race. One of them might turn back Equipoise, but the betting last night did not indicate as much. They were all quoted at tall odds.

Like Tred Avon's Chances.

S. W. Labrot's filly, Tred Avon, was not without her followers. They recalled how she was gaining on Equipoise in the finish of the Stars and Stripes handicap. Tred Avon has won twice since that time, taking the Glen Ellyn stakes at one mile and setting a track record of 1:22 3-5 in a seven furlong race. She proved in Maryland last fall that she can go a distance.

Considerable thought is being given the Northway stable's Plucky Play, whose workouts have been exceptional. Plucky Play has reached his best form.

Hose Jinx to Sox? Well, Put Stripe in Them

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

After snooping around in the east for three weeks and suffering the daily defeat, the White Sox are overjoyed at the prospects of resuming work in their own back yard. They might not win any more games there than elsewhere, but they at least will have home cooking.

The return home will be formally ushered in this afternoon in a single battle with the Cleveland Indians, who of late have done well enough to make themselves, and a few others, believe they might be able to win the American league pennant if about a dozen of the Yankees, including Manager Joe McCarthy, should suddenly drop dead or go fishing. No matter what happens to them today, the Sox still will be slightly worried because the work will merely be a preliminary to a Sunday program which includes two games with the Peckinpaugh's tribe.

Lyons Will Pitch.

Ted Lyons will pitch today. Mention of the fellow who, when a kid, leaped from the Baylor university campus to the big league, brings up some of the things wrong with the humble south siders. The wrongs are all revealed by the contrast. Lyons, who in almost ten years of service with the Sox, has yet to experience a real thrill, has given what rightfully can be termed real, sincere effort to his employer. He has had to win, when he could, with only a weak team supporting him. But in the course of his career he has yet to be charged with not trying.

Soldiering, in the last ten or more years, has almost become a mania with athletes who unexpectedly or otherwise find themselves with the White Sox. Possibly this is psychological. The Sox, because of their pallid hosiery never look like athletes. The players realize this as soon as they confront themselves with a looking glass. This probably has done its greatest harm in making the men doubly susceptible to indifference.

There Must Be a Jinx.

The suspicion is now growing that certain members of the present ensemble might do better if they exerted themselves just a bit. Manager Fonseca himself has these suspicions. He also believes there really is a perpetual jinx taking annual toll from Comiskey's teams. Previous managers, before they quit or were fired, weren't suspicious about this feature. They were convinced. As an indication of the jinx's work in the present campaign you can take the cases of Red Kress and Johnny Hodapp. They always were good hitters; but as soon as they put on Chicago uniforms they became just another pair of helpers to enemy pitchers. Lu Blue fought off the jinx last year, but it has him now.

If anybody refuses to subscribe to the jinx idea, there is another way of showing why the Sox are of a humble estate. There are too many men who can do one thing well, but otherwise have weaknesses. Bob Fothergill still can hit 'em, but has been around so long that his throwing arm no longer is a rifle and the mercury wings have gone from his heels. Elias Funk is a great defensive man, except that he has a weak arm. And his hitting of approximately .225 is not helpful. Billy Sullivan, a collegian, appears to be a hitter, but his fielding in every position he has tried has been painful. These are merely a few of many similar cases.

Third Baseman Charles English and Pitcher Archie Weis of the Hutchinson, Kas., team reported for duty yesterday. They were bought while the Sox were east.

Swetonic Stingy in Pinches.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 22.—Those perfectly horrid Pittsburgh Pirates this afternoon took about ten minutes of acute concentration on the pitching of Pat Malone to make it six straight over the Cubs and plunge our heroes three and a half games behind them in the National league pennant race. The score was 3 to 1, and the Pirates' end was manufactured in the course of a salvo of four hits in the second inning.

This was no Waner poison victory. Those four hits, a single, two doubles, and a single, were made by players who usually are most respectful of the Chicagoans. The first fatal hit was made by Dave Barbee, who had batted .200 in the previous Pirate-Cub games of the season. Other contributors to the tragedy were Gus Suhr, who had batted .217 in the earlier Cub games, Tony Piet, who had batted .277, and Steve Swetonic, whose earlier batting mark in Cub competition was .000.

Swetonic Always in Control.

The hit with which Swetonic drove in the Pirates' third run wasn't the only thing he did to harass the Chicago delegation. He allowed ten hits, but whenever there was need to put on the screws, Steve was the lad to do it. It was Swetonic's eleventh win of the year, as contrasted with two defeats. Three of the wins have been at the expense of the Cubs while one of his two losses was registered by the Cubs.

The Cubs approximated their first string lineup for the first time in almost three weeks, what with Bill Jurges back on the job, though he played third where there is less danger of aggravating his bullet wounds.

The one run with which the Cubs averted a shutout was made in the fifth on Hartnett's double and Herman's second single. Their one opportunity to tie the score came in the seventh when they had men on third and second as a result of Hartnett's walk, a single by Pinch Hitter Gudat and Herman's sacrifice with one down. English almost got a single past Piet to tie the count. But they do say there is no payoff on the almosts. Tony made a nice play and the big threat was over.

Cubs Get 2 on in First.

The Cubs' efforts at production in the first inning got as far as placing runners on first and third. Herman opened the game with a single over second, but had to pause while English fouled to Grace and Cuyler flied to Comorosky. Stephenson came up with a nice line single to right which sent Herman to third, but the inning ended when Barton knocked a high fly to P. Waner.

Grimm led off the second inning with a walk and then Comorosky came in fast to get Hartnett's fly. Jurges bowed himself back into his profession by socking a single to center, which put Grimm on third. Malone then lined to Vaughan and Jurges was doubled off first.

That Fatal Second.

The first hit off Malone was Barbee's single with one down in the second inning. Suhr followed with a double off the right field screen, Barbee stopping at third. Piet hit Malone's first pitch for a double along the left foul line, scoring Barbee and Suhr. Herman made a neat play near second to get Grace's grounder and throw him out, Piet taking third. Swetonic beat out a single to deep short, Piet scoring. Comorosky forced Swetonic.

The Cubs' immediate stroke in retaliation for the Pirates' second inning blast wasn't so hot. The venom displayed by Herman, English and Cuyler in the first half of the third consisted of two taps to Traynor and a foul to Grace.

Stephenson Hits Again.

Stephenson pushed off the fourth inning with his second hit, a single to left. Barton attempted to bunt but

MUD TOO MUCH FOR GLORITONE; LLANDAFF WINS

Favorite Is Poor Second at Arlington Park.

The track at Arlington yesterday was drying out, heavy and holding. A warm sun beat down, but it only made the going all the more difficult.

One favorite after another was bowled over early in the afternoon. The biggest upset came in the Highland Park sweepstakes for 2 year olds, carrying a gross value of $4,280.

Gloritone, owned by Mrs. M. B. Price, which has won two races in the most impressive fashion, was the most highly regarded favorite to disappoint. She was beaten by two and a half lengths by Llandaff, owned by W. R. Coe of New York.

Gloritone never was able to make it interesting for the Coe colt, which ran the 5½ furlongs in 1:08 3-5. In the betting Llandaff paid $11.26 for a two dollar ticket. Eight fleet 2 year olds accepted the issue and Metaurus from the Audley farm finished third.

Flirting, which also raced in Coe's green and white jacket, won the first race. She was one of the few choices to win all afternoon. Just before the first race she had been offered at auction and Coe's trainer, Benny Creech, bid her in for $2,000. She won half that much when she beat Red Vamp, Her Elegance and a dozen others in the five furlong dash.

Jockey Coucci's followers groaned when he was beaten on Eskimo in the second race, but they gave the Brooklyn Italian kid a great cheer when he won on Unencumbered in the fourth race, with the short priced favorite, Indian Runner, out of the money.

If you've been around the race tracks often probably you have heard about juicy melon cuttings and old fashioned hog killings. One came off in the seventh race at Arlington yesterday when Wise Lee, a 4 year old son of Lee O. Cotner-Athens, turned up as the winner. In the opening betting he was at 10 to 1. He had not started since the Lincoln Fields meeting of last fall, yet he got out in front and never left the result in doubt. He was backed so stoutly the price dropped from 10 to 1 to less than 5 to 2 at post time. He was ridden by Jockey M. Clancy, who didn't give him any help, the horse winning on his own courage.

General admission to Arlington Park during the remainder of the meeting, except Saturdays, will be $1 plus tax, track officials announced yesterday. The experiment of "dollar day" tried this week has resulted in a marked increase in attendance.

Benny Leonard Victor in Slow 10 Round Bout

New York, July 22.—(AP)—After being warned three times by the referee to show some life or be disqualified, Benny Leonard of New York, the long time retired lightweight champion, finally punched out a 10 round decision over Eddie Shapiro of New York tonight at Coney Island stadium. Leonard weighed 153 and Shapiro 147.

Michigan Trout Go Democratic on Harrison Fly

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Blaney, Mich., July 22.—The brook trout in Amadon pond went democratic yesterday. After spending about an hour and a half testing out a number of wet and dry fly patterns to see if the big fellows in the pool would take flies in the middle of the day, we found that the heaviest vote was for former Mayor Harrison's original pattern known as the Trude. Against the Trude we nominated several different flies, including one or two new ones with which we are experimenting. But the brook trout liked the looks of the democratic Trude.

Amadon pond is a magnificent spring hole which marks the beginning of fishing on the Crowe river, a clear, cold stream which flows a mile or two from the old mill site of Simmons and eventually empties into Lake Michigan.

It's a deep spring so clear that on a bright day you can look down 20 or 25 feet. Winter and summer the brook trout make this fine body of water their home. On former visits to the Crowe usually we have stopped for a few minutes at this pond to hook a few trout before moving down stream for fishing through the pools and swift water toward Lake Michigan.

Yesterday was a threatening day with dark clouds rolling up in the west and obscuring the sun most of the time. The time appeared right to shoot a few flies across the surface of Amadon. Just before midday we climbed out of the car and immediately rigged up the 8½ foot fly rod. While we were doing this, Carl Schultz, one of the temporary residents on the Simmons game refuge who is charged with the job of watching over the wild life on this area, reported that trout were rising. We hustled to assemble all the fly patterns which were due for a tryout.

A sturdy log raft served as a boat. Carl poled this out within casting distance of the deep water and then we started the parade of the fly patterns.

First we put on a new dry fly with which we are experimenting, tentatively known as Becker's coachman. It worked like a charm. We saw one big fellow take a whack at it, but he struck so quickly after the fly dropped to the water that we missed him. After hooking a couple of small trout on this floating coachman and convinced that it looked good to the trout, we switched to a wet fly. Selecting one of the Trude squirrel hair flies which former Mayor Harrison sent us we put that on and immediately we cheered. Fished deep and slowly, this dark fly made the trout dart up from the depths of the pool to strike this inviting looking "insect."

SMITTY—THE POOR LITTLE RICH BOY

William T. Tilden II., who last year swept through all opposition in the United States professional tournament at Forest Hills, will open the defense of his title today at the South Shore Country club against 32 of the outstanding professional tennis players.

Tilden, who is seeded number one in the draw, will meet Ellis Klingeman, professional of the home courts, at 3:30 this afternoon in the first of the opening round matches.

Bruce Barnes, who has been playing recently as a member of the Tilden barnstorming troupe, will face Phil Brain, a Minneapolis star, who formerly was professional of the Skokie Country club.

Eight American players and four foreigners are seeded in the draw, with Hans Nusslein, the German title holder, ranked first in the later group.

Vincent Richards, who opposed Tilden in the finals of the national meet last summer, is ranked directly below Big Bill, and will probably be required to face Barnes, Roman Najuch of Berlin, and Nusslein, all of whom are in his bracket, in order to reach the final bracket this year.

Many of the tournament favorites will be given a bye today, but by tomorrow the meet will be in full swing with all seeded players scheduled to play in the second round.

Bertha Patch Takes Pace at Fort Erie

FORT ERIE, Ont., July 22.—(AP)—After a slow track had caused postponement of two races on the opening card of the Grand Circuit here today, Bertha Patch, black mare sired by Burton Patch and driven by Vic Rowntree, won the Clifton stake, closed to Canadian bred 2:15 pacers, the only remaining feature of the day.

Although pacing considerably slower than her best time of 2:03¾, the mare won the third heat by double the length of horse and sulky.

The postponed events, the National Handicap Stake trot and the 2:16 pace for the Buffalo Evening News purse, will be the first two races on tomorrow's card. Summaries:

WOMAN TRAINER OF MAN O' WAR JUDGE AT FAIR

Miss Elizabeth Daingerfield, authority on thoroughbred horses, will come from her farm at Lexington, Ky., to act as judge of the thoroughbred horse show at the Cook County fair, Aug. 5 to 14.

Miss Daingerfield, who has Man o' War in her personal charge, yesterday notified Albert Sabath, Chicago horse owner in charge of thoroughbred exhibition, of her willingness to judge the runners in the show ring.

Howard Oots, Kentucky turfman, will assist Miss Daingerfield in the judging, as will Dr. W. A. Swain, veterinarian, and Dr. J. M. Kaiser, track veterinarian at several Chicago tracks.

LOS ANGELES AND NEW YORK WIN IN WATER POLO

Pasadena, Cal., July 22.—(AP)—The New York A. C. and Los Angeles A. C. water polo teams took the lead today in round robin play for the right to represent the United States in the Olympic games.

The Los Angeles club scored a 7 to 2 victory over the Hollywood A. C., and New York staged a second half rally to down the Illinois A. C., 3 to 1.

SEABRIGHT CUTS EXPENSE MONEY; AMATEURS QUIT

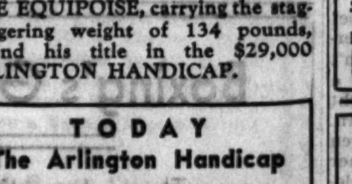

New York, July 22.—(AP)—The first organized tennis strike in the history of the game was declared today as 13 tennis players, including three of the ten ranking stars of the country, withdrew from the famous Seabright tournament.

The players, headed by Berkeley Bell, Clifford Sutter, and Keith Gledhill, had demanded that the club drop its rule withdrawing club privileges as soon as a player was eliminated from the tournament. The demand met with a flat refusal from Hooker Talcott, tournament chairman.

"We respectfully withdraw from your tournament," the players wired back when they received Talcott's answer.

The withdrawal of the thirteen leaves Seabright with only Sidney B. Wood Jr. as a headliner in men's play. Heretofore it has been one of the big tournaments of the east, Ellsworth Vines Jr., national and Wimbledon titlist, winning the final last year.

Those who joined with Bell, Sutter, and Gledhill were W. J. [Junior] Coen Jr., Joseph Coughlin, Henry Culley, J. Gilbert Hall, Jake Hess, David Jones, Dr. Eugene McCauliff, Richard Murphy, Julius Seligson, and Bryan Grant.

GERMAN DEFEATS SHIELDS; VINES GIVES U. S. SPLIT

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, July 22.—Germany held its own against the American Davis cup team in the inter-zone finals today when Gottfried von Cramm defeated Frank Shields, while Dr. Daniel Prenn lost to Ellsworth Vines. The scores in the Von Cramm-Shields match were 7-5, 5-7, 6-4, 8-6. Vines beat Prenn, 6-3, 6-3, 0-6, 6-4.

Thus the outcome of the series will not be determined until Sunday, for, even if Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn beat Prenn and Von Cramm in tomorrow's doubles, America will need another singles victory to win the necessary three out of five matches. Judging from today's play, Vines will have no difficulty in beating Von Cramm, but Prenn is likely to defeat Shields, so it is important that the American doubles team beats the Germans.

Von Cramm Gets a Hand.

Von Cramm was cheered for his victory, and when Prenn took nine games straight in his match, the German fans were almost delirious, but the outcome of that match never was really in doubt.

Von Cramm showed today that he is one of the most promising young players coming out this year. He plays an easy game, cutting heavily with remarkable control and has no pronounced weakness, unless it be the softness of his game. He and Shields are so evenly matched that each set hung in the balance until the last minute.

Shields' smashing game looked better than Von Cramm's in the first set, but the German's methodical play finally gave him the edge. Thereafter, except for a brief flash in the second set when Shields came from behind at 3-5 to win four straight, the American was always on the defensive. In the fourth set each player lost his own service six times, Von Cramm finally managing to take his own for the set.

Vines Shows Title Form.

The chief interest of the day was in the Prenn-Vines match. Vines had startled French critics in practice, and the way he rushed Prenn off his feet in the first two sets convinced observers again that there is none who can stop him in his present form.

Brown Pet Is 1st by a Nose Over Awake

New York, July 22.—[Special.]—P. M. Walker's Brown Pet scored a double for the stable and also gave Jockey Malley his second triumph when the veteran rode the daughter of Brown Prince to a nose victory over James Butler's Awake in the six furlongs of the Spur purse, principal event on the program at Empire City today. Ned O. finished third in the field of nine platers.

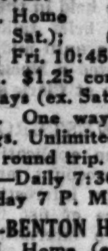

The start was delayed several minutes when Sheltered refused to face the barrier. At the break the Pennant filly threw Jockey Wholey. Jaffa took the lead, closely followed by Awake, with Blond Knight rated along in third position.

Brown Pet gained an opening entering the stretch, and in a long drive just got up in the final stride to gain a nose decision. Awake, which disposed of the early pacemaker, Jaffa, could not hold the winner. The winner was well played at 8 to 5. The six furlongs were covered in 1:10 1-5.

Taking the lead at the start, P. B. Codd's Please held his advantage throughout the mile and an eighth of the fifth to score by four lengths over Musing.

GERMANS TACKLE ANYTHING—EVEN RADIO—AND WIN

BY HEINZ REICHMANN.

Yesterday was a day full of excitement for the German boxing team. By Tuesday they ought to have their nerves trained enough to fight in front of perhaps 60,000 at Soldiers field when they meet the Chicago Golden Gloves team.

The best tryout of their nerve system was their broadcasting debut over W-G-N. The boys had never seen a broadcasting station and before they entered they were more nervous than a prohibition enthusiast delivering a speech to a group of former brewers. I think it was a new record in broadcasting history, getting eight speeches out of these eight boys, who all together don't know more than fifty words of English.

Special Class for Talk.

Early in the morning I got the boys together at the Ambassador hotel and asked each one of them to tell me the words they knew in English. Watching them sitting around a big table and trying hard to collect as many words as possible, they looked more like a group of innocent school children than like a bunch of tough fighters ready to fight the hardest battle of their career next Tuesday. After an hour's steady thinking they all had their speeches and tried hard to overcome talking difficulties.

Zigiarski, the young bantam champion, put great speed into his little talk when he faced the microphone in the evening. Heinrich Kohlhaas, the heavyweight, who got more fan and love letters during his stay in Chicago than a popular screen star, did not like the broadcasting idea so much.

After he had delivered his speech: "I am the baby of the team. Heavy, but good," he sighed and was glad it was over. Schleinkofer's remark after I asked him what he liked most of all in the world was: "Beer, I am from Munich." This answer perhaps may put him in the wrong light. People will think that a heavy beer drinking featherweight is entering the ring Tuesday to face the Chicago captain, Leo Rodak. But they are wrong.

He's Only Fooling.

I watched Schleinkofer—how he refused persistent offers to have a glass of beer. Perhaps he knows that the quality of American beer is not as good as the real Munich stuff. Anyhow, he takes his training very serious, and it may sound funny to you, but he just drinks hot tea as a substitute for his favorite drink.

The boys made quite some sensation when they visited the Turner camp at Lake Zurich in the afternoon. They were greeted with German songs and talks and had a big crowd watching them during their workout in the woods. The oldest men and women at the camp who never saw a boxing match in their life and until yesterday thought an uppercut was an imported flower, got much interested in the fighting game after they saw their German countrymen exchanging punches. They got so enthusiastic about boxing that two veterans, Wilhelm Sturm, 71 years old, and Robert Engel, 70 years, fought a one round bout with light gloves and no bandages.

Pete Miller in Finals of Links Tourney

Louisville, Ky., July 22.—(AP)—The national public links golf championship will go to a lad named Miller, who has just turned 21, but whether it will be Chicago's stocky, black haired Pete Miller, or Jacksonville's slender, freckle faced blond, R. L. Miller, remains to be decided tomorrow.

The Chicago Miller, whose father is a wealthy real estate operator, eliminated Talbot Boyer of Portland, Ore., 3 and 2, in the semi-final round today.

The Jacksonville Miller, native of Nashville, Ga., whose father is a night watchman in a shipyard and who himself worked in a bakery until the depression cost him his job, eliminated Al Campbell of Seattle, Wash., 3 and 2.

Pete Miller downed Joe Nichols, medalist, in the morning round today and his seven years of golfing experience and the fact he won the Chicago city title three years ago gave him an edge in the final match. It is his first try at the national title.

The Floridan, however, went to St. Louis in 1929 and to Philadelphia in 1928, but failed by one stroke to qualify in either.

Umpire Moriarty Is Seriously Ill in Washington

George Moriarty, veteran American league umpire, who several weeks ago engaged in a fight with White Sox players, was reported seriously ill in Washington, D. C., yesterday. Moriarty, it was said, is suffering from injuries received in the skirmish, but American league headquarters last night reported that the umpire's ailment was an intestinal disorder.

Moriarty, according to the American league announcement, suffered an attack of appendicitis on a lecture tour last winter, but refused to undergo an operation at that time.

Whether Moriarty will appear on the baseball field again this season is doubtful, according to word from Washington, where he has been in seclusion since July 12. It also was rumored that if Moriarty returns to umpire next year it will be in the National league.

DICK TRACY—Journey's End

MULTUM IN PARVO.

LAKE WAWASEE, Ind., July 22.—At Kentucky Derby time we write of the months of training, the great expense, the blasted hopes of various owners and trainers in weeding down the 150 nominations to the fifteen or twenty colts which finally go to the post on Derby afternoon. Then, after all this preparation, the actual result is recorded in about two minutes and four seconds.

There is a counterpart in the International Golden Gloves bouts at Soldiers' field Tuesday night. Take, first, the preparation of the Chicagoland team, beginning last January. There were qualifying tourneys in twenty coöperating cities of the central states. There were the sectional tourneys in Chicago proper. Then the Tournament of Champions, in which all these winners met to determine the makeup of the Chicagoland team.

After that came the intercity bouts against New York. Then the final two weeks' training at Lake Wawasee, where the champions had to keep fresh their laurels against former runnersup and a few new candidates. The result is the Chicagoland team of Tuesday night.

Look at the Germans. Their eight champions were chosen after a nationwide search for the best boys among approximately 2,000 boxing clubs. They are the survivors of national tourneys and have been proved in international bouts on the other side.

Then take the financial side. Estimating the German expenses, guaranteed for their appearance, at $10,000, that is $1,250 for each boy who actually battles. The maximum ring activity of one boy is three three-minute rounds, a total of nine minutes. That figures an expense of $138.88 for each minute in the ring, or $2.31 a second. And such figures, of course, do not include loss of wages during the time necessary for the trip.

That is the kind of a show you'll see Tuesday night for the nominal admission prices of 55 cents to $3.30, including government tax.

Is it all worth while? These sixteen boys think so. You will, too, if you are a lover of clean amateur boxing.

True to His Calling.

This one is credited to Swen Matthews, assistant physical director of the Illinois A. C. If it's a vaudeville gag, it's new to us, at any rate. According to the yarn, Swen had a heavy date and decided to blossom out with a bow tie. This he had difficulty in adjusting. Being a bachelor, Swen lives in a small family hotel. Although not knowing his next room neighbor well, his assistance was asked as the time for the heavy date approached and the bow tie continued refractory.

"Lie down on the bed," said the other chap in a serious manner. The surprised Swen complied, whereupon the tie was adjusted in a jiffy.

As he arose, Swen asked, "Why did you ask me to lie on the bed?"

"Well," replied the other, "you see I'm an undertaker and I can't work unless the subject is recumbent."

Cox, Sciolino to Battle Thursday on Sparta Card

The West Side Boxing club's first show under the direction of Jim Mullen was completed yesterday. Five bouts, three at ten rounds, one at six, and one at four rounds, will comprise the card which will be held at Sparta stadium next Thursday night.

Tracey Cox, Indianapolis, Ind., lightweight, and Tony Sciolino, Buffalo, N. Y., will meet in a ten round match. Both boys are making their first starts in Chicago. Cox is rated among the first ten lightweights and Sciolino is listed high in the junior lightweight division.

Harry Dublinsky and Barney Ross, Chicago boxers, will meet Henry and Herman Perlick in other ten round encounters. Dublinsky has whipped Henry Perlick. Ross has not boxed either of the Perlick twins.

A six round supporting bout will bring together Harry Schuman and Solly Dukelsky, west side welterweights. Since Harry has placed himself under the management of his brother, Mose Schuman, he has won thirteen of his last sixteen contests. He beat Harry (Kid) Roberts in his last start, last month. Dukelsky is a stablemate of Dublinsky and has won all but one of his professional bouts.

Gen. John V. Clinnin, president of the National Boxing association, has inserted the following in this week's bulletin of the N. B. A.: "Chicago is about to witness a great international contest between the amateur boxing representatives of Germany and the Golden Gloves champions of Chicagoland at Soldiers' field Tuesday night. The interest in the amateur bouts is so intense that over 50,000 people may attend. The German team has the appearance of being splendid athletes who will ably represent the fatherland. The tournament is promoted by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and is destined to bring about the most friendly relations between Germany and America through the intercourse of the splendid sportsmen who will endeavor to outdo the prowess of the French team which visited Chicago last year."

Jackie Fields, welterweight titleholder, has been informed by the National Boxing association that time to defend his title expires July 28. If he doesn't sign immediately to defend his championship he must show cause why it shall not be vacated. Fields was to fight for the title against Young Corbett at San Francisco on Aug. 27, but the engagement has been postponed indefinitely because of Fields' illness.

Stagg Goes West for Olympics and Conferences

Amos Alonzo Stagg, director of athletics at the University of Chicago, left last night for Los Angeles to attend the Olympic games and the meetings of the National Collegiate Athletic association and the Football Coaches' association. Stagg is a member of the executive and the selection committees of the Olympics, continuing an active part in the conduct of the games which began in 1900 when he took a team to Paris.

Calmes Beats Doktor; Wins Six Rounds

Baxter Calmes, Chicago heavyweight, beat Joe Doktor of Buffalo, N. Y., in the eight round windup of the boxing show at White City last night. Fifteen hundred paid $1,609.60 to see the show.

The Illinois athletic commission's experiment with the round by round result system was tried for the second time. With the exception of the fifth and sixth rounds, which were given to Calmes, the spectators agreed with the announcements on the tide of battle. The three officials, Referee Sammy Ford and Judges John Bray and W. A. Battye, all scored alike, 44-36 for Calmes. According to the consensus of officials Calmes won six rounds and two were even.

Calmes, who avenged a defeat by Doktor at the Chicago Stadium last April, started with a rush, swarming all over the Buffalo fighter. Doktor punched oftener, but Calmes hit more solidly and was the aggressor.

Young Stuhley of Kewanee, Ill., 157, whipped Costas Vassis, South Chicago, 157, in the eight round semi-final.

Angus Snyder, Dodge City, Kas., 200, knocked out Mitz Minikel, Milwaukee, 175½. Snyder was dropped twice, once in the second round and again in the third, but he survived the blows and floored Minikel for the full count in the fourth round of their scheduled six round match.

WERNER, ILLINOIS TRACK COACH, IS ON HONEYMOON

The marriage of Charles D. [Chick] Werner, University of Illinois assistant track coach, to Miss Alice Kaspar, which took place at Champaign, Ill., on Thursday, was announced yesterday. Werner is the son of Mrs. Esther Werner of Oak Park and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kaspar of Oak Park.

Following the ceremony the couple left on a motor trip which will take them to the Olympic games in Los Angeles. On their return from the far west in September they will reside at 913 West John street, Champaign.

Werner was captain of the University of Illinois track team in 1926. He has been track coach since 1928. At one time he held two world records in the hurdles. Mrs. Werner also is a graduate of the University of Illinois.

for my tuition to the Golden Gloves by close saving between now and Tuesday evening.

"I have heard of a lady just in from Chicago with a bankroll of $22 and crazy for action. The only trouble is that the boys with that penny-matching game down the road may see her first. I hear they have a puller out now trying to play her with orange phosphates and ice cream cones and she may leave it with them.

"But even if we catch her we can't be sure. She might drop a stack of three or four dimes on old seventeen here and knock me in the water. We cannot stand much pressure. Two or three direct hits like that would ruin our little home just now. I am thinking maybe I ought to limit the play to two dimes on a number the way things are, because a lady like her closed me up the other night. This lady hit me square with four dimes and then she picked up her money and ran. I had to send home for a new roll of dimes to keep going."

Take It or Leave It.

I wish to assure one and all that the ten cent chip is all too mournfully true and not a mere figment of a morbid sense of humor. But tomatoes are cheaper and international fist fights, as I have been hinting around for some space, are just over a cent a round per customer, off about $15.70 from the record high price per round established by Georges Carpentier and Jack Dempsey under Rickard's auspices.

Of course I do not argue that a cent a round would have been too cheap for some of the more noted prizefights having that expensive old world flavor which have been sold to the customers in recent seasons for elegant fees. The customers will agree that a cent a round would still have been an exhorbitant price for the recent fifteen round gavotte between Jack Sharkey and Max Schmeling, which the Garden firm floated at a maximum quotation of $23.

In that case both fighters maintained an aloof demeanor and if the customers had bought into the show at fifteen rounds for a nickel they might still have been forgiven some slight sense of indignation. The customer is entitled to his money's worth, and a nickel ought to buy something, after all.

Amateurs Only Fight.

Fainting Philip Scott was another European artist who imparted the international flavor to various bouts in the U. S. A., but I do not believe I will add to the woes of a public already troubled by many little problems, by recalling the gruesome details of Fainting Philip's spat with Sharkey in Florida. True, Sharkey made a speech from the ring as Philip passed from one swoon into another in his corner, but talk is cheap and Sharkey's kind of talk is cheaper than most.

At a cent a round the German-American Golden Gloves fights will yield more punches than Sharkey, Schmeling, and Fainting Philip let fly in all their international bouts. But it would be reckless to recommend them unqualifiedly as an attraction for the customers. The amateurs cannot be relied on to foul out or scream vulgar remarks or swoon without provocation. The customers, on their record, have shown a strong preference for these things and successive round of unrelieved fighting may be a great bore to them even at a cent a round.

JANET WILLARD WINS LOW GROSS AT BARRINGTON

Janet Willard of Exmoor captured the low gross prize in the annual women's invitational event of the Barrington Hills Country club yesterday with a card of 48—47—95. Low net honors went to Mrs. W. T. Alden, Glen View, 96—16—80; Mrs. C. Beebe, Evanston, 99—18—81, and Mrs. E. J. Doyle, Evanston, 112—31—81. Mrs. A. W. Torbet of Briergate and Mrs. Helen Hepburn of Skokie, president of the Chicago Women's District Golf association, tied for low score on the three short holes, the eighth, eleventh, and fifteenth, with 10 each. The former won the draw for the prize.

Three tied for the low putting prize, with Mrs. S. D. Rowe of Barrington Hills winning the draw, after having 32 green shots with Mrs. C. A. Klotz of Indian Hills and Mrs. C. H. Taylor of Evanston. Mrs. J. Patterson of Evanston took the prize for low score on the even holes with a 48, while the mystery hole event on the 575 yard first went to Mrs. George Glendon of Evanston, who tied five others with a 6. Mrs. G. L. Raymer of Evanston won the consolation event.

Australian and Chicago Cricket Teams Play Today

The Australian cricket team will arrive this morning at the 12th street station, where members will be welcomed by Greeter Gaw and Ald. S. W. Govier, representing Mayor A. J. Cermak. The Australian team meets a picked Chicago squad in a series of four games. The opening contest will be held at Grant park at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The visiting cricket team will have luncheon in Grant park and the game will be held immediately afterwards. Each of the series of games which will continue tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday will begin at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon instead of in the morning as previously announced.

Chicago's cricket team will be allowed to use 18 batsmen against the Australians' eleven. This handicap has been allotted because of the superior batting prowess of the world's champion team. The Chicago players in today's game follow:

K. A. Auty [captain], I. K. Joyce, E. G. Harburg, C. W. Knight, W. S. Smith, H. H. Watt, T. Williams, B. E. Davidson, A. Tindall, T. Crompton, J. Packenham, B. Bhatodekar, G. Yoxall, C. Butcher, J. Featherstone, J. Greenlee, A. Foster, B. Simms.

Don Bradman, the Babe Ruth of cricket, is an outstanding member of the Australian team. Bradman was married in Sydney, N. S. W., just before the team sailed for America. He is accompanied by Mrs. Bradman.

A banquet in honor of the visiting team will be held at the Morrison hotel tonight at which City Controller M. S. Szymczak will speak.

32 Rest for Next Olympic Ring Battles

San Francisco, Cal., July 22.—(AP)—Trimmed to 32 semi-finalists, America's Olympic boxing team was a round nearer completion today, and in the wake of the fistic typhoon that swept candidates through trials here the last two nights were most of the favorites.

The squad that will swing back into action tomorrow night numbers only six of the 15 champions of National A. A. U. and intercollegiate classification who hoped to wear their country's shield in the games at Los Angeles.

While five of the eight A. A. U. crown bearers punched their way through preliminaries and quarterfinals, only one of the intercollegiate contingent of six survived. He was Doylass Hill of Tulane university, heavyweight champion.

Salica Among Favorites.

Fred Caserio of Chicago, A. A. U. 160 pound champion, who scored a third round technical knockout over Otis Ludlow of Los Angeles.

Fred Feary of Stockton, Cal., A. A. U. heavyweight champion, who chalked up a second round knockout over Gene Garner of San Pedro, Cal., in Wednesday night's preliminaries.

Bor Best of Lightweights.

Three survivors impressed observers as standouts. Salica, the flyweight title bearer, gave a masterful exhibition in boxing and left no doubt as to his punching ability. Rugged Nat Bor appeared to be the class of the lightweights, while the 160 pound division developed a sensational performer in Carmen Barth of Cleveland. Tony Muscarello, Chicago featherweight, scored an impressive second round victory last night.

While the remaining combatants rested today, a checkup revealed the far west brought through the largest delegation for the concluding bouts, 13 men. The east counted 11, the midwest 5, and the south 3.

Life Guard Job Disqualifies Blankenberg for Olympics

Los Angeles, Cal., July 22.—(AP)—Tom Blankenberg, 200 meter backstroke swimmer of the Los Angeles A. C., who won a place on the United States team in the trials last week at Cincinnati, was disqualified by the American Olympic committee today on the grounds that he had professionalized himself by working as a life guard. While the committee was undecided, it was understood that Donald Horn, Northwestern university star, who finished fourth, would take Blankenberg's place.

Sarazen and Armour Play at Ridgemoor

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Gene Sarazen, British and United States open golf champion, and his barnstorming partner, Tommy Armour, are coming back to Chicago July 31, a week from tomorrow, and with them they are bringing two golfers as talented as themselves in the persons of Walter Hagen and Jose Jurado. They will meet in a best ball match at the Ridgemoor Country club, Narragansett and Gunnison streets. The match will be preceded by a demonstration of wood shots by Sarazen, followed by a lecture on iron play by Armour.

Three tournaments will feature today's play in the Chicago district, the main event being the annual Hullabaloo at Nordic, where more than 200 are expected to compete. A. G. Spalding & Bros. company will present one of the smallest, but one of the most expert fields of the year, in the annual tournament at Antlers. Among those who will battle for prizes are John and Warren Dawson, Tom Frainey, Doug Tweedie, John Miller, Walter Crowe, and Paul Fisher. Ruth Lake will hold a unique event, in which members living north of the C. B. & Q. railroad will meet those living south of it. The losers pay for the dinner to be held in the evening.

The western junior, the Chicago Women's District Golf association tournament, and the city championship are not the only tournaments on the district calendar for next week. The Illinois Professional Golfers' association will offer one of the few major events of the year at Glen Oak Wednesday, when not only the state P. G. A. title will be decided, but also the eight places allotted to this district for the big P. G. A. tournament over the Keller links in St. Paul Aug. 30 to Sept. 4.

Tomorrow professionals will be given an opportunity to sample the Glen Oak layout in the regular weekly pro-amateur event. Harry Cooper and Spec Hammond, both of the home club, will compete, and have promised forty Glen Oak amateurs, so that pros are requested not to bring their own amateurs. Other events next week include the fifth C. D. G. A. handicap event at Bob o' Link Wednesday, the Masonic tournament at Olympia Fields Tuesday, and the regular Forty and Eight event at Evergreen Thursday.

Extensive improvements, which include a swimming pool, two tennis courts, shuffleboard courts, and a tile terrace, are now in progress at the St. Charles Country club, and will be completed within three weeks, according to President Lester J. Norris. The cost of the improvement is estimated at more than $5,000 by Mr. Norris.

"Unlike most clubs," he said, "we are putting in improvements to keep our members satisfied. Most clubs are trying to cut expenses now. While we won't conduct a membership drive, the purpose of our improvements is to keep the present membership satisfied. The club will now be a year around organization, with activities for all."

New members of the hole in one party: Bud Huerman, 7023½ Sheridan road, who made an ace on the 185 yard sixteenth hole at the Cary Country club, and R. J. Keogh, who did likewise at the 140 yard sixth of the Northbrook Golf club.

Jack Rolston recently shot a 69, three strokes under par, at Techny Fields. Manager Jock Anderson also reports a deuce on the 455 yard fifth by Francis Kaplan.

SOUTH BEND AND CANTON, O., TEAMS ARE DISBANDED

South Bend, Ind., July 22.—[Special.]—The South Bend and Canton Central league clubs were disbanded today, following announcement by Frederick W. Howell, league president, that no major league backing could be obtained for either club, both of which are defunct.

Whitey Felber, South Bend outfielder, and Art Stokes, pitcher, have been signed by the Dayton club. Ward and Dobbs, both pitchers, will go to Fort Wayne. Flich Eleazer, third baseman, is expected to go to the New York-Penn league. Chief Bender, Erie manager, can place Decker, outfielder, on a Yankee farm if he will return east.

Ade and Berti, Olympic Cyclists, Hurt in Practice

Pasadena, Cal., July 22.—[Special.]—Two members of America's Olympic cycling team, Harold Ade, Oak Park, Ill., and Ruggero Berti, San Jose, Cal., suffered slight injuries in an accident while practicing at the Rose Bowl today. They are expected to be in condition in time to participate in the games.

Michigan City Boys Win in Junior Legion Meet

Michigan City, Ind., July 22.—Scoring three runs in the ninth inning after two were out gave the Michigan City American Legion junior baseball team a victory over South Bend, 3 to 2, today. La Porte and Michigan City will represent the first Indiana district in the sectional finals in La Porte next Wednesday.

fouled to Traynor. Grimm then bounced into a double play.

Suhr drew the first pass off Malone with one out in the fourth, but Piet hit into a double play.

Hartnett started the fifth with a double to the far distant center field fence, lingered on second while Jurges and Malone filed out, and came home on Herman's single to right. English ended the inning with a fly to Barbee.

Stephenson made his third successive single with one down in the sixth, but failed to advance because Barton popped to Piet and Grimm filed to Comorosky.

P. Waner launched the Pirate sixth with a single off Grimm's bare hand and went to second on Vaughan's sacrifice. Paul advanced to third while Jurges was throwing out Traynor, but died there because Malone sailed a third strike past Barbee.

Two More Left on Base.

Hartnett walked to start the seventh, but Jurges fouled to Traynor. Gudat batted for Malone and dropped a Texas leaguer back of second, Hartnett stopping at second. Herman advanced the runners with a bunt to Suhr, but they died when Piet threw out English.

May took over the pitching job in the last of the seventh. Suhr singled over second and went to second on Piet's sacrifice. Grace fanned and Swetonic popped to English.

Comorosky and P. Waner were retired without difficulty in the eighth, but Vaughan beat out a bunt past May and went to third on Traynor's single. Barbee was given a intentional pass, filling the bases, after which Suhr filed to Cuyler.

With one down in the ninth, Hartnett pulled back from a wide pitch and the ball hit his bat. It went into right field with P. Waner and Suhr in hot pursuit. Gabby rounded first and fell down, whereupon Suhr recovered the ball and threw to Swetonic, who tagged Gabby. Moore batted for Jurges and singled to right, but the game ended when Demaree, the new outfielder from Sacramento, batting for May, fouled to Grace.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 22.—Charley Root, who has won two and lost none in this season's series with the Pirates, will pitch tomorrow. He will be opposed by Bill Swift, who lost his only start against the Cubs.

The season series between the first and second placers now stands eight for the Pirates to six for the Cubs. When the Cubs last won from the Pirates it made the tabulation six for the Cubs and two for the Pirates.

Frank Demaree, reputed slugging outfielder recently obtained from the Sacramento club of the Pacific Coast league, made his first Cub appearance this afternoon. He ended the game with a foul to the catcher.

Pittsburgh observers when asked for an opinion of the Pirates' pennant chances, reserve opinions pending the outcome of seven double headers which the Pirates are scheduled to play on their impending road trip, which opens with two games in Chicago Sunday.

The Cubs are scheduled to play only one double header on their coming road trip. It is pointed out, however, that double headers are pretty nice if you can win both ends of 'em.

The Cubs now are certain to launch their eastern travels in second place by a margin of at least a half game. If they win here tomorrow and take both ends of the Chicago double header on Sunday they will trail the Pirates by that half game.

DAVIS BOYS LEAD PHILS TO 9-5 WIN OVER BROOKLYN

Virgil Gets Two Homers; George Collects One.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 22.—[Special.]—The Phillies found the assistance of the two Davis boys, Virgil and George, valuable in pounding out a 9 to 5 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers today. Virgil Davis hit two home runs and two singles, scoring three runs and batting in three. George Davis contributed a homer, a double, and a single. Dick Bartell collected four of the 20 hits in the attack on Hollis Thurston and Jack Quinn. Score:

A'S BEAT SENATORS, 8-4

Washington, D. C., July 22.—(AP)—Mickey Cochrane led the Philadelphia Athletics to an 8 to 4 victory today over Washington by hammering a single, double, triple, and home run. He drove in four runs and scored three. Bishop was on base in the third when he lifted his fifteenth home run over the right field wall.

Philadelphia tightened its hold on second place through the victory since both Cleveland and Detroit were idle. Score:

Athletes of South Africa, Hungary, British Isles, and Canada who will represent their countries in the Olympic games arrived in Chicago yesterday en route to the Pacific coast. The athletes, more than two hundred, were taken on a tour of Chicago during the afternoon and were guests at a dinner last night at the Lake Shore Athletic club.

Great Britain's team was led by Lord David Burghley, who appeared in Chicago for the second time in two years. Lord Burghley, who won the hurdles championship in the last Olympic games, competed in the international track and field meet which was held at Soldiers' field two years ago.

HURLEY DEFENDS DIVERSION LIMIT OF SEAWAY PACT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 22.—[Special.]—Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley today issued a statement asserting that the St. Lawrence waterway authorized under the recent United States-Canadian treaty would not injure the Illinois waterway. The statement was in reply to criticisms that ratification of the treaty would wreck the Illinois project through cutting the Chicago water diversion from Lake Michigan to 1,500 cubic second feet.

"It has been contended," Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of engineers, stated in a memorandum to Secretary Hurley, "that the flow at Lockport as limited by the treaty will destroy the usefulness of the Illinois waterway. This contention is without basis of fact. So far as the Mississippi river is concerned it is possible that a large diversion of 10,000 cubic feet per second might have a sensibly beneficial effect during extreme low stages.

Points to Objections.

"Such a diversion, however, is unacceptable to the lake states, since it materially lowers the level of the lakes, thereby affecting navigation. The difference between the permissible withdrawal of 3,400 cubic second feet per second and 5,000 or 6,000 cubic feet per second which has been advocated is entirely immaterial in its affect upon the Mississippi river."

The Brown memorandum was ordered prepared and published after President Hoover had been informed that Mississippi valley states were attacking the St. Lawrence treaty on the ground that it would ruin the Illinois waterway link of the lakes to the gulf route by cutting the diversion from Lake Michigan to a point where insufficient water would be left to maintain a nine foot channel.

More Dams May Be Needed.

In his memorandum Maj. Gen. Brown admitted that it is possible additional locks and dams may have to be built in the Illinois river in order to maintain a nine foot channel. He asserted, however, that the cost of these dams "would be negligible compared to expenditures made on other waterways and to the advantages resulting to the public from the proposed improvement of the St. Lawrence river. Although Maj. Gen. Brown did not so state today, surveys have shown that possibly 10 million dollars will be necessary to provide for the complete canalization of the Illinois waterway.

Maj. Gen. Brown argued that inasmuch as an average yearly tonnage of 25,000,000 is carried on the Monongahela river on a 200 cubic second foot average low water flow, the Illinois waterway should be able to get along with 3,400, which he said was allowed by the Supreme court and the treaty.

SIAM QUEEN'S BROTHER HERE ON BRIEF VISIT

From his room in the Knickerbocker hotel the prince, who is traveling through the United States incognito, said that he had heard quite a lot about Chicago from his royal sister and her husband, King Prajadkopok, who visited here last year.

The prince spoke of the pleasant weather in Chicago.

"Hot? I hadn't noticed it," he said. "You know it gets rather warm in Bangkok."

TEXAS DEMOCRATS WILL BALLOT TODAY ON DRY SUBMISSION

Austin, Tex., July 22.—(AP)—Democrats of Texas, long regarded as an ultra-dry commonwealth, tomorrow will say whether they desire the question of constitutional prohibition resubmitted.

Incidental to the party's biennial primary to nominate candidates for governor, representatives in congress and all state, district and county offices, the voters will be granted an opportunity to vote "Yes" or "No" on an auxiliary ballot which reads:

"For submission by the 73d congress of the question of retaining or repealing the 18th amendment to the constitution of the United States to the people through conventions specially elected in the separate states to consider that issue by itself as provided in article five of the constitution of the United States."

The gubernatorial nomination race holds a place of interest. Gov. R. S. Sterling, asking reëlection after a first term, is opposed by seven candidates, one of the most active of whom is Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, elected Texas' first woman governor in 1924, and wife of former Gov. James E. Ferguson, impeached and removed from office during his second term in 1917.

ADMITS SLAYING WIFE, SENTENCED, WED IN 14 HOURS

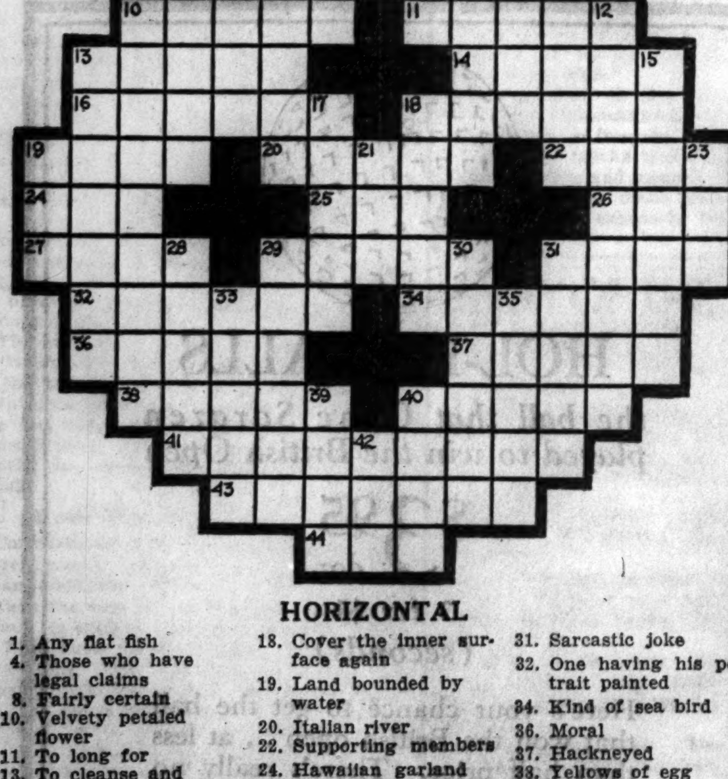

Pontiac, Mich., July 22.—(AP)—Within fourteen hours today Edward J. McFadden, 39, a former deputy sheriff, confessed to poisoning his wife, pleaded guilty to murder, heard himself sentenced to life imprisonment, and was married in the county jail to the "other woman."

The marriage, to Miss Nellie Pentlin, 27, of Brighton, Mich., with whom McFadden was arrested last night in Kalamazoo, was performed by Municipal Judge H. Russell Holland just before the confessed slayer was to start for the state prison. Officials said it was sanctioned to legitimatize an unborn child. Miss Pentlin had been held for questioning, but authorities said no charge would be made against her.

The first Mrs. McFadden, 41, a graduate of Ypsilanti State Normal college and a former teacher, died suddenly at her home near here June 27. Her death was attributed to apoplexy by the family physician.

Several days later, however, Deputy Sheriff John Marek received an anonymous letter from Brighton in which it was stated that McFadden had purchased poison a few days before the death of his wife. Deputies conducted a quiet investigation and Thursday McFadden was arrested.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

MRS. WRIGLEY GIVEN $100,000 BY COURT ORDER

Award Pending Administration.

An award of $100,000 for one year, pending the administration of the estate of her husband, was yesterday given to Mrs. Ada E. Wrigley, widow of William Wrigley Jr., by N. J. Bonelli, assistant to Probate Judge Horner. Mrs. Wrigley, who is living in Lake Geneva, did not appear. She was represented by her attorney, Paul V. Harper, who also filed an inventory of the personal effects of Mr. Wrigley. They were valued at $38,557.

Mr. Wrigley died last Jan. 26, leaving an estate estimated at approximately $40,000,000. Under his will Mrs. Wrigley, her son, Phillip, and her daughter, Mrs. James R. Offield, are given annuities of $100,000 from a trust composed of the major portion of the estate. Phillip Wrigley was given outright the Chicago National league baseball team.

The trust will continue until 1944, Phillip Wrigley's 50th birthday, or until his mother's death, if she is living at that time. At its termination he will receive three-fifths, his sister one-fifth, her husband one-tenth, and their two children will divide the residual tenth.

Sister Made Administrator.

Assistant Judge Bonelli also issued letters of administration yesterday to Mrs. Marie Milde, 3439 North Paulina street, whose sister, Mrs. Catherine Lentis, 67 year old widow, was slain in her home at 1042 Wellington avenue last Wednesday. The estate amounted to $7,050.

Sixteen wills were filed with Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court, and approved by Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to Judge Horner, yesterday. The wills, showing the name of the deceased person, the date of death, the amount of the estate, the administrator or administratrix, and the chief beneficiaries, follow:

Kathern Constable, March 16; $5,000; Mrs. Filomena Guido, 11 West Polk street, a daughter, shares with grandchild.

Gustav Munsig, May 3; $34,000; Pioneer Trust and Savings bank; nine nieces and four children share.

Fritz Christ, May 11; $5,000; Oliver Gregory, 3706 Rokeby street; two brothers share with two sisters and sister-in-law.

P. F. M'MANUS, 59, JOLIET RAILWAY OFFICIAL, DEAD

Peter F. McManus, 59 years old, former general manager of the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railway, died yesterday in his Joliet home after a year's illness. Funeral services will be held Monday in Joliet with burial in Mount Olivet cemetery.

Mr. McManus was vice president of the Joliet National bank, a former vice president of the Illinois chamber of commerce, and former president of the Joliet Country club. He is survived by his widow, two sons and three daughters. He retired from his railroad position in 1930.

Georgian Wills $10,000 to James Hamilton Lewis

Atlanta, Ga., July 22.—(AP)—Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois was bequeathed $10,000 in the will of the late Daniel W. Rountree, prominent Atlanta attorney, who died recently. Approximately $150,000 was left to friends, relatives and employés. The will made no explanation of the bequest to Senator Lewis.

ROBBED IN HIS AUTO.

Francis McVeigh, president of the Standard Brands, Inc., yeast product manufacturers at 1616 Ogden avenue, was robbed of $304 in cash and $500 in checks yesterday by two bandits, who forced his automobile to the curb at Morgan and Monroe streets.

BROKER SAYS GANG TRIED TO KIDNAP HIM

Milton Rosenthal, 38 years old, 6508 North Claremont avenue, mortgage broker with offices at 127 North Dearborn street and a former bank official, reported to police yesterday that two man had attempted to kidnap him as he waited for a street car near his home yesterday morning. He said the kidnapers were frightened away by the approach of four uniformed firemen.

Rosenthal said he was waiting for a street car at Devon and Claremont avenues when two men drove up in an automobile. One of the men got out and tried to force Rosenthal into the car. As Rosenthal struggled with his assailant four city firemen approached in an automobile. Apparently mistaking them for policemen, the man joined his companion and they sped away.

Rosenthal said that he knew of no reason for the attack. A police guard was assigned by State's Attorney Investigator Patrick Roche to protect Rosenthal, who was once vice president of the Liberty Trust and Savings bank.

ALEX STILLMAN OUT OF HOSPITAL BY TOMORROW

Alexander Stillman, son of Mrs. Fifi Stillman McCormick, will be able to leave Mercy hospital in Gary, where he is recovering from injuries received in an airplane crash Wednesday, tomorrow, it was announced yesterday by his physician, Dr. W. M. Behr.

An X-ray indicated that young Stillman had a slight skull fracture, but X-ray photographs received yesterday from New York disclosed that the injury was not sustained in the plane crash but was sustained by the youth while diving eight years ago in New York.

Mrs. Stillman, who received minor injuries in a forced landing of the plane in which she was hurrying to her son's side, will stay with her son until he is released from the hospital, she said. The hospital switchboard was swamped yesterday by telephone calls from New York, Boston, Chicago and other cities inquiring about young Stillman's condition.

COAL OPERATORS TO MEET MINERS IN PARLEY TODAY

Illinois coal operators were invited yesterday to meet with the policy committee of the miners' union in Springfield today in the first step of a further attempt to break the wage deadlock that has kept Illinois' mines idle since April 1. Announcement of the joint meeting followed a conference in Chicago of W. J. Jenkins, head of the operators' association, with President John L. Lewis and President John H. Walker of the national and state miners' organization. The miners' policy committee met in Springfield yesterday.

"Rates were not discussed," said Jenkins, referring to his meeting with the union heads. "We believe some good was accomplished. It is reasonable to expect that further negotiations will follow."

Mary Barratt O'Hara, Widow of Judge, Dies

Mrs. Mary Barratt O'Hara, widow of Judge Thomas O'Hara, died last evening at the Billings Memorial hospital of the infirmities of age. Mrs. O'Hara was born in England in 1856. In recent years she had made her home in Hitchcock hall on the University of Chicago campus. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Benjamin H. Yaeger, and two sons, Frank Hurbert O'Hara of the university faculty, and Attorney Barratt O'Hara. There will be a memorial service at a time to be announced later.

TWO MEN ADMIT THEY WERE DEAD GIRLS' ESCORTS

Lake City, Minn., July 22.—[Special.]—Reuben Kruger and Jesse Salley, both of Plainview, Minn., who were seized tonight, admitted they were the men who went on a fatal swimming party with Louise Prigge and Frances Polikowski Tuesday night, according to police. The bodies of the two girls were found, scantily clad, on the banks of the Zumbro river.

Kruger and Salley, who are held without charge, said the girls were overcome in the water and their deaths were accidental. Becoming frightened, the prisoners said, they fled.

Another development of the day came from the first examination of the girls' bodies, which gave superficial indications of poisoning.

Third Girl Found Dead.

Apparently merely a coincident, another girl was found dead two miles west of here today. Agnes Stevens, a University of Minnesota senior, was found shot to death, slumped over the wheel of her car.

Elements of mystery appeared in the death, but a formal verdict of suicide was returned by Coroner Russell Edstrom of Red Wing this afternoon.

Miss Stevens in the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stevens, Melrose, Mass., a suburb of Boston. Her father is an assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Boston.

She had attended the university last session, and this summer had been living with Mrs. George McCree, a former schoolmate, at Silver Lake.

Evidence of Poison.

The bodies of Miss Polikowski and Miss Prigge were undergoing a clinical examination at Rochester late today. A superficial examination, in addition to showing possible indication of poison, also gave evidence that both had been attacked.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Buske, farmers living near the Zumbro river, testified that two men and two women came to the stream Tuesday night and, clad only in underclothes, entered the water. The group were laughing gayly. The Buskes retired and did not near them leave.

The inquest was adjourned until Tuesday, when the Rochester clinic examiners are expected to make a report. While the girls had not been dead long, the vital organs were in such condition that a detailed chemical analysis was necessary to determine whether poison was present.

TWO KILLED, 6 HURT IN TRIPLE AUTO COLLISION

Two motorists were killed and six others painfully injured last night in a triple collision at Mannheim road and Grand avenue, in Franklin Park. Those killed were Riley Sunderland, 42 years old, 1031 North Shore avenue, and Max Huber, 49 years old, 2015 Bissell street.

Witnesses told Franklin Park police that the crash came when John Fulton, 10200 Prospect avenue, driver of the car in which Sunderland was a passenger, sped through a traffic signal. Fulton, who was not seriously injured, was held.

Huber's wife, Christiana, 47 years old; Mrs. Anna Hinze, 1938 Dayton street, and Michael Schaut, 1542 Larabee street, all passengers in one car, were taken to the Westlake hospital. The other two injured persons, George Wilson of Riverside and John Hellrick of Maywood, operators of a truck of the Public Service company, were taken to the Joslyn clinic in Franklin Park.

The two deaths increased the 1932 Cook county motor death toll to 612.

LAST CONGRESS A SAD SPECTACLE, SAYS JOHNSON

The congress which recently adjourned presented a sad spectacle in its frantic efforts to do something about the depression, according to Senator Hiram Johnson of California, who was in Chicago yesterday on his way home. He left last night on the Overland Limited for San Francisco.

"There were more things done by congress and the administration with less knowledge of what they were doing than ever before in history," he said. "The reason was that all members were trying to do anything which might afford relief from existing conditions. It was shooting in the dark."

Every congressman and senator is awaiting President Hoover's speech of acceptance to see what his stand on prohibition will be," Senator Johnson said.

"All we know now is that the drys say he is dry and the wets say he is wet," he said.

Charles W. Piper, Baking Company Official, Dead

Charles W. Piper, vice president of the H. Piper Baking company, died yesterday at his home, 438 Surf street, after a prolonged illness of dropsy. Mr. Piper was 56 years old. He is survived by his wife, a brother, and two sisters. Funeral services will be held at Klaner's undertaking establishment, 1258 North Clark street, at 3:30 p. m. Monday.

CLASHES MARK MOVES TO SHARE REYNOLDS RICHES

Libby Holman Denies Mystery Executor.

Winston Salem, N. C., July 22.—(AP)—Two conflicting moves aimed at distribution of the late Smith Reynolds' estate came to light today.

W. N. Reynolds, uncle of the tobacco fortune heir, announced from Roaring Gap that he had been asked by Mrs. Libby Holman Reynolds, the widow, to act as executor of her late 20-year-old husbands' estate.

Reynolds' statement came after he had received a letter from an unnamed New York legal firm notifying him one of its members had been appointed executor.

Father Libby's Lawyer.

He said he had presumed, until he received word from Libby Holman saying she wished him to act as executor, that she had retained the New York firm. Now, he added, he did not know who employed it.

In Cincinnati, Alfred Holman, father of the former New York revue star and himself a lawyer, said:

Smith Reynolds, shot to death on a sleeping porch of his home here two weeks ago, was a minor when he died. Seven years hence he would have received a $15,000,000 share of his late father's estate. His personal fortune was relatively small.

Court Fight Likely.

A court fight may be necessary to determine whether Libby Holman is entitled to dower rights in the $15,000,000 or solely in her husband's personal fortune.

Attorneys here have said that if Mrs. Reynolds has a child, which friends say she is expecting, it would share in the inheritance along with Reynolds' child by a former marriage.

Mrs. Reynolds under North Carolina law has 30 days from the date of her husband's death to apply for a letter of consent to act as executor.

JOHN DE LA COUR DIES, A VICTIM OF WAR GAS ATTACK

Funeral services for John Francis De La Cour, 35 years old, past commander of the Edward Hines post of Disabled American Veterans of the World War, will be held at 9:30 a. m. Monday in St. Mel's Roman Catholic church. Burial will be in Mount Carmel cemetery.

Mr. De La Cour died Thursday in the Hines hospital from the effects of gas suffered during the Meuse-Argonne campaign. He was serving at the time with Battery B, 122d field artillery. After the war he was a clerk in the city water department.

His widow, Mrs. Lucy Scott De La Cour, 4724 North Racine avenue, whom he married three months ago, and a brother, Joseph De La Cour, a clerk in Mayor Cermak's office, survive.

CHEVALIER ASKS DIVORCE FROM HIS FRENCH WIFE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 22.—Maurice Chevalier, debonair hero of music hall and the films, whose infectious smile has won him millions of friends and francs, is parting sadly from his pretty wife, Yvonne Vallee, he told THE TRIBUNE today.

Earlier in the day he had gone with attorneys before the tribunal of the Seine and filed suit for divorce on the grounds of incompatibility. Chevalier denied with some heat that his wife, with whom he first won fame as his partner in the Paris music halls, had refused to live with him after his arrival from Hollywood last week.

"That is absolutely untrue," he said. "It is just a question of incompatibility of temperament. There is no use trying to make a tragedy of our divorce. We are the best of friends still and respect one another highly. I hope the affair can be settled without disagreeable incidents. We remain friends, but life together is impossible and should we attempt to continue for another two years we would surely become enemies."

He strenuously repudiated the suggestion that there is a woman in the case. "I am not in love and have no matrimonial plans," he said.

Stanley C. Krafts Dies; Former Customs Official

Stanley C. Krafts, former assistant collector of customs in Chicago, died yesterday following an apoplectic stroke in the lobby of the Oak Park Arms hotel, 406 South Oak Park avenue, Oak Park. Mr. Krafts had been employed in the customs department for 36 years before his retirement last year. For several years before his death he held the position of assistant collector. He was to have had charge of the exhibit of the customs department at the World's Fair.

CHICAGO RAIL LEADERS AWAIT PLAN DETAILS

Executives Take Up Merger Changes.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

The problems of the eastern railroads are now in the hands of four men: President Williamson of the New York Central, President Atterbury of the Pennsylvania, President Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio and President Bernet of the Chesapeake and Ohio.

These men will meet next Tuesday at the Pennsylvania station in New York to consider the four system consolidation plan as approved by the interstate commerce commission on Thursday.

Although the plan as handed back to them by the commission is not quite what they had asked for, it follows fairly closely the recommendations made by the carriers after they had voiced their disapproval of the commission's previous five system plan, which would have built up a fifth system around the Wabash and the Seaboard Air Line.

Follows Chicagoans' Wish.

Of particular interest to Chicago shippers was the commission's decision to deny the Baltimore and Ohio the right to acquire the Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville, the "Monon route."

The Chicago Association of Commerce and trade organizations along the Monon in Indiana and Ohio had objected seriously to such control by an eastern line of this route between Chicago and the southeast.

The commission's decision leaves the Monon to its present owners, the Louisville and Nashville and the Southern. The Baltimore and Ohio had petitioned for complete control.

Refuse to Talk.

Railroad executives in Chicago yesterday were reluctant to discuss the commission's decision. Those who were interviewed had not received the full text of the decision and were waiting to see what the reaction of the presidents of the four principal lines would be.

These four executives are understood to have been definitely committed to the plan only if the commission should grant their entire petition in all its details. Inasmuch as some changes have been made there must be further deliberations.

The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, alloted to the New York Central in the petition presented by the railroads, was partially dismembered in the commission's decision in order that the Chesapeake and Ohio might be given entrance into Syracuse and Oswego, N. Y.

Bridge Route to New England.

The Delaware and Hudson, which the petition asked placed under the joint control of the four systems, was left entirely independent to serve as a bridge route into New England.

Probably the most important change was in the disposition of the Virginian, important coal line. The petition asked that it be put under the joint control of the Pennsylvania and the Chesapeake and Ohio systems. The commission decided to give it to the New York Central on the ground that each of the other systems had access to the territory served by the Virginian.

The railroads' scheme was arrived at only after long months of trading and argument. It represented a delicately balanced compromise—or rather a large number of compromises.

May Speed Plan.

The alterations made by the commission in normal times would probably disrupt the railroads' plans and precipitate another long period of strife. Just now, however, the railroads are so hard pressed financially that they are likely to press on toward consolidation as quickly as possible, modifying the plan somewhat as they go along.

The commission's decision is not mandatory. It simply sets up an architectural plan, similar to that presented by the railroads themselves, according to which the structure may be built.

The real work is yet to be done. Money must be raised for the acquisition of lines that cannot be taken over by the exchange of stock. Then, too, there will be strenuous resistance to be overcome. The main purpose of consolidation is increased efficiency and economy. This means eliminating many duplicate services and will be opposed by many communities and groups of employés.

This resistance, however, is not likely to prevent carrying out the plan if the railroads decide upon it. The earnings accounts of the roads during the last year provide arguments for consolidation and economy which would be exceedingly difficult to refute.

Would Mean Investments.

Take the case of the Baltimore and Ohio. Its present route from Chicago to New York via Washington is 983 miles long. The consolidation plan would enable this road to shorten its route to about 900 miles.

The B. & O. already controls the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh, which would take its through trains from Butler, Pa., to Du Bois. From Du Bois to Sinnemahoning they would travel over the Buffalo and Susquehanna, thence to Williamsport, where they would connect with the Reading for New York and Philadelphia. Instead of crossing the mountains at an altitude of 2,259 feet the B. & O. would cross at 1,539 feet.

Some of this mileage is already double tracked, but there would have to be many improvements, necessitating the employment of many men. Capital could be raised for such purposes if investors were assured that the railroads could earn a reasonable return on it. Greater economy made possible by consolidation would invite capital, improve earnings and permit additional employment.

Electric Line Working with Truck Owners

BY SCRUTATOR.

While the contest for traffic between the railroads and the truck lines goes on, accompanied by demands of the railways for government regulation of automotive carriers, at least one rail line has adopted a new attitude. Its policy is to coördinate railway and truck service in a way to offer the advantages of both forms of transportation to the shipper.

In effect, the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railroad, which is the electric line between Chicago and Milwaukee, has asked and answered the question: "If a railway cannot get the goods carried by the trucks, why not carry the trucks that hold the goods?" So it has devised a service whereby entire loaded trucks or trailers are loaded on flat cars and transported between Chicago and Milwaukee or Racine, Wis.

Rate Change Is Effected.

When this new service was established recently, the railway imposed a freight charge of 10 cents per hundred pounds with a minimum load of 15,000 pounds. However, within the last fortnight new tariffs have been put into effect, based on flat rates ranging from $12 on trucks not exceeding 18 feet in length to $18 on trucks not over 32 feet long. The maximum weight is 36,000 pounds. It was found that the flat rates were more satisfactory and economical to shippers.

"Since this new service was inaugurated it has become increasingly popular with both trucking companies and shippers making their own deliveries by trucks in this territory," Roy Thompson, traffic manager of the North Shore line says. "The new rates have been established to comply with many requests from shippers who want to use this service.

"In this new service the trucking companies or shippers load their own equipment and spot it on specially constructed flat cars at terminals in Chicago, Milwaukee or Racine. Ramps at the stations enable the shippers or their agents to drive their trucks on to the flat cars from the street, thus eliminating the need for any special loading or unloading equipment. The trucks or trailers are held fast on the flat cars by a new locking device while in transit. On arrival the loaded trucks or trailers are driven from the flat cars by the consigners or their agents at the terminal."

According to officials of the railway, the idea of hauling loaded trucks originated in a desire to gain traffic by coöperating with truck users rather than fight for traffic. It was first tried out with several old flat cars which were earning nothing. But the demand for this type of service has grown to an extent that calls for additional equipment, which is enabling the line to make use of surplus cars and is likely later on to result in purchases of new equipment, to the benefit of car builders.

The new service is an adaptation of the ferry-truck plan launched by the North Shore line in 1926. Under the older service the railway provides ferry-trucks or semi-trailers in which merchandise is shipped overnight under seal from the door of the shipper to the door of the consignee without the wheels being removed from the containers while in transit.

However, under this system it is necessary for the railway to furnish the equipment and pick up and deliver it with its own tractors. It also was necessary to solicit business. In the new service the railway merely transports the loaded trucks.

The new service has been brought to the attention of railroad men by the Railway Age as a means of coördinating railway and truck service and meeting highway competition.

Used to Draw Business.

"The service is designed to attract the business of trucking companies or shippers now making their own deliveries by truck," the magazine says. "Such truck operators, instead of moving their loaded equipment over the highway, can utilize the rail service, thereby effecting economies in both time and expense. No new equipment, obviously, is required. The delivery of the loaded vehicles by rail eliminates the chance of delays and hazards attendant upon the use of the highways, while all the costs involved in the operation of the trucks over the road are done away with."

Incidentally, adoption of this kind of service by other railroads and shippers would do much to free the highways from the huge trucks that constitue an inconvenience and menace to motorists. It should also make highway maintenance less expensive for the taxpayers.

SENATE INQUIRY LOOMS AHEAD OF RAIL MERGER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 22.—The interstate commerce commission's consolidation plan of 4 systems of eastern railroads, involving about 300 large and small lines, struck a snag today before it was 24 hours old.

Senator James E. Couzens [Rep., Mich.], chairman of the interstate commerce committee, made it plain that congressional action would be evoked, if necessary, to prevent the program from being rushed to completion before 500,000 railroad stockholders have been given an opportunity to be heard.

As a result it appeared probable the whole railroad situation would be aired before the senate committee in December before the carriers are left free to proceed with the proposed merger, the largest in history.

While congress vested full authority in the commission to consolidate the nation's railroads in a few economically powerful and highly competitive trunk lines, intervention by stockholders' committees was regarded as certain to delay the program at least until congress reconvenes.

Climax of 12 Years.

The consolidation setup as proposed by the interstate commerce commission came as no surprise to the rail executives who have been struggling with the proposition for twelve years.

One important stumbling block to concerted action by the carriers to put the plan into effect was the condition imposed by the commission that the Pennsylvania railroad must divest itself of its entire interest in the New York, New Haven and Hartfor dand the Boston and Maine lines before an application would be considered to make the Pennsylvania one of the four big links in the new eastern transportation chain.

That was in line with the commission's decision to exclude New England carriers from the general four party plan for the present. Whether those roads will be developed into a fifth and independent system or later welded into the proposed 4 trunk line setup remained for future decision.

Throughout the twelve years of negotiations the Pennsylvania railroad had been the principal pitfall in the path of consolidation hopes. Of all the key carriers it alone was a complete system. It attempted to use this lever to bargain for greater gains under a new deal. Advices reaching Washington, however, were to the effect that the road was ready to reach a satisfactory compromise on its New England holdings.

The present economic crisis will be one of the heaviest arguments against any of the key lines frustrating the proposed consolidation, it was said. Senator Couzens was doubtful, on the other hand, that the plan could be brought to completion in the near future because of present conditions.

Couzens Gives His Views.

"The whole matter appears to be academic under existing economic conditions," he said.

In response to reports that the railroad executives were considering stock transfers to create new capital structures for the four systems Senator Couzens declared with emphasis that the stockholders must first be consulted.

"There are between 400,000 and 500,000 stockholders involved," he said. "Therefore the problem of obtaining unanimous action would appear to be more difficult than is indicated on the surface. When people begin to trade their stock they want to know what they are going to get in exchange.

"As I see it, therefore, the first big hurdle will be to get the money to set up these systems.

The Pennsylvania system has 22.9 per cent of the New Haven stock and 19.25 per cent of the Boston and Maine. The New Haven interests hold 26.18 per cent of the Boston and Maine stock.

Will Decide Later.

Senator Couzens, whose record is one of opposition to big mergers, despite his own great wealth, said he proposed to give the subject serious consideration during the recess. He would not indicate what course he would propose to the interstate commerce committee when congress returns in December.

The transportation act, which permitted creation of large railroad systems, under guidance of the interstate commerce commission, has been the subject of much congressional controversy for the last several years. Following the act the commission has had before it several schemes for combining American railroads into a relatively few great systems that better would fit the economic development of the country.

The more recent speeches in congress have charged that, in advance of sanction by the interstate commerce commission, some of the larger roads were taking advantage of present stock market conditions to acquire control of lines they had hoped to obtain under the merger plans they favored.

RAIL CHIEFTAINS' VIEWS

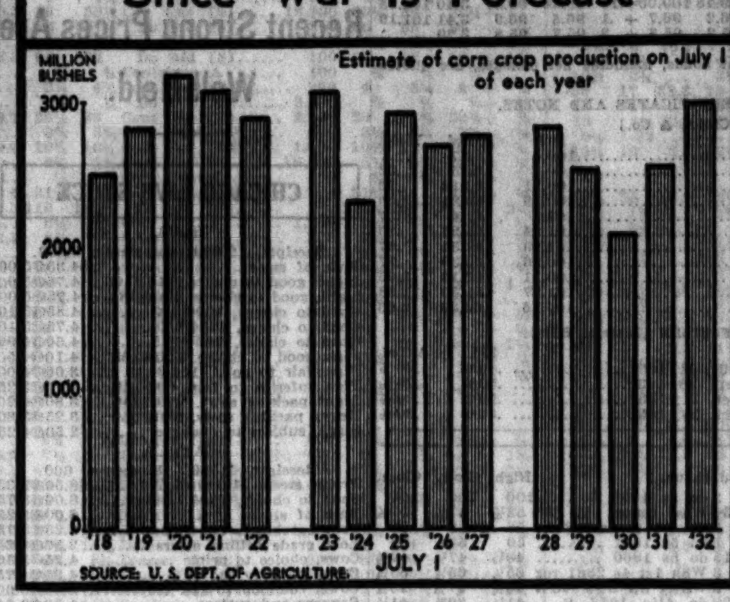

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 22.—Officials of the eastern railroads received today, in attitudes that varied from the noncommittal to the skeptical, the interstate commerce commission's plan for the combination of their lines into four far-flung systems.

Meanwhile railroad officials pointed out that any settlement must take largely into consideration the prob-

Fourth Largest Corn Crop Since War Is Forecast

Cartage Group Opens War on Rail Express

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Members of the Cartage Exchange of Chicago will oppose the request of the Railway Express agency—owned by the major railroads of the country—for a certificate of convenience and necessity at a meeting of the Illinois commerce commission on Tuesday morning on the ground that the granting of the request would mean the confiscation of their business.

"Should the commerce commission grant the express company's request a private industry that has been operating successfully in Chicago for over eighty years will go to the wall," Curtis C. Stewart, manager of the Cartage exchange, stated yesterday in explaining the position of his organization.

"Under existing conditions the express agency can pick up a box from a customer for delivery provided that the box is to be moved at least a part of its journey by railroad. It cannot pick up a box and deliver it to another party without an intervening railroad haul.

Fears Harder Competition.

"Should the express agency be given a certificate of convenience it will mean it can pick up goods in one part of the city for delivery in another part without the intervening railway haul.

"It has been stated that in the event the express agency gets a certificate it will oppose the issuance of similar certificates to any one else who may apply. It will base its objection on the ground that it has sufficient equipment and capital adequately to serve the needs of the shippers. It is also charged that the express agency is attempting to classify the local carrying companies as a utility when they should not be so classified.

"We have every sympathy for the railroads in their efforts to regain business. We have no personal interest in their moves to recapture long distance hauls lost to motor trucks, but we do object to their attempting to confiscate a private business which has been operating successfully in Chicago since around 1850.

Long Haul for Roads.

"We know that the long truck haul properly belongs to the railroads. Hauls beyond 150 miles cannot be operated economically, figures have shown. 'Gyp' truck drivers are injuring the legitimate truck business, the railroads and the shippers, and they should be eliminated."

The Cartage exchange has approximately 160 members, including such well known firms as the Willett company, the Arthur Dixon Transfer company, the Broderick Teaming company, the McNeil Teaming company, and the Stockton Transfer company. The exchange has been in operation for about 31 years and some of its members started in business around 1850.

Some 8,000 motor trucks are owned by the companies included in the exchange and it is estimated that some fifteen or sixteen thousand persons gain their living from these companies.

James F. Wright, attorney for the exchange, has entered an intervening petition with the Illinois commerce commission objecting to the granting of a certificate to the express agency which is to be discussed at Tuesday's meeting. Others participating in the effort to block the granting of a certificate to the express agency are Motor Express, Inc., and the North Shore and South Shore railroads, according to Mr. Stewart.

S. W. STRAUS HEAD ANSWERS SEABURY CHARGE

Nicholas Roberts, president of S. W. Straus & Co., last night called attention to a recent statement of the Seabury committee in New York, which has been urging bondholders to deposit with it, that four defaults in Straus issues are so recent that no action has been taken by Straus to form bondholders' committee.

"This statement is untrue," he said. "Bondholders' committees have been formed for both the Walbridge and Cambridge Court issues and a substantial majority of bonds have been deposited in both. It's our policy not to form bondholders' committees if this can be avoided, and I'm glad to state that in the case of the Dorset and Alden issues extension plans have been submitted to the bondholders whereby we hope to avoid bondholders' committees altogether for these two issues."

Chicago Bank to Offer Marshall Co., Iowa, Bonds

An offering of $300,000 Marshall county, Ia., 4½ per cent primary road bonds will be made today by the Harris Trust and Savings bank. These bonds are due serially 1934 to 1945 and are offered at prices yielding from 3 to 4.2 per cent.

DRAKE TAKEN OVER BY NEW CORPORATION

National Realty Is Now in Control.

BY AL CHASE.

Another step in the refinancing of the Drake hotel property was taken yesterday when title was conveyed by the Whitestone company, of which Benjamin H. Marshall is president and Edwin L. Brashears is secretary, to the newly formed Whitestone Management company for $1,038,500. This price was indicated by the sum of $1,038.50 in revenue stamps used in recording of the deed. Mr. Marshall and Mr. Brashears are president and secretary, respectively, of the new corporation.

WILLIAM M. DEWEY.

With the new corporation holding title the National Realty and Investment company interests are now in complete control of the Drake hotel property. In this connection it was announced last night that William M. Dewey, one of the owners and manager of the Edgewater Beach hotel, has been made a director of the National Realty and Investment company.

In taking title to the hotel the new Whitestone Management company assumes and agrees to pay an incumbrance of $3,480,000, according to the county records.

Stockholders Approve.

Mr. Brashears stated last night that the original refinancing plan, as outlined in THE TRIBUNE on May 21, will be carried out. At that time it was announced that both receivership and foreclosure would be avoided if the owners of the hotel company stock would ratify the proposal. This was unanimously done on June 20, Mr. Brashears said.

Briefly the refinancing plan for the Drake provides that in consideration of the hotel property being turned over to the new corporation that body will issue to the old Whitestone company 40,000 shares of its 50,000 shares of 5 per cent noncumulative class A common stock of $25 par and 10,000 shares of its 30,000 shares of class B common stock of $5 par, to be distributed by that company to its preferred stockholders.

At the same time the National Realty and Investment company will purchase from the new corporation at par the remaining 20,000 shares of the class B stock.

Seek Extension.

The new corporation, it was stated, will undertake to procure an extension of the principal prepayments and interest now in default, and will assume and agree to pay all of the then outstanding first mortgage obligations with the exception of some dividend scrip issued in 1923.

The National Realty and Investment company will supply funds to the new Whitestone Management company, secured by a three year second mortgage at 6 per cent and a chattel mortgage on the furniture and furnishings.

Tracy C. and John B. Drake, former owners of the hotel, will receive in consideration for canceling their contract, cash of $50,000, 4,000 shares of A stock and an additional $50,000 over a three year period.

The Drake was erected in 1921 from plans by Marshall & Fox at a cost of approximately $8,000,000 for the land, building, and furnishings. It contains 780 rooms.

World Pact to Raise Oil Reported in Paris

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, July 22.—Though the oil conference continues to maintain the strictest secrecy, it is said here in oil circles that an agreement has been reached among the Americans, British, Dutch, and Rumanians to raise the price of oil 20 or 25 per cent on the world market, probably on Oct. 1. However, since the Russians obviously are nominally a party to the agreement, yet their only delegate here is simply playing the part of an unofficial observer, so nothing may come of it.

Consumers Co. Stockholders Meet Monday

A difficult financial problem will be threshed out and five new directors will be elected at a special meeting of the stockholders of the Consumers company, which has been called for Monday.

The financial problem was precipitated by the failure of a syndicate to complete its plan to purchase 1,100,000 shares of the company's stock at $5 a share to provide needed capital.

The new directors are to be elected to fill vacancies caused by the death of B. A. Eckhart and William Wrigley Jr. and by the resignations of D. F. Kelly, president of the Fair; Frank G. Logan, Chicago capitalist, and Patrick H. Joyce, president of the Chicago Great Western railroad.

What Plan Included.

Under the original plan of the syndicate, some of the members of which were on the Consumers company board, the money to be paid for the stock was to be given in one installment of 20 per cent, three of 15 per cent, and one of 35 per cent.

It has been stated that the first two payments were met. The third, due March 1, 1932, is understood not to have been paid as a result of the difficulties in which the Insull interests found themselves at the time. The total amount received was about $1,900,000. The two Insull investment trusts—Insull Utility Investments and Corporation Securities—were to have subscribed for 52 per cent of the stock and the members of the syndicate the remainder.

The Insull investment trusts explained their financial plight and asked to be relieved from fulfilling their entire bargain, offering to return the stock they had received in exchange. As the trusts were in a precarious financial position, there was nothing to do but to accept.

Thereupon the other members of the syndicate decided they should be relieved of their obligation. They proposed, instead, that the funds required by the company be raised through the imposition of a mortgage at 6 per cent interest on 1,000 acres of ground which the company owns in fee simple in the dune country of Indiana.

Some Directors Object.

Certain of the directors that such action was unfair and against the interests of the stockholders, holding that the syndicate members should have gone through with their contract to purchase the stock, notwithstanding the action of the Insull trusts. Mr. Logan held to this view and resigned from the board.

Inasmuch as some of the members of the board were participants in the syndicate, they felt they could not in justice vote on a matter in which they were so interested. Consequently, it was decided to elect five new members to fill vacancies.

GENERAL MOTORS EARNINGS DROP AT RAPID RATE

Net earnings of General Motors corporation for the quarter ended June 30, including equities in the undivided profits or the losses of subsidiary and affiliated companies not consolidated, amounted to $5,326,377. This compares with earnings of $55,122,767 for the corresponding quarter a year ago. After deducting dividends of $2,344,208 on the preferred stock there remains $2,982,169, equivalent to 7 cents per share on the common stock, compared with $1.22 per share in the second quarter of 1931.

Net earnings for the six months ended June 30 were $15,019,404, or the equivalent, after $4,688,415 for preferred dividends, of $10,330,989, or 24 cents per share on the common stock. This compares with $84,122,176 for the corresponding six months of last year which, after preferred dividends, amounted to $1.83 per share on the common.

Cash, United States government, and other marketable securities on June 30 were $215,897,767, compared $205,029,119 on Dec. 31 and $245,856,668 on June 30, 1931. Net working capital on June 30 amounted to $259,632,638, compared with $273,215,923 on Dec. 31, 1931, and $328,651,750 on June 30, 1931.

Harris Bros. Co. Plans to Increase Sales Outlets

Harris Bros. company, celebrating the fortieth anniversary of the founding of their business with a month long sale of building materials, report sales so far exceeding their expectations that they expect to double their sales agencies within the next three months. They now operate fourteen agencies in addition to the main plant at 1349-1355 West 39th street.

"Our volume of sales during the first three weeks of July has convinced us that business is available for the concern that goes after it aggressively," said Mortimer B. Harris, president of the company.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 22.—Nearly a million and a half shares changed hands on the New York Stock exchange today. It was the most active trading session in nearly two months.

Prices were marked up from 1 to 2 points over a wide range. Some of the more active issues scored fairly sharp advances in the early trading but recurring waves of profit taking which set in about midway of the afternoon took the edge off the advance, reducing favorites generally from their best levels of the day. At that the close found the averages virtually dovetailing their June recovery tops.

Rails Fail to Respond.

It was all very heartening naturally to those looking for a sign of the long-talked-of upturn. Some disappointment was expressed over the failure of railroad shares to respond more enthusiastically to the interstate commerce commission's approval of the four-party eastern merger plan, but as some observers pointed out, the news was pretty stale since President Hoover had announced as far back as the autumn of 1929 that the consolidation plans had been completed except for a few details.

Wall street has been "understanding" for some weeks that the commission was about ready to put its rubber stamp to the project. Moreover, enthusiasm over the development was tempered somewhat by the knowledge that it will be quite some time before the actual details can be finally completed.

Takes News Quietly.

Furthermore, the roads have been crying poverty for so long that many who might have envisioned important results from the matter awhile back were moved to wonder where the money was coming from to finance the merger, unless business looks up sharply. And so it came about that the market took the news rather apathetically. Indeed, the bulk of interest in the railroad shares seemed to center not in issues of roads affected by the plan, but in stocks like Union Pacific and Atchison which are not involved at all.

Pennsylvania and New York Central rose only fractionally and the improvement in Baltimore and Ohio, Erie, and Chesapeake and Ohio was limited to a point or so. Delaware and Hudson rose 2½ and Central of New Jersey 5 points, both on small turnover.

Outside of the merger decision there was nothing in the news of the day calculated to influence speculation and the concensus seemed to be that the continued improvement represented the financial community's willingness to play for autumn recovery—and nothing else. Sentiment has been on the mend for virtually the entire week and the talk is that a number of brokers who have taken to the woods for the summer are seriously thinking of cutting their vacations short and coming back to help the game along.

Preferreds Make Showing.

Preferred stocks, as usual, made the best showing on today's operations. Advances ranging from 2 to as much as 6 points were recorded in the preferreds of Tide Water Oil, Lorillard, Loews, National Lead A, Union Pacific, Sun Oil, Atchison, Baltimore and Ohio, Gold Dust, and others.

Oil stocks kept up their good showing, being helped afresh by the report of Atlantic Refining showing earnings of $1.02 a share for the second quarter as compared with a loss last year. Refining rose to a new high for the year. Standard of New Jersey and Standard of California each rose about a point.

A handful of specialties, including Johns Manville, which was under handicap of a million and a half loss as reflected in its earnings report, and Gillette, moved counter to the trend for small losses. New York tractions also came off the perch they recently assumed, Brooklyn Manhattan chalking up a point loss in spite of its customary gain.

PALMOLIVE TELLS RENEWED FAITH IN ADVERTISING

Sears-Roebuck Reports Drop in Sales.

Decision to continue advertising to be ready for the business upturn, whenever it comes, marks the semi-annual report of the Colgate-Palmolive-Peet company, issued yesterday.

"The management believes," says President Charles S. Pearce's letter to the stockholders, "that active business and prosperity will in due course return to this country and that as heretofore the public will seek brands of quality and reputation."

That is the reason given for faith in advertising now, and the further comment is made that the company has no bank loans.

"While dollar volume is decreased the tonnage sales of the company," the report declares, "are only 8.9 per cent below the like period of last year."

Earnings and Dividends.

"Earnings before special charges on the first six months' operations amount to $2,153,135.89, or 2.8 times preferred dividend paid during this period. Special or nonrecurring charges during the six months, amounting to $1,122,425.18, reduced the earnings available for dividends to $1,030,710.71. These special charges were payments to the company's distributors on stocks of merchandise on hand and were occasioned by the company's desire to keep its major brands on a competitive basis. This extraordinary charge is equivalent to 56 cents per share on common stock outstanding.

"In reducing its quarterly dividend on common stock from 62½ cents to 25 cents per share, the management of your company is carrying out a well considered policy."

Kelvinator Earns Less.

Net earnings of Kelvinator corporation for the quarter ended June 30, 1932, were $730,002 after all charges, including federal income tax, it was announced by George W. Mason, president. This compares with $1,620,632 for the corresponding period of 1931. As of June 30, the corporation has net current assets of $6,287,287, of which $1,791,115 is in cash and United States government securities.

In commenting on conditions in general Mr. Mason said:

"Having charged off substantial inventory losses due to price reductions and having effected substantial operating economies Kelvinator is in a position to take full advantage of any improvement in conditions."

Sears, Roebuck Report.

Sears, Roebuck & Co. for the period June 20 to July 16, 1932, report sales of $19,252,107, compared with sales of $25,738,837 in the same period of 1931, a decrease of $6,486,730, or 25.2 per cent.

For the seven periods combined, from Jan. 2 to July 16, 1932, sales amounted to $145,587,368, compared with $184,707,207 in the same period of 1931, a decrease of $39,119,839, or 21.2 per cent.

In the last previous four-week period, sales totaled $24,200,321, against $29,813,876 in the like period of 1931, and for the first twenty-four weeks of this year sales aggregated $126,335,261, as compared with $153,968,370 in the same period of 1931, a decrease of 20.53 per cent.

Allis, Chalmers Loss.

The Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company reported a net loss of $869,503 after depreciation, interest, taxes, etc., for the quarter ended June 30, 1932. This compares with a net loss of $936,365 in the preceding quarter and a net profit of $523,254, equal to 40c a share on 1,292,900 shares of no par common stock in the second quarter of 1931. For the same six months ended June 30, 1932, the company incurred a new loss of $1,805,898 after taxes and charges, against a net profit of $1,006,061, equal to 78c a share in the first half of 1931.

Net current assets on June 30, last, were $26,615,692. On Dec. 31, 1931, the net current assets amounted to $28,029,248.

Bookings for the second quarter of this year were $3,577,448, against $2,984,377 in the June quarter of 1931. Six months' bookings totaled $6,561,825, against $12,224,877 in the first half of 1931.

Johns-Manville Decline.

Johns-Manville corporation reports a deficit for the half-year ended June 30 of $1,514,878, contrasted with net profit of $945,768, or 91 cents a common share in the same period of last year.

Second quarter loss was $602,270. Net sales for the second quarter were $5,129,625, against $4,604,192 in the first.

Detroit Gear Sales.

June transmission and gear sales of the Detroit Gear and Machine company, division of Borg-Warner corporation, within the last several weeks have shown a gradual increase which brings the present volume to about 10 per cent more than early May.

Phone Revenues Decline.

Aggregate net operating income of 104 telephone companies, as reported to the interstate commerce commission for May, were $19,464,420, compared with $23,777,010 for the same month last year. Gross totaled $88,583,319, against $98,587,192.

For the first five months of this year aggregate net operating income of these companies amounted to $98,803,641, compared with $118,081,361 for the corresponding 1931 period; gross $451,439,132, against $488,787,025.

Atlantic Refinery Lower.

Atlantic Refining company reports for six months ended June 30 profit of $3,185,000 after all charges, including inventory adjustment, equal to $1.18 a share. For the first half of 1931 the company reported a loss of $4,012,963 after all charges.

Continued light receipts favored the selling side yesterday and hog prices gained 10@15c on an active trade. The extreme top moved up to $5.10, the highest of the week, and was 15c above Thursday's top. Several loads cashed at $5.05, and the bulk of the sales were within a spread of $4.35@5.00. This compares with a top of $5.20 last Friday and is 35c above the low point of the week, established Wednesday when the peak stood at $4.75. The average yesterday was $4.55, a gain of 5c over Thursday. The advance yesterday was uneven in that sows found a spotted trade. Opening sales were steady to 10c higher, but the bulk of the sows sold late at fully 10c lower quotations.

Big Packers Take Little.

Big packers were light buyers again yesterday, only 2,500 head going to Swift, Wilson and Armour. City butchers took 3,000 head and five small packers bought about the same number. A feature of the trade this week has ben the light outside demand. Shippers took about 1,500 yesterday.

Five western markets, including Chicago, expect 9,000 cattle today, against 13,000 last Saturday.

Heavy receipts and the distressed condition of the dressed beef trade combined to force cattle prices to a level that is mostly 75c@$1.00 below the high time last week. In view of the $2.00 drop in wholesale beef prices the cattle market has given a fairly good account of itself. The tonnage of beef has been unusually light this week. Steers weighing 1,300 lbs and above were scarce and only two loads weighing above 1,500 lbs were here all week. Included in the receipts were a good many inferior quality native and southwestern bred steers.

Strictly grassers sold mostly from $4.00 to $5.50. Common, poorly fleshed steers that had been fed some concentrate on grass sold from $4.50 to $6.00 mostly. The former price included some Brahma bred steers. Other loads of this description sold at $5.25 and above.

Steer Market Dull.

Yesterday's steer market was a dull affair, as most of the offerings were undesirable from the killers' standpoint. Practically all killing classes were weak to 25c lower. No strictly good or choice steers or heifers were on sale. The bulk of all grades and weights of steers sold from $5.50 to $7.50.

Although receipts were heavy early this week, country shippers responded with abridged supplies later on. The trade feels that well finished cattle will continue to sell at a good premium. Light receipts are needed until hot weather abates and gives the dressed beef trade a chance to right itself.

Further losses in the wholesale price of lamb carcasses were responsible for depressing the lamb trade again yesterday. Since the high time last month the product has dropped almost $6.00 per cwt, including the loss of $1.00 reported yesterday. Hot weather has curtailed demand to the extent that packers are not able to make a good clearance even at sharply lower prices.

A few sales of choice native lambs yesterday were steady with the previous day, but the bulk of the run cashed on a weak to 10c lower basis. Natives topped at $6.00, the same as on the previous day. Range lambs were closely sorted. Some sales that looked steady on paper were actually about 10c lower because of heavier sorts. The top for rangers was $5.85, against $5.95 the previous day. Medium grades of lambs sold mostly from $5.00 to $5.60.

Receipts of sheep at Chicago totaled 11,000 yesterday as compared with 8,200 a week ago. The total for the first five days totaled 55,680 as compared with 73,807 for the same period of the previous week. Receipts at the large western centers have been correspondingly light. The estimate calls for 500 sheep at Chicago today.

BLAME LOWERED LIVE STOCK PRICE ON FARM BOARD

Competition Stopped Is Charge.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Kansas City, Mo., July 22.—[Special.]—A governmental setup under which competition—supposed to be the life of trade—is reduced in live stock sales, thus hitting the cattle producer with lower prices, was charged against the federal farm board today during the investigations of the Shannon congressional committee.

Trade experts representing live stock exchanges in Kansas City, Chicago, St. Louis, St. Joseph, Sioux City, and Omaha, held that control of meat animal prices is one of the steps towards the establishment of a governmental food monopoly. They declared that the farm board subsidiaries in many instances have galloped rough shod over the system of regulations set up in the exchanges for protection of the producer.

Farm Coöps Strangled.

Coöperatives, farmer owned, such as the Farmers' union, who are outside the farm board's setup, were pictured as the victims of governmental competition just as is the old line commission business. One set of rules, it was argued, is aimed to prevent the growth of monopoly in private business, while on the opposite side under the farm board system a governmental monopoly is contemplated.

In addition to the national live stock marketing association and setup under which 22 live stock commission concerns, financed by government money, are competing with private firms and outside coöps, there is the national order buying company. This subsidiary is a buyer of live stock, chiefly hogs. It operates at country points outside the terminal markets and thus practices private buying. On this phase the briefs filed by the trade echo the statement put in by the Chicago Live Stock Exchange, which says:

Assails Direct Buying.

"Direct buying was originated by the big packers for the purpose of decreasing the competition at the price making terminal markets, thus reducing the prices paid to the producer for his live stock. The experience of ten years with this nefarious system of marketing clearly indicates that it is the most damaging method of marketing ever placed on the live stock producer.

"The national order buying company's activities thus add to the evil effects produced by the packers' direct buying campaign, and to a considerable extent were responsible for the great debacle in the hog price during the winter of 1931 and 1932. The national order buying company boasted of contacts with over 200 packers."

Chicago Exchange's Brief.

The brief read from the Chicago exchange said as to farmer coöps:

"The members of the Chicago Live Stock exchange have done more to aid in the development of coöperative marketing than any other agency in existence. They developed the present methods of handling live stock coöperatively and their methods have been followed all over the country. We are exceedingly friendly towards all local coöperative associations and our members handle the greater bulk of the coöperative shipments coming to the Chicago market, simply because the local coöperatives find better service from the exchange.

"We have never exploited the coöperative idea; we asked for no signed contracts and bid for the business on the merits of the service alone. The farm board subsidiaries simply duplicate the service of the private firms. If these concerns could give more service or better service, or operate at lower costs, there might be some justification for their existence, but they do none of these things."

MAKE LOAN PLANS

BY PAUL POTTER.

Efforts are being made in several points in the corn belt by financing arrangements to make possible the breeding and feeding of several thousand carloads of beef cattle, hogs, and sheep in the next few months.

In Illinois, the agricultural industries division of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce is taking up with the state department of agriculture and the Illinois Agricultural association plans to form a statewide credit corporation for this purpose.

Helps with Financing.

M. M. Baker, former president of Caterpillar Tractor company at Peoria, is undertaking the job of completing the financing plans as soon as possible. He already has surveyed the markets, and believes there is no danger of oversupply in beef cattle for several years to come.

According to Mr. Baker, railroad officials he has aproached on the matter are anxious to be of assistance. The president of one railroad, he said, had already attempted to buy up some range feeders in the southwest. He met difficulties, however, in that local bankers refused to release the cattle now mortgaged on the ranges.

Yesterday, the first definite financing plan was put into force at Omaha, Neb. Officials of the Omaha Live Stock exchange and the Union Stockyards company organized the Omaha Feeders' Finance corporation, said to be the first of its kind in that region.

To Assist Feeders.

The new corporation will make available to farmers in the Omaha trade area nearly $1,00,000 for fall feeding operations, it was declared. The corporation's authorized capital is $250,000, but by working with the Intermediate Credit bank of Omaha the larger credit fund will become available.

According to W. H. Shellberg, head of the stockyards company and chairman of the new credit firm's board, country banks cannot be expected to finance the feeding requirements. No attempt is to be made to take loans from banks, but to supplement them.

N. W. Mutual, 75 Yrs. Old, Celebrates Next Week

The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance will commemerate its seventy-fifth anniversary at a convention to be held in Milwaukee next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. The home office force, together with over a thousand agents, will be in attendance. C. F. Axelson of Chicago, president of the Association of Agents, will preside at the business session. Among the speakers will be Merle Thorpe, editor of the Nation's Business, and Prof. S. N. Stevens of Northwestern university. The company at the end of 1931 had assets totaling $977,265,829, and over $4,000,000,000 of insurance in force.

City Ice and Fuel.

What is you opinion of City Ice and Fuel company stock as an investment?—Mrs. N. B. S.

City Ice and Fuel company and subsidiaries conduct a fuel and ice business. They operate cold storage plants and manufacture ice making and refrigerating machinery.

The company serves about 75 cities in 23 states and in Canada. About 30 per cent of revenues normally comes from railroad car refrigeration.

Earnings have been stable. President Suhr said on April 15, 1932, that earnings for the first quarter of 1932 were greater than in the corresponding 1931 period. A warm winter reduced the carryover of natural ice in many vicinities.

Generally warm weather throughout 1931 was responsible for a decline in the sale of fuel and an increase in the sale of ice. The company sold 4,716,000 tons of ice in 1931, against 4,592,000 tons in 1930 and 3,955,000 tons in 1929. In 1931 it sold 1,050,000 tons of coal, against 1,116,000 in 1930 and 1,015,000 in 1929.

Sales for 1931 were $30,039,000, compared with record sales of $30,622,000 for 1930. Sales for 1929 were $27,592,000, and for 1928, $23,771,000.

Net income in 1931 was $6,510,000, or $4.43 per common share, against net of $6,612,000, or $4.66 per common share, for 1930. Net for 1929 was $6,057,000, and for 1928, $4,837,000.

On Dec. 31, 1931, current assets were $10,874,000, and current liabilities were $4,201,000. Cash and marketable securities were more than $1,700,000 and notes payable were $1,929,000. Working capital was $6,673,000, against $5,171,000 the year before. Funded debt totals $7,805,000. There are outstanding 199,253 shares of 6½ per cent cumulative preferred [par $100] and 1,178,000 shares of no par common.

Dividends on the common stock have been paid regularly for about 25 years. The present rate is 90 cents a quarter. Two stock dividends of 1½ per cent each were paid in 1930.

Some credit for increased earnings should properly be attributed to expansion. The steady increase in the ratio of net to gross, from 13 per cent in 1923 to 23 per cent in 1931, indicates decreasing operating costs and efficient management.

Ohio Oil Company.

Some time ago I saw in the papers that Ohio Oil company resumed dividends. I never received mine. To whom should I write about this?—H. P.

If you did not receive your June 15, 1932, dividend, you should write to the company at Findlay, O.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 22.—In its report for the first six months of this year E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co. shows a balance for common stock of $18,962,167, or $1.01 a share on 10,878,989 shares, the average number outstanding during the period. This income includes the company's equity in undivided profits or losses of controlled companies not consolidated, and, it compares with $24,809,160, or $2.24 a share on 11,052,174 shares, in the corresponding period of 1931.

Total income for the first six months of this year was $14,726,898, represented by $4,861,939 net from operations after depreciation and obsolescence of plants and equipment, $7,484,000 dividends from the Du Pont company's investment in the General Motors corporation, and $2,380,959 income from miscellaneous and marketable securities.

After deducting $488,885 as provision for federal income tax and $35,592 for interest on bonds of subsidiaries, the remaining net was $14,202,421. Dividends on debenture stock amounted to $3,259,348. The net without including equity in undivided profits was $10,943,073.

SENATE INQUIRY LOOMS AHEAD OF RAIL MERGER

L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson, who won a partial victory in that the fate of his road was left for future determination in the allocation of the New England lines, expressed that viewpoint.

"The interstate commerce commission has made a very earnest and sincere effort to solve a difficult problem," he said. "As to whether it has any practicality will depend upon the financial pick-up of the next few years. Any effort at railway consolidation will not be a cause but an effect of the financial situation."

Half a dozen other railroad presidents, officials, bankers, and large stockholders reached made statements that were similar in tone.

Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio, pointed out that, although the commission's merger plan would make possible improved service and economies, "financial and business conditions make large merger operations rather difficult at present."

Too much should not be expected, he warned the public, even should the plan be put into effect immediately.

Offers Opposing View.

Outspoken opposition to the plan came from Charles S. Valentine, representing the minority stockholders of the Chesapeake and Ohio. His group, he announced in Richmond, Va., will oppose the merger with the weaker northern and eastern lines when the railroad applies to the commission for permission to organize its system.

"If we cannot show that it is contrary to the public interest, and we hope to prove this, we will get the best terms we can," he said.

C. H. Ewing, president of the Reading company, said at Philadelphia that the Philadelphia and Reading would maintain facilities it has been offering.

From W. W. Atterbury of the Pennsylvania railroad there came no comment. His is the railroad most affected through the commission's decision that the Pennsylvania, under the plan, must give up its interest in New England roads, whose allocation is postponed for further negotiation.

COTTON CLOSES STRONG

Cotton markets closed at around the best prices of the day, due to light offerings and an increase in the buying. That, apparently, was covering by shorts. The market's tone throughout the day was one of strength and prices moved up 10 points in the afternoon, closing at the top. There were net gains on futures in Chicago of 8 to 14 points, with other markets up 9 to 13 points on the active trading futures. Spots advanced 10 points with New York 5.85c, New Orleans and Galveston 5.70c, and Houston 5.60c. Liverpool was 2 points net lower on July and 1 to 3 points higher on the deferred deliveries. WHEAT HIGHER AT DAY'S CLOSE; SELLING LIGHTER

Prices Still Near Lowest Levels.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Increased attention is being attracted to the wheat market as the result of the recent advance in stocks, sugar, hogs and cattle. There was a broadening in the speculative trading in wheat yesterday which was effective in lifting the price level rather sharply, and the persistent selling noted of late was not in evidence.

With current wheat prices within about 2c of the lowest figures known in many years, there is a feeling in some quarters that any change in the general economic situation will result in a higher level of prices. The signing of the relief bill by President Hoover also has resulted in a belief that mild inflation in the currency is an almost certainty.

Wheat Closes at Top.

A leading eastern professional trader was credited with having been a good buyer of wheat futures yesterday, and there are also commission house and local buying. The market held within narrow limits early, but became more active later and advanced 1⅛@1⅝c over Thursday's finish, with the close about the top with net gains of ⅝@1⅝c, the July showing the most strength. The nearly future finished at 46¼@46⅜c; September, 48⅛@48⅝c, and December, 51⅝@51½c.

Bartlett, Frazier company, in a long summary in which they were inclined to favor the buying side of wheat, said the foundation was being laid for a better situation in the farm commodity markets. In wheat the trend is toward a closer adjustment of supply and demand. The operations of the Canadian pool and the American Farm board have proven the futility of government efforts to establish a world monopoly in wheat, they say, and the menace of the government holdings is rapidly being dissipated.

Little Change Reported.

Crop comments from the American northwest showed little change and the Cargill Commission company of Minneapolis in a letter to a New York trader suggested the possibility of a reduction in the crop to around 250,000,000 bu, which will compare with the government's estimate of 305,000,000 bu spring wheat on July 1.

Local crop observers who were in Canada have entered the sections that have received ample moisture of late and their comment was more favorable than recently. Liverpool wheat closed ¼@⅜c lower with October at 52⅞c, while Winnipeg was ¼@⅜c higher with October at 57⅝c in Canadian funds.

Little Damage to Corn.

So far the heat wave has caused relatively little damage to the new corn crop, according to a summary of over 40 reports received by Lamson Bros. & Co. from points in Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Kansas, Nebraska, and Missouri. In parts of Kansas and Nebraska actual deterioration was claimed, but in other states there has been little damage that rain would not correct. However, a majority of reports indicated that rain must come shortly or damage would appear. Scattered rains, ranging from showers to around 3 inches were reported in parts of Kansas and Nebraska overnight.

Corn futures were dull early, but firmed with wheat and on scattered buying, and closed ½@⅝c higher, with July 31¼c; September, 32¼@32⅛c, and December, 32⅝c. Shipping demand was the best in some time, with sales of 391,000 bu, while 97,000 bu were booked to arrive.

September oats eased fractionally early to a new low for the season, but the market firmed later with other grains and closed unchanged to ⅛c higher. July was 16⅝c; September, 17⅞@18c, and December, 20½c at the last. Rye was affected by the action of wheat and reports of a little export business in Canadian grain, and closed ⅝@½c higher. July finished at 28½c; September, 30½c, and December, 33⅝c.

EGGS FIRM; BUTTER EASY

Butter and egg futures moved contrary to statistical reports yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. October eggs gaining ⅛c despite unfavorable storage news while butter eased ⅛@¼c despite improved storage news. The four markets reported another cut of 11,000 cases in the egg shortage, but covering and new buying was of sufficient force to hold the market higher. Butter dropped on selling which appeared despite a four market report showing 200,000 lbs less stored than last year. Unsettled conditions in the spot market influenced the futures. Sales: Butter, 51 cars; eggs, 23 cars. Deliveries: Butter, 6 cars. Prices follow:

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

The seaboard again reported that there was only a moderate export business put through in North American wheat, with scattered lots of Manitobas taken, but Winnipeg intimated that there was a fairly active demand in evidence, and some lots of Canadian rye were also taken, Germany being credited with having taken the latter.

Domestic shipping demand for cash grain was more active, with local handlers selling 22,000 bu wheat, 391,000 bu corn, 59,000 bu oats, and 5,000 bu barley to the east. Sales of 125,000 bu wheat were made to go to store. Purchases to arrive were 76,000 bu wheat, 97,000 bu corn, 60,000 bu oats, and 2,000 bu barley. Deliveries on July contracts aggregated 136,000 bu wheat, 36,000 bu corn, and 75,000 bu oats.

Cash wheat in the local sample market was in fair demand, with the basis firm. No. 1 red was ½@⅝c over, No. 2 red ¼@½c over, No. 1 hard 1@1¼c over, No. 2 hard ¼@1c over, No. 2 yellow hard, September to ¼c over, and No. 2 mixed, September price to ⅜c under. Kansas City reported a good demand, with the basis firm. Minneapolis received 3 cars of new South Dakota spring wheat which graded No. 1 dark northern and tested slightly under 11 per cent protein.

Offerings of cash corn were fair, with a somewhat less aggressive demand. The basis was steady to ¼c lower, with No. 2 mixed ¼c over September, while No. 2 yellow was ⅜c over and white ⅝@1c over the future.

Cash oats were in better demand and the basis was steady to ¼c higher. No. 2 white brought September price to ½c over and No. 3 white ½@1c under the future. No. 2 rye was nominally 5@6c over September.

HOGS AND LARD ADVANCE

Higher prices for both hogs and hog products, with especially light offerings of the latter, made it necessary for shorts and distributors to advance prices of lard 12½@17½c and closed at the top.

Bellies were up 15@17½c, with active bidding by distributors for offerings of futures as well as the cash product, $6.37½ being paid for some good sized lots, making the price the same as short ribs. Cash lard was $5.27½ for regular, $4.90 for loose, and $5.12½ for leaf.

Liverpool lard was a shilling higher on spots and 6@9d up on futures. Export clearances from the seaboard were 805,280 lbs of lard and of bacon, 172,500 lbs.

Hogs were up 10@15c with the top of $5.10 or 40c above the recent low. Receipts have fallen below a week and a year ago, due probably to hot weather. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Grain men are regaining confidence in the constructive side of the market. The news has a more bullish tone, especially from the American and Canadian northwest. Foreign statistics are considered as more favorable to holders, and there is an absence of pressure from sellers. For several days it has been difficult to buy any quantity of wheat without an advance in prices. At the same time hedging pressure, which was so strong in the early days of the week, has fallen off. Country offering are reduced. The technical position, however, was not as strong at the close, owing to a belief that the short interest had been greatly reduced.

Corn appears to be gaining more friends owing to crop uncertainties and to a better consumptive demand. The crop is in the critical stage and will be for the next few weeks, the market being largely a weather affair. There are a few large operators who have taken the constructive side and the shorts who have been covering are disposed to let the market alone for the time being. There are indications of heavy decreases in stocks in Chicago for the week.

ARGENTINE EXPORTS

Argentine exports of wheat have fallen off sharply and were the smallest the past week so far during the new crop year. Details follow:

COFFEE.

NEW YORK, July 22.—(AP)—Coffee was quiet today, but prices held steady on a fair demand from houses with Brazilian connections and local trade interests. Selling was attributed to other trade interests and commission houses. No. 7 contracts opened 3 lower and closed 5 higher to 1 lower. Sales, 2,000 bags. Santos opened 1 to 6 higher and closed 5 higher to 4 lower. Sales, 7,000 bags. Closing quotations: Santos—Sept., 9.43c; Dec., 8.93c; Mar., 8.70c; May, 8.64c. No. 7 prices follow:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. close.
July	6.40	6.40	6.40	6.40	6.43
September	6.23	6.23	6.23	6.23	6.18
December	6.00	6.02	6.00	6.02	6.01

Spot coffee moderately active and steady; Rio 7s, 8c; Santos 4s, 10½@10¾c. Cost and freight offers included Santos Bourbon 3s and 5s for shipment from Rio de Janiero at 9.90c.
